KILLS GIRL IN ARMORY TRYST

SUDDEN GERMAN MEAT SHORTAGE ROUSES PUBLIC

Press Hushes News of Big Maneuvers.

BY SIGRID SCHULTZ.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

BERLIN, Aug. 9.—While Germany is witnessing the biggest peacetime mobilization in history, with close to 2,000,000 men under arms now, Field Marshal Hermann Wilhelm Goering today denounced "the dangerous talk about a possible war."

He told his countrymen: "Preparations are being made to protect Germany's most important industrial centers," but he did not mention the maneuvers.

Like Goering, the press gave no word of the great army maneuvers, but they form the main topic of conversation of the people.

The Nazis discuss them and add invectives against the Poles and "English encirclers." Germans who do not belong to the Nazi party add remarks about the sudden shortage of meat and the fact that they must now sign slips assuring under oath that they buy only two ounces of coffee a week.

Urged to Seize Danzig.

Adolf Hitler's more radical lieutenants of the groups controled by Heinrich Himmler, chief of all German police, and Joachim von Ribbentrop, foreign minister, are urging him to ignore Polish, English, and French warnings and to take the Free City of Danzig immediately. They tell him that now is the time to strike because England's rearmament is not completed, she is in trouble in the far east and whatever agreement she may have reached with Russia has not had time to be perfected.

Hitler's more conservative aids point to Germany's economic difficulties and to the total indifference of the population to the present anti-Polish campaign. Of thirty Germans asked this afternoon whether they thought it worth while to risk a war for the sake of Danzig, twenty-nine replied no. All were Nazis or pro-Nazis.

Hitler's Plans Still Secret.

Several German officers are not allowing relatives to go on trips this week-end. One of them said: "We do not expect a real crisis, but should it occur touring civilians would be unable to travel back to their homes for quite a while. All gasoline and trains would then be reserved for the army."

Men returning to Berlin from Berchtesgaden asserted that Hitler still is listening to the pleas of his lieutenants without indication to any of them of what he plans to do.

Goering's statement today was issued just after he returned to Berlin from a twenty-five day inspection tour through western and northern Germany, where he studied airports, waterways, and industrial centers. "The air defenses along the western fortifications are as complete and efficient as modern technique can make them," he said.

Referring to the Ruhr district—one of Germany's most important industrial centers not far from the French frontier—he promised: "Henceforth I will determine myself where each anti-aircraft battery for the protection of this district is to be placed. The Ruhr district must not be exposed to a single enemy bomb."

Germans Woo Hungary.

German diplomacy is trying to induce Hungary to help increase Poland's nervousness by signing openly a military alliance with Germany and Italy.

That a secret pact exists between Hungary and the axis partners is believed in many Nazi circles, but open announcement of an alliance would help aggravate the general nervousness. The Hungarian foreign minister, Count Stefan de Csaky, was summoned by Von Ribbentrop, and they conferred yesterday in Von Ribbentrop's castle near Salzburg.

No word about this conference was published in the German press. This was taken as an indication that the Germans are waiting for the reply of the Hungarian cabinet to proposals for the open military alliance tendered to Csaky by Ribbentrop.

Another important conference is scheduled to take place next week between Ribbentrop and Count Galeazzo Ciano, Italian foreign minister. They probably will meet on the German side of the Italian-German frontier.

CHINA EMPLOYS CHICAGOANS TO RUN WAR ROADS

Truck Experts Will Rebuild Transit.

BY THOMAS FURLONG.

K. P. Chen, director of the Chinese government trading organization in the United States, disclosed here last night that arrangements have been completed to send a group of Chicago trucking experts to China to direct the rebuilding of that country's crippled transportation system.

The mission will supplement the aid the American government is giving to the Chinese in their war with Japan. The funds with which the project is being carried out, it was learned, will come from the $25,000,000 credit that was granted China last December by the Export-Import Bank of the United States. The credit was advanced to China with the sanction of President Roosevelt and the American state department.

Group to Leave Wednesday.

Chen said that three officials of the Keeshin Transcontinental Motor Freight Lines, Inc., will leave next Wednesday on the China Clipper. He said they will direct the reorganization of Gen. Chiang Kai-shek's transportation facilities, part of which have been cut off by Japanese control of the chief Chinese ports.

Maurice E. Sheahan, vice president of the Keeshin organization, will head the group. He will be accompanied by two other officials whose names were not disclosed. J. L. Keeshin, head of the motor transport organization, is expected to go to China later to take personal charge.

Confer for Two Days.

Chen disclosed that he had been conferring with Keeshin and his associates here for the last two days. With all arrangements completed he said he expected to return in a day or so to New York, headquarters of the Universal Trading corporation, the Chinese buying organization in this country which he directs.

Keeshin agreed to undertake the job, it was learned in reliable quarters, at the request of American government officials. Keeshin refused to discuss who had brought him into the deal.

Chen denied that the American government had anything to do officially with the arrangements. He said that Keeshin was suggested to him by business friends in this country.

Discount Private Deal Story.

Keeshin representatives also insisted that the arrangement is strictly a private one between Keeshin and the Chinese government. This was discounted in other quarters.

There it was remarked that the $25,000,000 credit extended to the Chinese government by Washington was evidence of direct American assistance to the régime of Gen. Chiang. Also it was recalled that Nelson T. Johnson, the American ambassador to China, has been one of the few foreign envoys in that country who have followed the Chinese government in its movement westward as the Japanese invasion has advanced. Ambassador Johnson is now in Chungking, Chiang's present capital.

Buy New Motor Trucks.

With the proceeds of the American credit China has been buying motor trucks, road building machinery, and other equipment in this country. Purchases to date have included 3,000 American made motor trucks to be used in the new transportation system, according to Chen, who said he is negotiating for the purchase of an additional 2,000.

Most of the trucks already shipped, it was learned, have been delivered at Rangoon, Burma, and Haiphong in French Indo-China, the principal ports through which China hopes to reëstablish her supply line.

American companies supplying the trucks to China include General Motors corporation, International Harvester company, and the Dodge division of the Chrysler corporation.

The major task to be undertaken by the Keeshin men, it was learned, is to speed up the transportation of goods from the British and French ports into the interior of China where resistance to the Japanese now centers.

New Road Is Lifeline.

The Chinese have recently completed a road from Chungking 1,400 miles to the Burmese border. This is counted on as the principal route for taking in munitions and other supplies. It

Father Chains Girl, 14; Stayed Out Too Late

June Blank's school chum was missing Monday from a picnic they both had planned to attend. June was puzzled. Last night she went to the home of her chum, Alice Wisowaty, 14 years old, at 14509 Irving avenue, Dolton.

June found Alice in tears. Alice, a flaxen haired girl who is quite small for her age, had an automobile tow chain attached to her waist by a rope. The chain went down her left leg to her ankle, about which it was wound twice and fastened with a padlock.

June, who is Alice's age, ran back to the Blank home at 610 Main street in the suburb. Her father, Henry Blank, notified Chief Charles Heidenrich of the Dolton police.

Girl Tells Story to Police.

The chief went to the Wisowaty home and took Alice to the station. There she wept as she told her story.

Her mother is dead, she said, and she has been keeping house for her father and a brother, 19 years old. Last Friday her father told her she was staying out too late. He fastened the chain upon her and told her she must wear it until she entered high school in the fall.

Alice said the chain did not prevent her from leaving the house, since it was not attached to anything, but that she was ashamed to leave while wearing it. The chain has links an inch long. They had swollen her ankle.

Begs to Be Kept from Home.

Alice begged the chief not to take her back home. He removed the chain and sent her to the Blank home for the night.

The chief then went back to her home, where she had been alone when he found her, and waited for her father to return from his night work at a Hegewisch motor plant.

Early today her father, Peter, 50 years old, came home. The chief said he freely admitted fastening the chain upon the little girl.

"She was going out at night and staying too late," Wisowaty explained. He seemed surprised that the chief insisted on taking him to the station and locking him up for the night on a charge of cruelty.

Bandit Forces Customers and Clerks to Help Him

A bandit forced two clerks and two customers of a liquor store at 3933 North avenue last night to help him rob the place of about $100. He stood by, fingering the trigger of his gun, while the four pried a small safe off the wall. In it was about $65. The bandit also got $39 from the cash drawer.

A POP BOTTLE HURLED AT BALL GAME BARELY MISSES MAYOR KELLY

Mayor Kelly narrowly escaped being hit by a pop bottle hurled from the second deck of the grandstand at Wrigley field yesterday during the second game the Cubs lost to Cincinnati. Police said the bottle passed within ten feet of him. The pop splattered two members of his party.

Policeman James Carrigan arrested James Birdson, 29 years old, of 5940 North Mulligan avenue, and George Van Geenen, 26, of 2930 North Parkside avenue. Carrigan said eight persons identified Birdson as the man who threw the bottle, and Van Geenen as the man who sat next to him. Birdson denied the accusation. Both men were locked up on disorderly conduct charges.

MORAL IS CLEAR: JUST A LITTLE LEARNING FEAR

Hasten, Judge Sabath, or a master in chancery, to Brookfield zoo's monkey caravansery, where ten pigtailed monkeys with strange little faces who used to do nothing but make weird grimaces now are involved in a custody fight that only judiciaries can aright. Two babes are involved, each by the same father, but the mother of one has stolen the other and is nursing them both with a simian glee that cannot be matched on dry land or on sea. She calmly pretends she is being correct, but the five other females with offspring in prospect and the sad, lonely mother whose child has been stolen now shun her most coldly and stare with bad omen. Brookfield officials know not what to do or to say, for no pigtails steal babies in Borneo and Malay, but these stopped en route at Columbia university which may somehow account for their maternal perversity. Some might even call it maternal greed, but it's equally foreign to the pigtail creed, and all goes to show, officials say, that higher education does not pay.

CAREER RELIEFER BUYS A 4 STORY FLAT BUILDING

Bayonne, N. J., Aug. 9 [Special].—Ignatz Dubowsky, 55 years old, who has been on relief for almost three years, was jailed today when officials discovered that he had bought a four story apartment house and paid $500 down.

A former laborer, Dubowsky has been receiving $10 a week since January, 1937, from the Bayonne Emergency Relief bureau.

Women Jurors Absolve Youth in Dad Slaying

Nine women yesterday considered the fate of Leonard Klobutcher, 18 years old, who shot and killed his father Saturday in the latter's tavern in Joliet. One presided at a coroner's inquest. One defended Leonard. One testified for him. Then the six women, composing the coroner's jury, absolved him on the ground of justifiable homicide.

This unusual procedure was arranged by Dr. Londus B. Brannon, coroner of Will county. Dr. Brannon decided to summon an all-woman jury after the Illinois Supreme court on Tuesday upheld the validity of the new women jury service law.

Daughter Conducts Inquest.

Dr. Brannon's sister, Miss Ruth Brannon, a deputy coroner, conducted the inquest in Joliet. Klobutcher was represented by Miss Laura V. Cook, a Chicago attorney. His mother, Rose, 41, was the principal witness before the jury, five of whom were married women.

Mrs. Klobutcher testified that she quarreled with her husband, Michael, 39, in his tavern because of his attentions to a waitress. Klobutcher knocked her down, Mrs. Klobutcher said, and began kicking and beating her.

Mother Describes Slaying.

He was dragging her about the tavern floor by her hair, she said, when her son rushed in, holding a .32 caliber pistol. The boy called to his father to stop, Mrs. Klobutcher said. He ignored the command, and the son shot him.

Although exonerated by the coroner's jury, young Klobutcher is being held on a warrant charging murder. It was obtained by Charles Blim, Will county assistant state's attorney, before the coroner's jury had returned its verdict. Blim plans to present the case to the grand jury. He was the only man at the inquest.

Train Runs Over Girl, 8, but She Gets Up Smiling

Hanover, Pa., Aug. 9 (AP).—Arlene Luckenbaugh, 8 years old, and her two brothers were crossing a trestle today when a whistle warned them of the approach of a train. Arlene at that moment got her foot caught between two ties. Her brothers tried in vain to free her, told her to lie flat between the rails, and fled. Arlene did as told and the train ran over her. She rose smiling with only scratches to show for her experience.

Soldier Hunted After Shooting Ends His Date

An attractive young woman, identified as Elsie Doolewerdt, 23 years old, of Harvey, was shot to death last night in the 124th Field Artillery armory, 5256 Cottage Grove avenue. Sought as her assailant is a private in the medical detachment of the regiment whom a watchman saw flee after the shooting.

The girl, who lived with her parents at 41 West 154th street in the suburb, worked in the accounting department of the Whiting corporation. She had been a friend of Frank Japcynski, 47 years old, 8448 Essex avenue, the man sought as her slayer, for several years, her parents said.

Admits Couple to Building.

Last night's action, as reconstructed by police from the stories of witnesses, began about dark when Japcynski arrived in civilian clothes at the north door of the armory, in Washington park. At the door as a watchman was Private Charles Held, 2729 North Clark street.

Held said he admitted Japcynski and that Japcynski told him:

"My girl will be along in a minute. Let her in."

A few minutes later, Held said, the girl arrived, wearing a yellow sweater and riding breeches. She said she wanted to see Japcynski. Held admitted her, believing she had a date to go horseback riding with Japcynski in the armory arena.

Hears Scream and Three Shots.

In about fifteen minutes, Held said, he heard a woman scream and heard three shots. He ran from his post into the lobby that extends along the front of the building. Just inside the north door, near the foot of a ramp that leads to the gallery above the arena, he found the girl lying wounded. She had been shot in the side and the chest.

She was taken to the Chicago hospital, where she died a few minutes later.

Sergt. Albert Freeman, 7646 Ingleside avenue, an instructor at the armory, and Sergt. John Tillman, 8633 Euclid avenue, of headquarters battery of the regiment, also heard the screams. They were in the officers' quarters on the second floor.

Pair See Shots Fired.

Both ran down the steps to the first floor lobby, near the north end of the armory, and saw a man fighting with a girl.

"Hey, you, let her alone!" Freeman shouted.

Freeman said the man then pulled out a revolver and fired three times. As the girl collapsed the man fled out of a door leading to Cottage Grove avenue, the two sergeants said.

Held said the man who fled was Japcynski.

Sergt. Tillman said it was not unusual for girls to visit in the armory at night. He said the watchman at the door would not let a strange woman inside at night, but if the female caller said she was the wife, sweetheart, daughter or other relative of a member of the regiment she would be admitted.

Watchman Judges Visitors.

Necking inside the soldierly precincts is not generally tolerated, he protested, but aside from the judgment of the watchman as to the respectability of the feminine visitor there is no bar to a couple spending an evening in a secluded office or section of the armory, according to Tillman and other members of the regiment.

Col. Charles C. Haffner Jr., commander of the regiment, who was in Camp Grant at the time of the murder, said

PROBE ATTEMPT TO STEAL CITY ELEVATOR UNION

Faction in New York Accused of Plot.

BY JAMES DOHERTY.

Charges of union larceny were under investigation yesterday in the state's attorney's office. Capt. Daniel Gilbert, chief investigator for State's Attorney Courtney, said the term larceny did not refer to the theft of cash from a labor union, but to the theft of a union itself.

A few years ago the late George [Red] Barker, an ex-convict who never had driven a coal wagon, shot James Lynch, business agent of the coal teamsters' union. At the next meeting of the union Barker strode into headquarters and asked: "Where does the boss sit?" Shown the chair and desk of the man he had wounded and warned to stay out of Chicago, Barker announced: "From now on this is where I sit."

For a few years he did run the union, but eventually machine gun bullets overtook him.

More Finesse Used Now.

The present method of stealing a union—usually one with a rich treasury—involves the use of a bit more finesse, Capt. Gilbert said. He discussed sworn charges that George Scalise of New York and others are engaged in a conspiracy "with the malicious intent of obtaining control of the property of the Chicago Elevator Operators and Starters' union so that property and assets of the union would be used for the benefit of the plaintiffs" [Scalise and the others].

Scalise asked the Chicago courts to help him remove Matthew Taylor as president of the Chicago union of elevator operators and to replace him with Thomas J. Burke of the theatrical janitors' union. Scalise's petition is pending before Judge John Prystalski of the Circuit court. Judge Prystalski becomes chief justice of the Criminal court next month.

Yesterday Judge Prystalski said that if a grand jury investigation of the sworn charges of President Taylor and others of the Chicago union is needed he will refer the matter to the jury to be impaneled Sept. 4.

Report Capone Syndicate Busy.

Capt. Gilbert said he also is investigating a union larceny complaint concerning the cleaning and dyeing industry. Similar reports concerning other unions have not been infrequent in the past, it was recalled, and rumors have been current that the Capone syndicate, now headed by Frank Nitti, is taking over many unions.

Scalise is general president of the Building Service Employés' International Union of America. A few years ago he was an undertaker. Recently he became a power in labor organizations in New York City. Reports from New York are that Scalise's income, said to be huge, is being investigated by the federal government.

Chicago labor leaders say Scalise has powerful allies in the American Federation of Labor. His present strength comes from charters given him by the A. F. of L. A story is told of efforts of Chicago representatives of a union of inside workers of the cleaning and dyeing industry to get a charter from the parent organization. Without it they were in danger of being swallowed by an industrial union, they declared.

Fail to Obtain Charter.

The Chicago labor men could not get this charter, according to labor spokesmen, but suddenly a friend of Scalise's from Cleveland acquired the desired authority—a man named Senese. Senese is said to have Chicago allies in other international unions who are in the group opposing Taylor.

Nitti's name came into the present investigation, Capt. Gilbert said, after the murder of Louis Schiavone on July 5 in Oak Lawn. Schiavone, a one time Capone bootlegger, was present in Nitti's office on Dec. 19, 1932, when Nitti was shot by Policemen Harry Miller and Harry Lang, who were then on Mayor Cermak's personal staff.

Capt. Gilbert said Schiavone's murder had a connection with Scalise's attempt to depose Taylor as boss of the union, which has over 3,600 members who pay more than $100,000 a year in dues. When shot to death Schiavone had in his possession a copy of an audit of the finances of Taylor's union.

The audit had been completed that

BORDER IS NO BAR TO AIR TRAVEL, CANADA AGREES

But Bids for Equal Share of Plane Trafic.

BY WAYNE THOMIS.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

OTTAWA, Ont., Aug. 9.—Canadian and American government officials here were agreed tonight on the principle that the artificial territorial boundaries between the United States and the Dominion should not dam up the natural flow of air transportation business between the two countries.

But here the agreement ends. In two conferences today—the first meetings to be held in a three day discussion of air transportation problems—the Canadians proposed that the interchanges of service be limited to a 100 mile zone at the international borders and that all services be operated on alternate days by American and Canadian companies.

Both these suggestions were opposed immediately by the dozen Americans who represent the state and postoffice departments and the civil aeronautics authority at Washington, D. C.

"Disaster to Service."

Col. V. I. Smart, deputy minister of transport for Canada, outlined the Canadian suggestions. He said the Dominion considered that American air companies already were flying more than their proper share of routes north of the American boundary.

Grant Mason, a member of the Civil Aeronautics authority and one of the American delegates, replying to the proposals, said:

"Colonel, it would be economic disaster for any American air line that attempted to operate its service on alternate days. Such an arrangement is contrary to the meaning of the term service."

In general the Canadian position is that there must be an even exchange of seats. In other words, for every American plane that flies into Canada there must be a Canadian ship into the United States.

Petition for Rights.

It was revealed at the conference also that American Air Lines, Eastern Air Lines, and Northwest Air Lines have petitioned the Dominion for rights to various routes over which there is now no air service. Whether any of these petitions may be granted depends on the outcome of the conference.

At this time C. D. Howe, minister of transport for Canada, is anxious to have Trans-Canada Air Lines commence service between Toronto and Buffalo, N. Y., and between Toronto and Detroit. Howe is the de facto head of Trans-Canada Air Lines because the air line is a government controled corporation.

It is a quirk of the conferences that, while Howe speaks for Trans-Canada, none of the individual American air lines is represented. All the American delegates are officials of the government and they are headed by Daniel C. Roper, former secretary of commerce, who now is American minister to Canada.

Chicago Discussion Today.

There has been as yet no discussion of specific routes or of American hopes that a connection can be made directly from Chicago in the heart of the middle west to the trans-Atlantic air terminals.

"It is entirely too early for a discussion of any but the most general terms," American delegates said tonight.

They added that in committee meetings to begin tomorrow more specific discussions will occur. The delegates said they were instructed in Washington before their departure to include negotiations on the Chicago situation in the conference agenda.

Washington had promised to give every federal assistance to Chicago's determination to become a world airport by obtaining a direct air connection with the Canadian trans-Atlantic air bases at Botwood, Newfoundland, and Shediac, New Brunswick. Pan-American Airways is operating on regular schedule from New York to England over the northern route via Shediac, Botwood, and Foynes, Ireland.

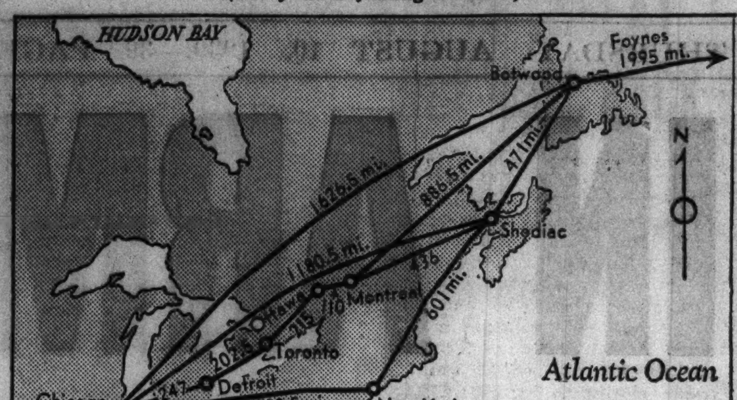
Saving of 450 Miles.

The route from Chicago to Botwood, via Detroit, Toronto, and Shediac, would save more than 450 miles and three hours of travel compared with the circuitous routing to Europe by way of New York City.

Chicago as a terminal of trans-Atlantic air routes would in effect bring most of the United States west of New York state 450 miles closer to Europe. The Chicago-Shediac-Botwood route would slant northeastward across Canada, saving passengers the necessity of traveling southeastward to New York in order to go northeastward to Europe.

Possible Links to Ocean Air Base

(Story in adjoining column.)



Various routes between Chicago and Botwood, hopping off point for trans-Atlantic air route, which are being discussed by Canadian and American officials who are conferring on bars to be overcome in air travel between Canada and the United States. Chicagoans now must go to New York to make the flight to Europe, a waste of time and money.

REP. CHURCH TAKES CLIPPER TO EUROPE; GOING TO NORWAY

Washington, D. C., Aug. 9 [Special].—Congressman Ralph E. Church, Republican, of Evanston, Ill., left today from Port Washington, Long Island, N. Y., on the Pan-American Clipper for Europe, where he will attend the interparliamentary union conference at Oslo, Norway, as a delegate of the United States congress. While other members of the American delegation to the conference had departed several days ago, Congressman Church delayed his departure until after the adjournment of congress. He has never missed a roll call or vote during his five years' service in the house. In order to maintain that record of perfect attendance and reach the conference in time for the opening session, he was compelled to make the Atlantic trip by the Clipper.

SEEK IDENTITY OF WOMAN AFTER SUICIDE ATTEMPT

Elgin police last night were trying to identify a young woman who attempted to drown herself early yesterday in the Fox river. She waded into the water at the National street bridge in Elgin, but found it only knee deep, and returned to the bank, where she collapsed.

Mystery woman.

The woman was unable to tell her name. A note in her coat pocket said she planned to kill herself. The letter said she has no near relatives and does not live near Elgin.

To City Marshal Joseph G. Huber she spoke of traveling in Mexico, San Diego, Cal., New Orleans, New York, and Chicago. She also said she could play the piano and was fond of grand opera. The woman has reddish brown hair, and was wearing a black and white print dress with silk stockings and blue pumps.

CHARGE ATTEMPT TO GRAB CHICAGO ELEVATOR UNION

Accuse New York Faction of Labor Plot.

morning and three copies had been left in Taylor's office. To this date, Gilbert said, he has been unable to learn how Schiavone obtained one of the three copies. Taylor said he never had seen Schiavone alive and had given no one a copy of the audit. He suspected that a former union official had stolen the copy found on Schiavone. A second audit is being made now.

Aside from the killing of Schiavone, the attempt to transfer to New York unionists the control of the $100,000 paid each year by Chicago workers into their own local had proceeded along modern lines, Gilbert said. Gangsters who used muscle and murder to attain their ends in prohibition days now try to use lawsuits, although they are not averse to intimidating or terrorizing any one into carrying out their wishes, according to spokesmen for Taylor.

In New York City Scalise is seeking to oust James J. Bambrick, president of an elevator operators' organization in that city affiliated with his international. Bambrick has led numerous strikes which tied up building service there.

Misuse of Funds Charged.

In New York three members of Bambrick's union filed a complaint accusing him of misappropriating union funds. In Chicago four members accused Taylor of misappropriating funds. Bambrick was given police protection. So was Taylor.

Bambrick called the executive board of his union into session and they exonerated him. Taylor went to his executive board and was given a vote of confidence and the four members backed down on their accusation. An audit disproved their allegations.

Scalise's next move in both cities was to suspend Bambrick and Taylor from office in the locals of his international. Both defied him. Bambrick, who founded his union, said: "I'll never give in to union racketeers." Taylor, who founded his union, spoke through attorneys.

Death Threat Reported.

Taylor reported he had been threatened with death if he did not flee from Chicago. On May 18, 1939, Taylor was held up and robbed of a brief case which contained $5,000 worth of bonds belonging to the union.

It was only yesterday, however, that it became known that Taylor had said he believed the bandits were not seeking money or the bonds—which they couldn't sell and which the union can replace—but instead a copy of an agreement entered into between Scalise and Taylor.

This agreement would have restrained Scalise, as president of the international union with which Taylor's local union was affiliated, from taking action to interfere with Taylor's union affairs, the Chicago unionist said. It gave the Chicago union autonomy and it was supposed to be a guarantee that Scalise would not do what he did a few months ago—file a suit seeking to depose Taylor.

Reluctant to Discuss Affairs.

The Chicago union leader is reluctant at present to discuss the affairs of his union. He said he is awaiting the outcome of the audit.

But the story of how he has been compelled to jeopardize his life and the security of his union was put together from statements of his attorneys, Daniel Carmell and Ald. James J. McDermott of the 14th ward. It is as follows:

Taylor founded the Chicago union in 1900 when he was an elevator operator. In later years he engaged in business and five years ago was induced to return as head of the union. At that time the union was affiliated with an international union that included elevator construction workers.

Invited to Join Union.

When building came to a standstill there were no jobs for the construction workers and the operators and starters were left alone. Janitors' unions had been merged with window washers and others into the building service employés' union and the elevator operators were invited to join them.

Taylor demurred, but was told to join or be swallowed whole.

Then Scalise gave him a written agreement that, if his union affiliated, the parent union never would interfere locally or attempt to dictate its policies. The elevator operators would have the protection of a national organization, and their fellow building workers, and would be allowed to govern themselves and handle their own money. It was this document which Taylor charges the robbers sought.

When Scalise did file the suit in the Circuit court seeking to oust Taylor, a copy of a letter written by Scalise—to which was added the signature of Thomas Burke—was filed with the court. It gave Scalise's promise, as president of the Building Service Employés' International, not to interfere with the Chicago union.

That letter was dated Dec. 9, 1937. Relying on the promise of Scalise, indorsed also by Burke, Taylor's union became a unit of Scalise's international union.

Scalise recently came to Chicago and announced that his executive committee had suspended Taylor and that for the time being Burke would have charge. Taylor called a meeting of his local and a resolution was passed refusing to recognize the authority of Scalise. Burke was refused access to the private offices of the union and its books.

Then Scalise and Burke went to court and in their petition declared that what they said or promised Taylor or his union was not binding on their international.

13 IN ARMOUR STRIKE THREAT GET JOBS BACK

Packing Concern Agrees to Reinstatement.

Armour & Co. officials announced last night that 13 employés discharged Monday would be reinstated next Monday. Discharges of the workers had brought authorization of a strike from the Packinghouse Workers' Organizing committee. Union leaders said 6,600 members of the United Packinghouse Workers would have been called out had the strike order been issued. The union is an affiliate of the Congress of Industrial Organizations.

Fired by Plant Head.

The 13 workers, in the canning plant, were discharged by W. S. Renfro, plant superintendent. He explained that they had attempted to discuss a wage grievance with him during working hours and refused to return to their work. Announcement of the reinstatement followed a conference of company officials and union leaders.

Reinstatement of the dismissed workers was expected by observers to remove the immediate possibility of a strike, since this was the issue which brought the strike vote. C. I. O. leaders have announced, however, that their objective is a nation-wide bargaining contract with 17 Armour plants.

Reconsideration Explained.

Renfro, who issued the statement that the workers would be restored to their positions, said that they had been in the company's service for periods ranging from five to seventeen years, and that the company had reconsidered in view of the fact that the workers acted under orders of union leaders. He said, however, that they would receive no pay for the period from dismissal to reinstatement.

Mayor Kelly conferred earlier yesterday with Henry Johnson, assistant national director of the P. W. O. C., and Jeff Beckley and Peter Shields, president and financial secretary of the union local. The mayor said he called them in to ask what progress toward a settlement of the strike controversy had been made while he was out of the city. He said he would confer later with Armour officials.

WORKMAN DIES OF BURNS.

Carl Hansen, 27 years old, 4237 Drexel boulevard, died in the Michael Reese hospital yesterday of burns suffered Friday when gasoline fumes ignited in a storage tank was dismantling.

SCIENTISTS TAKE WORK TO FIELD—FLY BALLOONS

An ionization chamber, attached to seven hydrogen filled balloons, started aloft yesterday under expert guidance from Stagg field to determine if there are seasonal variations in the intensity of the mysterious cosmic rays. It was the chamber's eighth voyage into the upper air.

Dr. Arthur H. Compton, Nobel prize winner and University of Chicago physicist, said he believed the chamber would reach an altitude of sixteen miles, higher than man has ever been, before descending somewhere in Ontario, Canada.

Prof. William P. Jesse, his research associate, followed the flight of the balloons with a surveyor's transit. He said he had been able to keep other balloons in sight for thirty miles, and that on one occasion the ionization chamber reached a speed of 100 miles an hour. As soon as the balloons burst in the upper air, the chamber slowly descends.

JAIL 4 AS WILD DRIVERS; TAKE UP 10 LICENSES

Ask Indiana to Co-operate in Two Suspensions.

Four more motorists were sentenced to terms in the Bridewell by Judge Francis Borrelli in Safety court yesterday. Judge Borrelli suspended the driving licenses of two of them for one year. The others were from Indiana and the court started action to have their home state bar them from the highways for a similar period.

The driving licenses of seven other motorists who obtained continuances were impounded pending trial on trafic violation charges. Several defendants who had signed their own bonds when given continuances did not appear in court when their cases were called yesterday. Judge Borrelli announced that henceforth any defendant asking a continuance must put up a cash bond or his driver's license.

Get 10 Days in Jail.

The defendants sentenced to jail, their offenses, and their sentences are:

CASIMIR KIMPROWSKI, 37 years old, Cedar Lake, Ind., ten days, reckless driving and driving while intoxicated.

PAUL BURNS, 29 years old, colored, 2416 Warren avenue, ten days, reckless driving.

PAUL LEEVER, 31, of 4557 Mulligan avenue, ten days, leaving the scene of an accident.

CLAUDE ADAMS, 39, colored, Gary, Ind., ten days, reckless driving.

The driving licenses of Burns and Leever were suspended for a year, as was that of William Deutsch, 38, of 6311 Parnell avenue, who was fined $10 on a charge of reckless driving.

When Kimprowski showed his Indiana license, Judge Borrelli stamped on it the notation he was not to drive for a year, and sent it to Indiana authorities. He also notified them of Adams' conviction.

Miss Lillian Kemp, 29, of 1519 Adams street, was freed of a charge of reckless driving, but was fined $5 and $5 costs for failing to have a driver's license.

Lose Licenses Pending Trial.

Those whose licenses were taken up pending trial and the charges against them are:

CASIMIR RADKE, Tinley Park, reckless driving and leaving the scene of accident.

RUFUS SEALS, colored, 3116 Roosevelt road, reckless driving.

LABUE F. BROOKS, 1007 West 62d street, leaving the scene of accident.

IGNACZ PETROW, 3337 Hirsch street, reckless driving.

ROBERT SELKE, 3428 LeMoyne street, reckless driving.

GLENN BRIGHT, 5039 South Wells street, reckless driving.

MORRIS CALHOUN, colored, 6113 Calumet avenue, leaving the scene of accident.

Henry Coester, 20, of 3733 Wallace street, was freed of a reckless driving charge, but handed his drivers' license to the court with the remark that he didn't want to drive any more.

WED 51 YEARS, SABATH GRANTS 50,000 DIVORCES

Yesterday Judge Joseph Sabath celebrated the day fifty-one years ago when, at the age of 18, he and his wife, Regina, eloped to Kenosha, Wis. Judge Sabath commemorated the occasion by working at his usual task, hearing divorce cases. There were fifty-one on his call. Judge Sabath estimates he has granted more than 50,000 divorces. "But my wife and I are still on our honeymoon," he said. The Sabaths have two sons, Milton and Albert, both attorneys; a daughter, Mrs. Harry Grollman; eight grandchildren, and a great-grandson.

DRIVER LICENSE LAW ENFORCED —AND IGNORED!

State Survey Tells Varied Story of Policing.

When it was discovered last week that the new automobile drivers' license law was being enforced in an indifferent manner in Chicago and a campaign seeking strict enforcement was launched, THE TRIBUNE began a survey to determine whether enforcement in downstate Illinois is strict, lax, or just so-so. Replies from TRIBUNE correspondents indicate that enforcement varies throughout the state.

Violation Recording Lax.

The law now requires that all violations of motor vehicle laws be recorded on the back of the license of each offending driver, although only courts of record may revoke a drivers' license.

Reports are that many roadside justices are not marking licenses. Nor have constables and highway police worked out a system under which serious cases meriting the suspension or revocation of a driver's license can be transferred to a county judge empowered to take such action.

Replies from sixteen TRIBUNE correspondents indicate how the law is being enforced over the state. They follow:

ALTON—Magistrate revoked one driver's license since law went into effect and fined more than fifty for driving without licenses. No special drive to discover violators.

No Drive in Bloomington.

BLOOMINGTON—No police drive to enforce the law. Chief Clyde Hibbens said every person arrested for trafic violations is required to show license. Licenses of eight suspended in county court.

CAIRO—Police have made no drive to determine whether all drivers have licenses. State police make some inquiries.

CENTRALIA—Drivers asked to show licenses only after arrests on other charges. No arrests for failure to have licenses and none suspended or revoked to date.

CHAMPAIGN—State and local police coöperating in enforcing drivers' license law. Examinations given daily to scores of drivers who failed to get licenses before deadline.

Three Arrests in Clinton.

CLINTON—Clinton and Dewitt county motorists appear to be living up to law requiring drivers' licenses. Only three arrests and convictions to date for violations.

EAST ST. LOUIS—Justices of peace failing to note violations on drivers' licenses in cases of speeding, parking, and other minor offenses. Police not hunting drivers who have no licenses.

HARRISBURG—City police magistrate says there have been no cases of arrests for failure to have licenses. Some revocations of licenses by county court for driving while drunk.

KANKAKEE—Police have arrested six persons for failure to have drivers' licenses since May 1. Trafic Officer Orval Finch believes all motorists here have them. County Judge C. D. Henry suspended license for six months in case of drunken driver sent to jail for ten days.

Special Drive Lacking Here.

LAWRENCEVILLE — No special drive by police or state officers on drivers' license law. No arrest for driving without licenses.

OTTAWA—No drivers' licenses revoked in Ottawa or La Salle county yet. County Judge J. Massieon took state license certificate away from one drunken driver.

PEORIA—Police and court authorities stressing enforcement of drivers' license law. Law violations have been recorded on more than 150 licenses. Only one arrest for failure to have a drivers' license. More than a dozen have paid a fee of $1 each for a police escort to their homes to get licenses they forgot to carry.

QUINCY—Drivers' license law enforced in Quincy and surrounding territory, but only a few arrests have been made.

ROCKFORD — Arrests made frequently for failure to have licenses and all driving offenses are recorded on backs of licenses.

ROCK ISLAND — No campaign waged by police on drivers' licenses. Not many persons have been asked to show licenses since law became effective. No licenses suspended.

SPRINGFIELD — Police look for drivers' license only when motorist is stopped after an accident or law violation. Twelve persons arrested for failure to have licenses. In county court twenty persons have had licenses revoked for periods up to a year.

STOP ACCEPTING ONE-SUM CLAIMS FOR AGE BENEFITS

Washington, D. C., Aug. 9.—Anticipating President Roosevelt's approval of congress' amendments to the social security act, the social security board today stopped accepting claims for lump sum old age benefits as provided under the present law.

Amendments to the act include provision for monthly benefits, instead of a single payment, to persons reaching the age of 65. Payment of the monthly benefits will begin on Jan. 1, 1940, under the amended act, instead of in 1942, as scheduled in the original law.

"Termination of the payment of lump sum benefits, up to now payable to workers at age 65, is the only revision of the old age insurance program to take effect simultaneously when the amendments are signed by the President," said Arthur J. Altmeyer, chairman of the board.

DIXMOOR SPEED TRAPPER FIGHTS FOR A NEW GRIP

State Acts to Block Death of Village Audit.

The state's attorney's office moved yesterday to thwart a reported move by Village President Charles Special to regain control of Dixmoor, suburb on the Dixie highway six miles south of Chicago. The village formerly was the site of the most notorious speed trap in Cook county.

Arrow locates village of Dixmoor.

Conditions were cleaned up with the conviction last November of Special, Police Magistrate Charles A. Braun, and three village policemen on charges of conspiracy to extort money from motorists. Each was sentenced to a year in jail. The cases are now in the Appellate court.

Trustee Switches Allegiance.

At the election last April the anti-Special forces gained a majority of the six village trustees. They later forced an audit of village books for the last two years. But Assistant State's Attorney Richard Austin said yesterday that a switching of allegience by one trustee, and a wavering attitude on the part of another, threatens to give Special the support of three trustees, and control of the board. On a tie the president may cast the deciding vote.

The board will meet tonight, at which time, Prosecutor Austin said, Special hopes to block a further audit of the village books and to force the ouster of the new chief of police, Edward Seliga.

Trustees Called In.

Austin has asked four of the village trustees to appear at his office today for a discussion of village finances. They are Theodore Pinkins, Stanley Foreman, and Posey Bridges, anti-Special men, and Frank Certna, described as likely to support Special.

Austin said those opposing carrying the audit back farther are Special and Rudolph Scherenzel, a trustee, who was village treasurer for ten years. Scherenzel was elected on an anti-Special ticket, but is said now to side with Special. They have the support of Ignatz Zelek, another trustee.

RUNOFF ASSURED IN MISSISSIPPI'S GOVERNOR RACE

Jackson, Miss., Aug. 9 (AP)—A runoff election became assured today when tabulations showed Paul B. Johnson of Hattiesburg led a seven man field for governor, but failed to gain a majority in yesterday's state Democratic primary.

Johnson, attorney and former congressman, bore the endorsement of United States Senator Theodore Bilbo and ran up 67,092 votes in unofficial returns from 1,227 of 1,660 precincts, well ahead of former Gov. Mike Sennett Conner with 50,129.

Johnson Far Ahead in Kentucky.

Louisville, Ky., Aug. 9 (AP).—Lieut. Gov. Keen Johnson of Richmond, with all but 444 of the state's 4,307 precincts tabulated, tonight held a lead of 26,123 over John Young Brown of Lexington for the Democratic nomination for governor. The tabulation gave Johnson 240,813 votes and Brown 214,690.

LAKE SEARCHED FOR SOLDIER ON UPSET SAILBOAT

Lake Michigan was being searched off Highland Park early today for Private Glenn Klug of Fort Sheridan, who was last seen clinging to an overturned sailboat last night.

Klug, John Wachewicz, and Rudolph Pestalozzi were all members of headquarters company, 12th brigade, at Fort Sheridan. Recently they built a 14 foot sailboat. Last night they went for a sail. The boat capsized. Wachewicz and Pestalozzi started swimming for aid, leaving Klug with the boat.

The swimmers were picked up by Lorrain Thom of 642 Central avenue, Highland Park, and George Howe of 654 Central avenue, Highland Park.

CAPTAIN PAASCH NAMED CHIEF OF EVANSTON POLICE

Capt. Charles F. Paasch, for thirty-three years a member of the Evanston police force, yesterday was appointed chief of police by Mayor Henry Penfield. Until yesterday Evanstonians had been speculating on the question of a successor to Chief William O. Freeman, who resigned on May 22 after twelve years' service.

Capt. C. F. Paasch.

On that date, his twenty-sixth wedding anniversary, Capt. Paasch was named acting chief. Once before, in 1926, he served in this position after Chief William Wiltberger was discharged. Capt. Paasch will be 60 years old on Sept. 1. As chief he will draw a salary of $4,500, an increase of $1,500 over his captain's salary for the last fifteen years.

Capt. Paasch was brought from Germany as a boy when his father came to Evanston as a gardener. He joined the police force before the days of automobiles, riding a large dray horse on his first patrol. Since then he has worked in every department. He is known as an expert marksman, a persistent duck hunter, and a golfer who plays in the low 80s.

Freighter Puts Out Blaze in Mid-Atlantic; Sails On

Boston, Mass., Aug. 10 (AP).—[Thursday.]—The American freighter Pipestone County radioed early today that it had won a battle with fire that broke out in one of its holds in mid-ocean and that it had resumed its journey toward France. WAKE UP YOUR LIVER BILE—

Without Calomel—And You'll Jump Out of Bed in the Morning Rarin' to Go

The liver should pour out two pounds of liquid bile into your bowels daily. If this bile is not flowing freely, your food doesn't digest. It just decays in the bowels. Gas bloats up your stomach. You get constipated. Your whole system is poisoned and you feel sour, sunk and the world looks punk.

A mere bowel movement doesn't get at the cause. It takes those good, old Carter's Little Liver Pills to get these two pounds of bile flowing freely and make you feel "up and up." Harmless, gentle, yet amazing in making bile flow freely. Ask for Carter's Little Liver Pills by name. 25 cents. Stubbornly refuse anything else.

Marshall Field & Company presents here each day observations intended to be of value to those it seeks to serve.

HIDE-AND-SEEK WITH TALENT

By CALEB

STEVENSON once wrote that there was a poet buried in the breast of every man. The surprises sprung by "amateur shows" the country over — climaxed by Major Bowes' year-after-year discoveries in his radio hour—give the lie to any notion that the only "artists" are those whose work is seen on stages, heard in concert halls, or viewed amid the glamour of famous galleries.

The real truth about Talent is otherwise. In visibility compared with actuality, its manifestation resembles the iceberg's. Seven-eighths of that floating Gibraltar of beauty and terror—beauty to behold, terror to encounter — is hidden underneath the vast Northern waters in which it cruises. For every hundred feet of crystalline majesty that tower above the ocean, seven hundred more swing their awesome tonnage far below. All navigators enjoy their icebergs at a distance.

The finding of submerged talent, however, is an altogether happier affair. Among our own organization of several thousand people, for example, every department of artistic interest and creativeness is represented in the talent revelations continually coming to attention. One recent "Hobby Show," staged in our twelfth-floor library, was in itself a miniature museum of fascinating variety—illustrative of the versatility manifested in employes' spare-time hours.

Here, built from original plans, was a model house, open on three sides for inspection—fashioned by a member of our linen section. Nearby beckoned a collection of vigorous wood carvings—a skull wrought from an ivory-white tagun nut; Indian, buccaneer, clown, old woman, chef—mounted on corks for stoppers. A group of original plays, published in Italian, one of which had a long run in Berlin—a violin, case, two bows, and ebony mute, all carved, constructed, inlaid and finished by a member of our electric appliance section; the instrument itself being expertly appraised for tonal excellence at $500—oil paintings and water colors—original quilt block designs—rare coin collections—a model railway station . . . renewed the observer's realization that vocations and avocations often make illustrious alliances.

Such "talent reserves," in any organization dedicated to public service, are constantly reflected in the quality and resourcefulness of the service itself. Artistry, taste, ingenuity, originality, add to one's competence, in whatever station; and nowhere are such talent assets more valuable to everyone concerned than in a modern store.

9 BRITISH FLYERS DIE IN 2 CRASHES DURING AIR DRILL

Five Perish When Bomber Dives Into Sea.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

LONDON, Aug. 9.—Nine Royal Air force flyers were dead today, the result of crashes during maneuvers to test the nation's defenses against an enemy air invasion.

Five of the victims were in a bomber which disappeared over the North sea early this morning. The plane was believed to have plunged into the sea east of Yarmouth. Four died in the flaming crash of another bomber near Tollerton in rural Yorkshire.

Four other flyers were forced to bail out of their plane near Thetford. They were only bruised. The plane was brought safely to earth by the flight commander, who ordered the others to jump.

The new deaths brought the total for the year in Royal Air force crashes to 188. There have been 107 accidents.

King Reviews Fleet.

The gigantic air raid tests were only a part of Britain's campaign to key its fighting forces to their maximum efficiency.

As another part, the nation's sailor king, George VI., today reviewed 133 ships of the reserve fleet off Weymouth.

The king, himself a veteran of naval conflict in the world war, conducted the review from the open cockpit of a speedy royal barge. He was driven through mile after mile of warships. With the king in the royal barge were Admiral Jean Darlan, high commander of the French naval forces, and Lord Stanhope, first lord of the British admiralty.

A heavy mist and drizzling rain prevailed during the review. The king, as part of the ceremony, paid personal visits to five representative ships of the fleet, which will join the powerful home fleet for combined exercises after the reserve vessels complete their two week shakedown cruise.

Blackout Is Postponed.

The weather, which deprived the king's review of some of its characteristic color, also forced a twenty-four hour postponement of London's first blackout since the world war. The postponement came only seven hours before the deadline set for putting out lights by half of the island's population. The supreme test in the nation's examination of its air defenses will come at midnight tomorrow night and last until 4 a. m. Saturday, regardless of the weather, the lord privy seal announced.

The delay, it was explained, was necessary because the fog and mist made it impossible to observe the success or failure of the defense mechanism.

1,300 Planes Participate.

About 1,300 of Britain's best war planes today were engaged in the aerial exercises—a mythical struggle between "Eastland" and "Westland" [Britain] with 500 of the participating craft "attacking" in waves.

The air ministry said the attackers, which resumed their raids at dawn today after a night of imaginary combat, received a hot reception from Westland defenders when they circled western London. A few "enemy" raids were successful because of the weather, but most of them were intercepted by fighters or theoretically brought down by anti-aircraft guns.

BANDITS ROB LIQUOR STORE.

MAY PUT BRITISH EMPIRE MAIL IN MILITARY PLANES

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

LONDON, Aug. 9.—The British air ministry is expected to come to the rescue of Imperial Airways, government subsidized airline, after a breakdown in passenger trafic arrangements on 22,000 miles of empire routes. The ministry, under this projected plan, would allow temporary use of military planes to carry mail.

This, according to aviation circles, would enable the ban on passenger bookings over empire routes to be lifted earlier than expected. The ban was imposed today. The suggestion is that a dozen reserve bombers be used to supplement the empire mail carrying fleet, leaving Imperial Airways machines free to carry passengers.

However, Sir John Reith, chairman of the company, who at present is in America, said over trans-Atlantic telephone tonight that the air ministry had told him it could not coöperate on this point.

NAZI PAPER SAYS PRESIDENT SEEKS TO INCITE POLES

[Copyright: 1939: By the New York Times.]

BERLIN, Aug. 9.—The displeasure which Germany feels toward President Roosevelt and his policies evoked a statement in the Diplomatische Korrespondenz today that the President would like to incite the Poles against Germany.

The defeat President Roosevelt suffered in his efforts to have America partake in any foreign war, as the foreign office organ put it, has not hindered his resuming the campaign again after a brief pause, it charged.

"It would be to Roosevelt's liking if congress were to give him an instrument with which from Washington he could increase world tension and, practically speaking, contribute his part to animating the Poles in their shortsighted quarrelsomeness," the paper said.

GERMAN SOLDIER IS SHOT BY POLE, WARSAW HEARS

Guard Fires at Nazis on Corridor Frontier.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

WARSAW, Poland, Aug. 9.—Reports that a Polish frontier guard fired upon three German soldiers said to have crossed into Polish territory with full military equipment were published here today. It was believed that one of the three was hit, said Polish news dispatches.

Arrow locates region in which German was shot.

The incident, it was said, took place Sunday evening in the Kartuzy district of the Polish corridor. The guard called upon the Germans to halt, fired into the air when they ignored the command, and finally shot at the trio, Polish newspapers said. They reported that two of the Germans helped their wounded comrade back across the frontier, and that he was taken away in an automobile.

Press Blasts Poland.

It was asserted today that officers and noncommissioned men of the Polish army would be denied leaves of absence after Aug. 15.

"There is no doubt that the situation remains unchanged and demands maximum watchfulness, despite a temporary relaxation of tension," the Kurjer Warszawski said.

The Danzig press continued to blast Poland.

"The unbearable Polish lust for conquest, which is beginning gradually to degenerate into political kleptomania," asserted the Danziger Vorposten, "increases evermore under the well wishing indulgence in London and Paris toward the hysterical clamor of Poland."

Ends Talk with Hitler.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

BERLIN, Aug. 9.—Albert Forster, Nazi leader of Danzig, left Berchtesgaden, Bavaria, today for Danzig after conferring with Adolf Hitler. Tomorrow night Forster will address a massmeeting called in Danzig to "protest against Poland's cynical threat to shell Danzig." At the end of the week Forster will return to Germany. He is expected to resume his talks with Hitler on Monday or Tuesday.

5 POWER DANZIG PARLEY PLANNED, LONDONERS HEAR

Nazi Envoy Confers with Briton.

BY DAVID DARRAH.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

LONDON, Aug. 9.—Dr. Herbert von Dircksen, German ambassador to London, today called on Viscount Halifax, British foreign secretary. As the call was made there were indications that the Danzig situation again has simmered momentarily into the status of a quiescent volcano. There were reports also that the latest European intrigue involves a five power conference among the Poles, Germans, Italians, British, and French.

Both Von Dircksen and Halifax returned to London yesterday. The official explanation of today's meeting was that Von Dircksen had paid a courtesy visit before going away again on a long holiday.

Greenwood Sees Halifax.

The other explanation, however, was that the visit may have been connected with the reported five power conference to settle the Danzig affair, mostly at the expense of the Poles, although the latter would be sitting in.

Arthur Greenwood, acting leader of the opposition in parliament, also called on Halifax. It was reported that Greenwood quizzed the foreign secretary about the return to London last night of William Strang, British special envoy in Moscow during British-French negotiations for a pact with Russia. Greenwood asked, it was said, whether Strang's return means that political negotiations for a deal with the Russians have been broken off, and if so how this would affect the conclusion of a deal by British and French generals who have just been sent to Russia for staff consultations.

Laborites Alarmed.

Inside reports were that there is no likelihood of either a political or military deal between the Russians and British, and that the prolonged negotiations are a political expedient to ward off opposition attacks on Prime Minister Chamberlain's policies. The Laborites, and even some alarmed Conservatives, have been insisting on the soviet alliance as a necessity if Britain is to be able to carry out the guarantees of assistance it has made to various eastern European nations.

Earlier in the day Halifax talked to Strang, who is head of the central European department of the foreign office. Strang had spent two months in the Russian capital. Reports of a five power conference over the Danzig issue were reënforced by reports that Strang had told Halifax no deal with the bolsheviks was possible without further concessions by the British.

Leftist circles charged that a new deal to delay any negotiations with the Russians is under way.

REPORT JAPS NAB ALL AMERICANS IN CHINESE CITY

Included in Anti-British Drive, Embassy Hears.

[Copyright: 1939: By the New York Times.]

CHUNGKING, China, Aug. 9.—The American embassy here received a report today from a foreign source in Chengchow that all Americans at Kaifeng had been arrested in connection with anti-British movements in that Japanese occupied city, which is 45 miles east of Chengchow. Both Chengchow, which is held by Chinese, and Kaifeng are in northern Honan province, near the Yellow river.

The report coincided with others to the effect that the anti-British agitation at Kaifeng was being enlarged to include Americans and other foreigners. It was understood steps were being taken to investigate the Chengchow report.

[On Tuesday a courier was sent from Chengchow to attempt passage through the Japanese lines to Kaifeng to learn the fate of thirty American missionaries there. These were said to include fifteen nuns and four priests and representatives of the Southern Baptist and Free Methodist organizations.]

Seek Trace of Americans.

SHANGHAI, Aug. 9 (AP).—American consular officials today sought to learn how Americans in a number of Japanese-held Central China cities had fared during recent anti-American agitation. The cities were Kaifeng, Sinyang, and Kikungshan in Honan province, Hwohsien in Shansi, and Shihchiachwang in Hopei.

Chinese dispatches said both Americans and Britons were among foreign missionaries forced to leave Sinyang and Kikungshan. Two Canadian missionaries and four Chinese associates were reported arrested last Sunday at Suchow, Kiangsu province, accused of organizing an anti-Japanese "national salvation society" in mission compounds and of furnishing military information to Central Chinese government forces.

Ordered Out by Soldier.

Expulsion of Mr. and Mrs. Ralph C. Scoville of Los Angeles from Hwohsien, reported yesterday, was said to have been ordered by a Japanese officer on the ground that Scoville was employed by a British organization and living in a house formerly occupied by a Briton. Thus, the officer was said to have explained that the American couple might be endangered in view of the anti-British movement.

Vice Consul John Davies Jr. left Hankow for Nanchang, 160 miles to the south, to investigate the mystery surrounding the status of the Rev. L. W. Holland, Methodist missionary from Pasadena, Cal., who was arrested two months ago on charges of carrying on anti-Japanese propaganda.

Although Hankow thus far has been free of anti-foreign demonstrations a new "Central China anti-British association" was formed tonight, apparently under Japanese inspiration, and an anti-British demonstration was announced for Aug. 13.

Japs Demand Apology.

HONGKONG, Aug. 9 (AP).—The anti-British movement in South China took a more serious turn today with Japanese presentation to British naval and consular authorities of fiv demands growing out of the injury of a Chinese at Swatow on Monday.

The Chinese was one of a crowd engaged in an anti-British demonstration before the British consulate. Both British and Japanese versions of the incident said that after the demonstration started a party of sailors from the British destroyer Tenedos took up positions before the consulate.

British accounts said that one of the demonstrators was injured in fighting among members of the crowd after the sailors withdrew inside. Japanese asserted he was hurt in a clash with the sailors.

The Japanese demands, countering a British protest over the incident, were for admission that British sailors were involved, a British apology, compensation for the injury to the Chinese, punishment of the British sailors allegedly responsible for the injury, and assurance that there be no recurrence of the incident.

The Inquiring Reporter

The Question.

Should married women be permitted to serve in business when their husbands are employed?

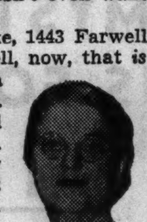
Where Answered.

In the lobby of the Merchandise Mart.

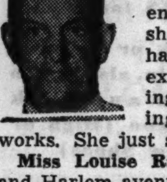
The Answers.

A. H. Waprin, 6722 Cornell avenue, furniture salesman—It all depends on the circumstances. If the husband isn't making enough money she should. If he has enough of an income she shouldn't. For two people $125 a month should be enough. The wife ought to stop work and make room for single women. I think there are lots of married women who are working needlessly.

H. M. Gephart, 435 Fairfield avenue, Elmhurst, steel fishing rod manufacturer—No, I don't think she should. One person earning in the family is a plenty. There are plenty of single girls who could use the work to help take care of themselves. I was never in favor of it. I'm married and my wife doesn't work. She doesn't even want to.



Mrs. Elizabeth Burke, 1443 Farwell avenue, file clerk—Well, now, that is a question, and it's a personal one with me. I don't think married women should work. There are so many young girls at present who need the jobs. I have a daughter, young and smart, and she can't get work. She's been looking for a year. I think it's because so many husbands and wives are employed. I'm married, but I'm a widow. I started to work at this late age.



Carl Anderson, 130 West 112th street, coffee salesman—At times, yes. Suppose the husband isn't making enough? If he is making enough, a fair living, she shouldn't. If they have any extra added expenses to their living, I haven't any feeling against it. My wife works. She just started recently.

Miss Louise Ramsey, 127th street and Harlem avenue, secretary—No, a married woman should not be allowed to serve in business. Not if the husband is making enough to take care of them, not if he's making $45 a week. There are quite a few married women who work and have husbands who make them work. I'd stay home.

Jan de Geer Forms a New Cabinet in Netherlands

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

AMSTERDAM, Aug. 9.—The six weeks' cabinet crisis in the Netherlands ended today with the formation of a new cabinet headed by Dirk Jan de Geer, Christian Historical party leader. He replaced Dr. Hendrik Colijn as prime minister. For the first time in Dutch history the Social Democratic party is represented in the cabinet with two members. Colijn's coalition cabinet quit June 30 as the result of a budget dispute.

Mexican Troops Rescue Cattleman from Kidnapers

GUADALAJARA, Mexico, Aug. 9 (AP).—Federal troops which killed several of a kidnap band in an attack on its mountain hideout near Ciudad Guzman have rescued Marcelino Gaitan, a prominent cattleman, after a month's captivity. The outlaws had demanded a huge ransom.

YOUNG OFFICERS' DEMANDS PERIL TOKIO CABINET

Insist on an Alliance with Italy and Germany.

SHANGHAI, Aug. 9 (AP).—Japan's bitter domestic conflict over a proposed alliance with Italy and Germany may cause the cabinet's fall or even more startling results, an informed traveler arriving today from Tokio declared.

Premier Hiranuma.

Young officers of the army in their insistence on an outright alliance with the totalitarian powers are creating a situation of extreme tension, this source said, in which rumors of extremist threats against the lives of cabinet members are current.

Most of the cabinet, including Premier Baron Kiichiro Hiranuma—hitherto considered inclined to the totalitarian side—high officials close to the emperor and even the army high command were described as opposed to the sweeping commitments to the Rome-Berlin axis urged by the young officers.

Army Command Opposed.

The army command was said to want nothing beyond a mutual aid pact aimed solely at soviet Russia.

The young officers—majors, lieutenant colonels, and colonels—are said to be advocates of vigorous direct action.

The traveler from Tokio, who was in close touch with government and diplomatic circles there, described the upheaval in Japanese political life thusly:

The proponents of the German-Italian alliance have been furnished ammunition for their agitation by several recent developments, chiefly America's abrogation on July 26 of her treaty of commerce and amity with Japan.

Fear Success of Britain.

Other developments were the apparent success of British-French efforts to draw soviet Russia into a mutual aid pact and Britain's firmer stand against Japan's demands for economic coöperation in Japanese-held areas in China.

From these the militarists argued that Japan could hope for no coöperation from America, Britain, or France, and that closer ties with the axis powers were desirable to avoid isolation.

SERBIANS REJECT GERMAN-ITALIAN WAR AID DEMAND

Threaten to Fight to Save Neutrality.

BELGRADE, Jugo-Slavia, Aug. 9 (AP).—Jugo-Slavia has refused German and Italian demands for use of her railroads in event of a European war and for the right to supervise her economic and military centers in wartime, it was learned tonight on the highest authority.

Premier Dragisha Cvetkovich.

With the full support of Britain and France, Premier Dragisha Cvetkovich will fly to Italy tomorrow in a Jugo-Slav army bomber, it was said. He is scheduled to tell Italy's leaders bluntly that Jugo-Slavia is determined to maintain strict neutrality even if it is necessary to use her arms to do so.

Germany and Italy, it was asserted, have described the relations which they proposed as a form of "benevolent" neutrality. Besides use of Jugo-Slavia's railroads and supervision of her economic and military centers, the arrangement sought by the axis powers would give them complete access to all of Jugo-Slavia's war materials and foodstuffs in case of war, it was said.

Would Give Rail Connections.

Use of the railroads would afford them rail connections through the Jugo-Slav province of Slovenia, in addition to those they already have through the Brenner pass, and would permit troop transportation in any advance toward Rumania and the east.

The government of Premier Cvetkovich and Prince Paul, senior regent of the country, were understood to have agreed that compliance with the axis powers' demands would be incompatible with the sovereignty of Jugo-Slavia.

Prince Paul, it was reported, explained the demands to the British and French governments on his recent trip to London and Paris.

Authoritative sources said Britain and France told the regent they would back Jugo-Slavia in case she came into conflict with the Rome-Berlin axis, for her surrender would mean that a staggering blow had been dealt to Rumania, Greece, and Turkey. These have joined the French-British front or have been included in it by British-French guarantees of their independence.

The premier's sudden decision to fly to Venice and Rome came after indefinite suspension of negotiations with Vladimir Machek, peasant leader, over demands of 5,000,000 Croats for home rule.

Whether Machek agreed to suspension of the negotiations in view of what the government considered a threat to the existence of the whole nation was not known.

Speaks for Neutrality.

It was pointed out, however, that the Croats publicly have expressed their will to preserve a strict neutrality along with the Serbs, who are dominant at Belgrade; the Slovenes and other nationalities which make up Jugo-Slavia.

The suspension of the home rule negotiations followed Prince Paul's refusal, for the second time in four months, to accept an autonomy plan that had been drafted by Cvetkovich and Machek. Reluctance of Serb politicians and army officers to yield places to Croats has been blamed in Croat quarters for failure of negotiations.

An urgent government decree issued tonight ordered the immediate storing of food for the army and civilian population. Food will be stored in government warehouses.

The Jugo-Slav government issued orders to speed up construction of fortifications on the German frontier.

ITALY TO FINE CITIZENS WHO MOVE INTO CITIES FROM RURAL DISTRICTS

ROME, Aug. 9 (AP).—The government today adopted a stringent measure to compel rural Italians to remain in rural areas.

A law published in the official Gazette provided for fines up to $50 for any one moving into a city of 25,000 population or more, unless he already had work there or other means of support.

Concerns in such localities were forbidden to offer work to rural residents without special authorization, and fines were provided for those renting rooms or apartments to persons entering towns in violation of the law.

Premier Mussolini recently advised all those who could to move from cities to escape possible war bombing.

POLICEMAN DIES AS BLAST SINKS BRITISH LAUNCH

HAIFA, Palestine, Aug. 9 (AP).—A British police sergeant was killed and two British constables were injured today when a time bomb exploded aboard a new patrol launch cruising off Haifa.

The launch had been keeping watch on a Greek ship hovering outside territorial waters in an attempt to land Jewish refugees from Europe.

Three Jews were killed and two wounded when a land mine exploded under a truck near Ekron.

ILLINOIS TROOPS MOVE UP; ATTACK 'ENEMY' AT DAWN

War Game Centered on Sugar River Hill.

BY FRANK CIPRIANI.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Sugar River [Ill.] Battlefield, Aug. 9.—Under cover of darkness the Blue army tonight began advancing against an invading Red army in a war game testing the fighting efficiency of the Illinois National Guard.

The first clashes between the opposing forces were to start at midnight. Action was to speed up later, with the climax at 4:50 a. m., Chicago time, in an assault and bayonet charge by some 3,000 men on Hill 975, heart of the Red position.

All day long the 6,500 citizen soldiers in annual training at Camp Grant moved to the battle area in the Sugar river valley near the little town of Davis. The soldiers traveled by truck and on foot, marching the last six miles.

Blue Army Moves Up.

Assembly areas were established in Davis and in Durand, another village about four miles east. Then the Blue army began moving into strategic positions. Field telephone lines were laid and radio telephone communication was established.

The Red army was represented by a skeleton force of 800 members of the 8th [colored] regiment, commanded by Col. William J. Warfield, and was charged with the task of holding an area of 13 square miles theoretically seized today. The Reds formed a forward line, then a secondary line, and finally a reserve line. Behind these lines the invaders occupied a verdant, treeless hill—No. 975—from which it held seeming mastery of the countryside for miles.

5,700 Will Attack.

The Blue army, commanded by Maj. Gen. Roy D. Keehn, was made up of 5,700 men and split into left and right columns. The left, designated as the 66th brigade, was made up of the 131st and 132d regiments under Brig. Gen. Thomas S. Hammond and Cols. John Richmond and Leroy Nelson. The right, labeled the 65th brigade, included the 129th and 130th regiments under Brig. Gen. Diller Myers and Cols. Cassius Poust and Albert Culbertson. The 66th brigade was charged with delivering the main assault at dawn.

Reconnoitering parties and two flyers from the 108th observation squadron have gathered information on which the Blue army will base its attack plans.

Salute Greets Gen. Ford.

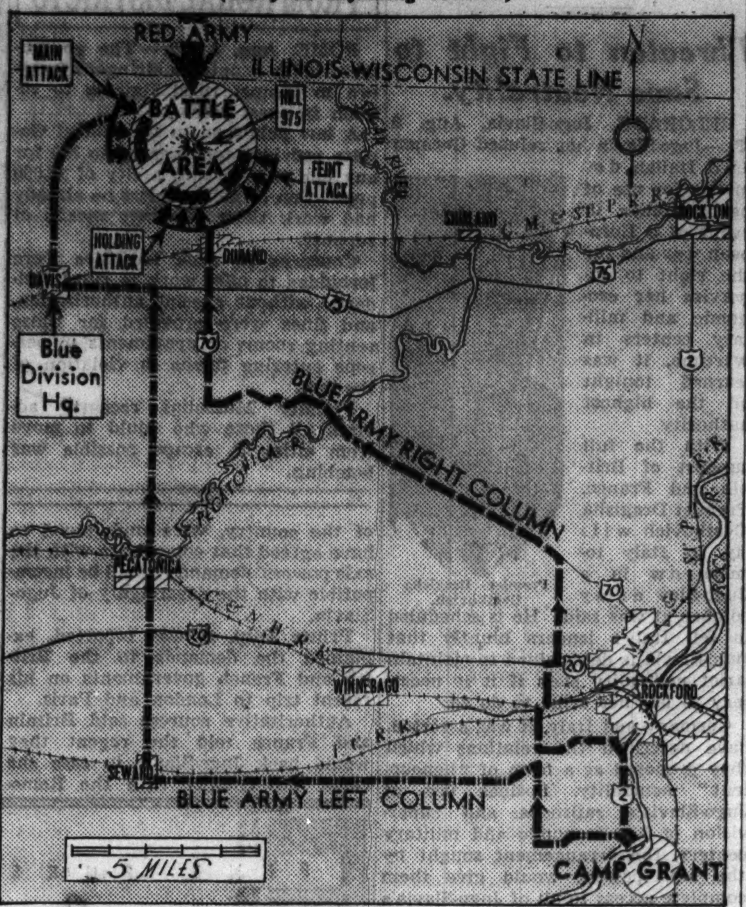
An observer of the field exercises is Lieut. Gen. Stanley H. Ford, commander of the second field army and the 6th corps area. He arrived at Camp Grant today to the echo of a fifteen gun salute, and came to the battle ground tonight.

Gen. Keehn today ordered a general court martial for four soldiers on a charge of assaulting Lieut. Paul Josephs, 706 Briar place, Chicago, while he was serving as a military policeman. He was beaten Monday morning while on duty at an outpost and his service pistol, his watch, and $7 disappeared.

The four men to be tried were arrested by Capt. Leonard McPhail and Lieut. James Ryan. They are Joseph E. Kenny, 8230 Ingleside avenue; Clare Thatcher, 7428 Emerald avenue; Robert A. Blickham, 8125 Cottage Grove avenue, and Corp. Philip Derrig, 4623 Adams street, Chicago, all members of the 108th combat engineers.

National Guard Battle Problem

(Story in adjoining column.)



The battle area in which the Blue and Red armies of the Illinois National Guard will maneuver today is in Laona township, northwest of Rockford. The Red army will attempt to hold an area of 13 square miles. The Blue army rolled out of Camp Grant yesterday and took up positions after some maneuvering. It feinted to the right of hill 975 and then made a holding attack to the south of the hill.

Army Officers Doubt Merits of New 155 Mm. Field Gun

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., Aug. 9.—Army officers are engaged in a dispute on the merits of the American heavy field weapon—the 155 mm. gun—which was placed in service this year.

Four months ago battery C, 36th field artillery, fired the new weapon. It sent a shell farther than one had ever been fired from a field piece in the United States army. The projectile traveled 25,000 yards and blew a hole sixteen feet in the ground.

Many officers feel, however, that the new gun does not compare favorably with similar weapons of other powers, notably the German equivalent of the heavy field piece.

Criticized as Too Heavy.

The 155 mm. gun, firing a projectile of not over 100 pounds, weighs more than fifteen tons. A normal charge gives a range of 18,000 yards and a supercharge the maximum range of 25,000.

In this class the German army is equipped with a 150 mm. gun. This weapon fires a 115 pound projectile to a maximum range of 24,000 yards and weighs eleven tons.

Many artillery officers contend that the American weapon is too heavy. When its specifications were prepared it was to weigh not more than 25,000 pounds—70 per cent of which was to be carried on the transport truck and 30 per cent on a trailer. As developed it exceeds the weight limit by 28 per cent.

Explain Wide Tread.

In developing the new heavy field piece the army was seeking to reduce the width of the tread of the carriage of the 155 mm. howitzer developed in 1920. This has an overall tread width of 106 inches—a width which would greatly impede two way trafic on ordinary roads.

A specification for the new piece provided that the width of its tread should not prevent two way trafic on ordinary roads. When the new piece was completed its overall width was found to be 99 inches. The reduction of only 7 inches, in the opinion of many officers, is not sufficient to allow two way trafic clearance on most roads.

The designers insist that the wide tread was necessitated because the center of gravity is high in a weapon which is designed to fire at elevations up to 65 degrees without a recoil pit.

Naval "Flying Battleship" Damaged on Test Flight

Newport, R. I., Aug. 9 [Special].—A navy Sikorsky "flying battleship" from Norfolk, in charge of Lieut. N. F. Craig, while making test landings in a choppy sea about six miles off the Newport shore this afternoon, damaged an aileron. The plane, under two of its four motors, taxied back to Narragansett bay and went to the naval air base at Gould Island.

QUIZ LAUNCHED IN APARTMENT SHOOTING FRAY

Town Hall police yesterday investigated the shooting of Richard Lentz, 35 years old, a street car motorman, who was wounded early yesterday in a fight in the Howard apartments, 4130 Kenmore avenue. Police said Fred Worth, 37, manager of the apartments, is being held for the shooting.

Lentz had visited the apartment of Miss Lorena Baker, 23, with two other street car men, Edward Jennings, of 4588 Elston avenue, and Edward Bordes, of 3609 Belle Plaine avenue. Police said they became involved in a fight with her and Worth came to her assistance. He said that when he tried to notify the police the trio attacked him and he fired three shots from a .32 caliber revolver. Lentz was struck in the chest and both legs.

Miss Baker and Jennings and Bordes also were being held for questioning, police said.

GROCER BOUND AND ROBBED.

Joseph Jewrevicz, manager of a grocery at 2875 Archer avenue, yesterday was robbed of $40 by a bandit who took off Jewrevicz's trousers, trussed him with rope, and dumped him in a back room.

Captain Harold A. White, explorer, curator and world traveller, relates his fascinating experiences in this new White Horse series. Follow it week by week.

Saved by a Wall of Dead Elephants

A thundering herd of enraged elephants charges down on a small band of hunters. Nowhere to run ...no time to turn. The only retreat is a quicksand swamp with promise of certain death. A rifle cracks out and one beast drops in his tracks. Other hunters find their marks...two...three...five...nine beasts fall. And as they drop these giant elephants form a wall, barricading the rest of the herd... saving the lives of the hunters. "Those were the three most exciting minutes in my life," says Captain White, "I will never forget them!"

And you will never forget the equally exciting, but much more pleasant thrill of every smooth sip of White Horse. Every corner of the globe is familiar with the sign of the White Horse. So mix the silver bubbles of soda with the golden scotch in your glass and enjoy a long cool drink of White Horse. In your icy glass is proof of the superiority of White Horse and the reason for its tremendous popularity. You will find White Horse everywhere, but you will never find its equal.

GIRL SHOT DEAD IN ARMORY TRYST; SOLDIER HUNTED

Date for Horseback Ride Ends in Slaying.

women are permitted in the armory on some evenings when the public in general is admitted. He said he didn't believe it was customary for the members to have feminine relatives or sweethearts call on them there after the dinner hour. He said he didn't believe there were any secluded places there which might be used for romance or trysting purposes.

"No Business of the Public."

Capt. Harry Fisher, custodian of the armory, said the murder was none of the public's business. He ordered several photographers thrown out bodily.

"Japcynski shouldn't have had that girl in the armory," Capt. Fisher told Police Lieutenant McAvoy. "He had trouble with her once before in here [the armory] and he was kicked out of the regiment. At that time he was a sergeant and a fine veterinary. He was recently taken back as a private because he certainly knew a lot about horses.

"But about women he doesn't know much. He left his wife for this girl. I didn't know he brought her in tonight or I would not have permitted it."

Saw Her Dragged, Two Say.

In Capt. Fisher's preliminary report to Col. Haffner, the statement was made that the girl had not been permitted to go upstairs with Japcynski. Police said this report was contradicted by the statements of the two sergeants who said they saw her "being dragged downstairs"—a statement later interpreted as meaning she was trying to get away, running down the stairs screaming, and he was holding her by one arm and trying to pull her back.

Both sergeants said when the shooting started they ran for shelter.

Police went to the home of Mrs. Catherine Bredo, 4075 Oakland Crescent, who divorced Japcynski two years ago, remarried, and has since become separated from her second husband.

Tells of Break with Girl.

Mrs. Bredo told them that she had seen Japcynski as lately as Monday and that her former husband told her, "I've told Elsie it's all over." She said there had been talk of a remarriage between herself and Japcynski. They have two daughters, Betty, who is married, and Mary, 13, who lives with her mother.

Japcynski's sister, Mrs. Helen Malkowski, with whom he and his aged mother live at 8448 Essex avenue, said her brother had been drinking heavily of late. Neighbors said Japcynski had taken three heavy suitcases out of the apartment several days ago, as if going on a journey, but Mrs. Malkowski denied this.

CORONER'S JURY HOLDS GORE JR. IN PORCH KILLING

Benton, Ill., Aug. 9 [Special].—A coroner's jury recommended tonight that George W. Gore Jr., son of a wealthy Benton physician, be held for grand jury action on a charge of murder in the slaying of his stepmother, Mrs. Nancy Gore, on July 23.

State's Attorney Rea Jones announced that a Franklin county grand jury will convene Sept. 1 to investigate the killing. Gore, who was quoted by Jones as having confessed the crime, and his wife, Katherine, 22, are being held in the county jail here. Gore was arrested on a murder warant several days ago.

About 500 persons crowded into the city hall to attend the inquest. Wide interest in the slaying has been aroused by the mystery that surrounded it for several days until the case was investigated by T. P. Sullivan, head of the state bureau of criminal investigation, and his agents.

SLAIN ROBBER IS IDENTIFIED IN 2 MORE HOLDUPS

The bandit shot to death Monday night in a holdup of a liquor store at 1320 East 55th street was identified yesterday as Michael Kalich, 18 years old, 1538 South Washtenaw avenue.

Friends suggested he might have turned to banditry because of the straitened circumstances of his mother, Mrs. Anne Ovil, and her husband, George Ovil. The young man was identified also as the robber who took $75 from Arthur C. Lucas in a liquor store at 604 East 63d street last April. George Platt, manager of a liquor store at 6706 Stony Island avenue, said Kalich robbed him of $265 last Sunday.

DOCTOR FORCED TO TREAT WOUND BY MASKED MEN

Two men wearing masks and dark glasses entered Dr. Robert J. Moses' medical office at 1001 Hudson avenue last night. They ordered Dr. Moses to treat a gunshot wound in the right thigh of one of them. When Dr. Moses said the law required him to call police, the wounded man's companion said: "Well, now doctor, you don't want to do that, do you?" Dr. Moses administered first aid and the men left. He reported the incident to police. In March of 1938 Dr. Moses was forced to treat a gunshot wound.

LINK SMUGGLING PLOT TO FRENCH DIPLOMATIC BAG

New York, Aug. 9 [Special].—A federal grand jury today charged the French ministry of foreign affairs with having permitted its diplomatic pouches to be used in the smuggling of 37,000 feet of commercial motion picture film. In a public presentment it also accuses various French officials and individuals of complicity.

The presentment was filed with Federal Judge John C. Knox. A copy was forwarded to Secretary of State Cordell Hull for any action the state department may care to take.

The charges grow out of the arrest in March of a commercial photographer, Andre de la Varre, who was charged with having smuggled film which he had taken in Europe.

In addition to the French ministry of foreign affairs, the French government tourist bureau, the Frenc consulate general in New York, the French Line, Martin de Linclays, general manager of the French Line in New York, and eight other individuals are accused of complicity.

BURGLAR KILLED, PAL CAPTURED BY POLICE SQUAD

A burglar, Harry Sklepkowski, 22 years old, was killed early yesterday and his companion, Otto Beisswanger, also 22, was captured when a detective squad from the New City station surprised them burglarizing a gasoline station at 5101 South Western avenue. Both youths, who had been released from the Bridewell Aug. 6 after serving terms for burglary, had no homes, the police said.

As the squad car drove up to the station after receiving a radio call Sklepkowski climbed out of a window and fled. Detective Edward Kasiak ordered him to halt, then fired, the bullet striking Sklepkowski in the head. Beisswanger jumped from the window into the arms of Detectives William Berglind and James Walsh.

REVEAL $22,825 WORTH SCHOOL FUND SHORTAGE

Books of Ex-Treasurer Under Examination.

Noble J. Puffer, county superintendent of schools, announced yesterday that an audit completed Tuesday has revealed a shortage of $22,825 in the accounts of E. C. Pronger, who was Worth township's school treasurer for thirty-nine years prior to his resignation last July 17.

All information concerning the audit, which was in progress more than two weeks, was suppressed by Puffer until yesterday afternoon. He insisted steadfastly that he knew of no audit, repeating his denials after Pronger had turned over checks for $18,800 as partial restitution.

Action was taken immediately in the state's attorney's office—which also was excluded from Mr. Puffer's confidence—to investigate fully the disappearance of the school money. Emmett Moynihan, acting first assistant prosecutor, directed Assistant State's Attorney Richard Austin to take over the case.

Order President to Appear.

Austin was unable to locate Puffer, who left his office after announcing the shortage. Austin reached Thomas Hayes, 2653 West Vermont street, Blue Island, president of the Worth school board, and directed him to appear today with his records at the Criminal Courts building.

Puffer said yesterday that Pronger had turned the $18,800 in checks over to the board Tuesday night. This, the superintendent said, left a shortage of $4,025. The board has given Pronger until Aug. 21 to make good this amount. It was revealed at the same time that an additional $5,400 shortage may result from Pronger's purchase, with school money, of allegedly defaulted bonds from the Pronger Construction company, which he heads.

Puffer said he did not know what action, if any, will be taken against Pronger for purchase of the bonds from his own company. Austin said the law places responsibility for all county school moneys upon the superintendent.

Annual Reports Required.

"He must check up regularly on these funds and satisfy himself that they are being administered properly," the assistant prosecutor said. "The law provides that the treasurers shall make annual reports to him."

The audit announced yesterday covered the fiscal year ending June 30, 1939, and was made by Stewart & Co., 134 North La Salle street. The Worth township board has instructed the firm to begin an immediate audit of the fiscal years 1936 and 1937. If further irregularities are found the audit will be extended through the entire thirty-nine years Pronger served, it was said.

Pronger, reached at his home, 12739 Maple avenue, Blue Island, declared that nothing is amiss.

"I didn't see the audit until yesterday," he said. "I paid the $18,800 and will pay the remainder by Aug. 21. I think the auditors got my personal accounts mixed up with school accounts. There is nothing wrong.

"As to the bond purchases, they were made in July of 1928, before the bonds went into default. The board knew they came from the Pronger Construction company, but did not object."

Question 2 Young Robbery Suspects; One Confesses

New City police last night were questioning Walter Lajos, 21 years old, 4335 South Hermitage avenue, and Peter Lynch, 22, of 4446 South Marshfield avenue, in connection with a series of robberies. They said Lynch had admitted taking $200 and a pistol from his father's tavern at 4624 South Ashland avenue last Saturday and that three other robberies had yielded $125, three revolvers, and an automobile.

SUICIDE ATTEMPT BY RIVER SLAYING VICTIM REVEALED

John Haeuschen Jr., 23 years old, who was found shot to death Sunday near the Des Plaines river a mile northeast of Libertyville, had made at least one suicide attempt previously, Lake county authorities learned yesterday.

Park Ridge and county highway police records show that young Haeuschen swallowed an anti-freeze compound the night of Nov. 26 while employed as a Park Ridge cab driver, Deputy Sherif Stanley Christian reported. Haeuschen was taken to Northwestern hospital, Des Plaines, and released the following day.

Police Chief Harold W. Johnson of Park Ridge told Deputy Christian that other cab drivers said Haeuschen had threatened to take his life several times before quitting his job June 1. Despite this, the elder Haeuschen, a railway mail clerk, of 6456 North Newland avenue, again denied his son had been a source of worry to him.

Coroner John L. Taylor was told of the new information and ordered that the inquest be resumed this afternoon.

75 ARE INDICTED ON CHARGES OF ILLEGAL VOTING

Marshall, Ill., Aug. 9.—[Special.]—Seventy-five persons were under indictment here today in a mass investigation of alleged vote frauds in Clark county in the general election last Nov. 8, the April primary, and the judicial election in June.

Many of the defendants were charged with voting on absentee ballots here, although they are legal residents of other states. Some of those named were reported to be now living in California, Indiana, and in Cook county, Illinois.

A special grand jury made the charges in forty-seven true bills returned yesterday.

POLICE ON TRAIL OF LOVERS' LANE SLAYER OF GIRL

Camden, N. J., Aug. 9 (AP).—Investigators seeking to trap the slayer of Wanda Dworecki, 17 years old, a minister's daughter, found strangled in a lovers' lane yesterday, revealed tonight they were close on the trail of her killer.

"We know who we're after, but we don't know when it will break," Larry C. Doran, chief of Camden county detectives, declared upon his return from Chester, Pa. "This is plenty hot."

Doran, who previously intimated he was going to Cape May, N. J., to pick up a "Camden police character," explained he did so only to mislead the girl's slayer. He declined to throw any light on the identity of the person sought.

FEDERAL JURORS INDICT DRUGGAN, 4 BREWERY AIDS

Indictments charging Terrence J. [Terry] Druggan, dry era beer runner, and four officers of the Gambrinus Company, Inc., a brewery, with violating the internal revenue laws were returned by a federal grand jury yesterday. The indictments allege that Druggan's interest in the brewery was concealed when application for a federal license was made. Federal agents say that Druggan was actual owner of the concern, which reopened in 1936 and went bankrupt in March, 1937.

The others indicted are Attorney A. J. Schanfarber, 5454 South Shore drive, vice president, and Harold C. Hayes, 43 years old, 4301 Drexel boulevard, secretary treasurer of the brewery; James J. Cullen Sr., 60, of 5547 Jackson boulevard, and John Martin, 48, of 8023 South Walcott avenue.

Bench warrants were issued by Federal Judge Michael L. Igoe, before whom the indictments were returned, and bond were set at $2,500. Druggan is reported to be living near Prairie View, in Lake county. Conviction on the charges of conspiracy and filing a false report of ownership carries a maximum penalty of two years imprisonment or $10,000 fine, or both. The case was presented to the jury by Assistant District Attorney Martin Ward.

ESCAPE OF 54TH INMATE BARED AT ST. CHARLES

Kenneth Fleming, 13 years old, escaped yesterday from the unwalled St. Charles Training School for Boys. He was the fifty-fourth this year. Fleming, a Chicagoan, fled through a window of Jefferson cottage early in the morning.

W. T. Harmon, superintendent, notified Elgin police at 2:30 a. m. They said it was the first time in their memory that they had ever been notified of an escape from St. Charles. No trace of Fleming, who was committed ten months ago, had been found last night. Four inmates who escaped last Saturday also are still missing. Their flight was kept secret for two days.

HIGHER INCOME TAXES.

Today there are more jobholders on the federal government's pay roll than at any time in the nation's history, including the war period. They now number more than 925,000, not counting those in the army, the navy, and the judicial and legislative branches, or persons on relief. When Mr. Roosevelt took office the comparable figure was 563,000. He has added 362,000. The executive pay roll in June cost the taxpayers no less than 140 million dollars.

This vast army, for the most part, adds nothing to the nation's wealth. The pay rollers are being supported by the rest of us and many of them spend their working hours devising new and ingenious means of bedeviling those whose taxes pay their salaries.

On the same day that the civil service commission reported these figures Mr. Roosevelt conferred with Congressman Buck of California on proposals to raise taxes. Mr. Buck is a member of a subcommittee which was appointed at the instance of the administration to work up plans for bigger and better taxation. After leaving the White House Mr. Buck talked about increasing the government's revenues 137 million dollars a year by reducing the exemption of married men to $2,000 and of single men to $800 and adding 1 per cent to the rates.

Something might be said for lowering the exemptions to increase the number of tax conscious citizens and a great deal might be said for balancing the budget. But it is altogether obvious that any additional money which will be raised by Mr. Buck's scheme will go down the rat hole. In the month of June, 1939, alone the number of pay rollers grew by more than 22,000. They meant an addition of close to 40 million dollars a year to the cost of government. A little more than three such months and Mr. Buck's 137 millions will be used up. The 362,000 whom Mr. Roosevelt has placed in government offices cost the taxpayers about 650 million dollars a year.

Why try to squeeze another 137 million dollars from the already overburdened taxpayers when nothing is being done to demobilize the pay roll army?

THE LIQUIDATION IN LOUISIANA.

John Rogge, assistant United States attorney general conducting the Louisiana purge for his chief, Mr. Murphy, says that the investigation into political corruption is just picking up speed, taking the smaller fry in stride and concentrating on the big violators.

The smaller fry include former Governor Leche and Seymour Weiss, two of the triumvirate inheriting Huey Long's empire; Dr. James Monroe Smith, president of the state university, and Freeman Burford, the Texas oil man. Mr. Weiss was supposed to be as big as they grew, but Mr. Rogge intimates that he has been using only bird shot and is now out with his elephant gun. Curiosity is rife and expectation feverish.

The appeasement of the income tax episode, when charges against Mr. Weiss were dropped after the death of Senator Long, has broken down and another indictment for evasion has been voted. Will Mr. Rogge discover why the other charges were dropped? There must have been a reason. Is there big game in that direction?

The purge has also hit the airport. Workmen are chiseling the name of Abe L. Shushan from a thousand places where he had carved it. It was on even the door knobs and fixtures to inform the tourist that the place was the Shushan airport. The levee board has changed the name to New Orleans port. Mr. Shushan was truly a Roman of the old empire. He was edificial and left souvenirs and mementoes.

The Huey Long empire misses the emperor. He would have done something about this invasion from Washington. Mr. Rogge and his agents probably by now would be besieged in the federal building by the state troopers and would not care to show themselves at the windows.

REDS IN THE MERCHANT MARINE.

Congress wisely rejected a bill which would have forced the maritime commission to select the crews of government owned merchant ships through the hiring halls of the radical unions on the Pacific coast. The army and navy opposed the measure in the belief that the type of crew so furnished might seriously hamper the use of the ships as auxiliaries in time of war.

The hiring hall is a union device for enforcing the closed shop. Originally the unions demanded control of hiring halls with the argument that if employers controled them union members would be subjected to discrimination. With ships operated by the maritime commission the union is in no such danger. The law provides that its employés shall be picked from lists kept by United States shipping commissioners, federal officials. In seeking to force use of their halls the unions are seeking to force all employés on the government ships to pay dues as a price for their jobs.

The objections of the army and navy are patent and logical. Radical union leaders, controling hiring halls, can not only force members of crews on maritime commission vessels to pay dues. They can also use their control of the halls to pack the crews with communists and communist fellow travelers.

Through its other agencies, principally the National Labor Relations board, the Roosevelt administration has been active in forcing on private shipowners the use of the union hiring halls that the armed services consider a threat to our national defense. The decline of the American merchant marine, which Mr. Roosevelt's own maritime commission attributed in no small part to acts of insubordination and sabotage by its radical crews, is a natural result.

ISMAIL OF THE MORE ABUNDANT LIFE.

Great Britain is moving Indian troops both to Singapore and to Egypt. Egypt is nominally an independent nation. The British put an end to the shadowy Turkish suzerainty in the world war and later recognized the country's independence with conditions which permit the empire to protect it and to use it as a base for the security of the trade route through the Suez canal.

The future of the empire contains some of the critical problems with which nations everywhere in the world are now dealing, not excluding the United States. The English would have everybody understand that their world dominion is civilization's answer to the aborigine's prayer. Great acrimony develops in the discussion of this thesis and there are those who can see nothing of a notably distinguished moral superiority in the processes which led to the accumulation of so many subject peoples and so much pro-consular territory.

Without raising the whole question, it might be of passing interest, for more reasons than one, to note the method by which the British position in Egypt was attained. Ismail Pasha, the khedive ruling in the '70s, was, as the British historian would have you look at him, a rakish spendthrift, a magnificent deadbeat, and an oppressor of the people. In the opinion of his admirers and defenders he was a sovereign devoted to the best interests of his subjects and determined to make Egypt hum with industry, blossom with gardens, and give the more abundant life to the wretched toilers who were to be freed from the bonds of poverty and slavish work. The fellaheen were to be rescued from underprivilege class and to be given all the benefits of civilization and culture. Whatever the opinion of Ismail's character may be, he was by common agreement a spender. He borrowed money from the money changers of Europe, created a national debt which was stuning for poor Egypt, and started to work. He built dams and railroads, carried out irrigation projects, built roads, harbors, and great public structures. He fostered education and patronized the arts. One great achievement was the creation of Egyptian opera, with a splendid opera house for the opening of which Verdi by royal commission wrote "Aïda."

Ismail's spending went with a bang over a period of years. Great as were the public works, the greatest edifice was the debt. The taxes were heavy upon the impoverished land. Admirers of Ismail say that he was shamefully gouged by the banking houses and gypped by the contractors. His critics say he threw other people's money around for his own pleasure and renown.

In 1875 the khedive, to get some more money, sold his Suez canal shares to Disraeli, but that didn't get him out of the hole. By 1877 he was paying out nearly all his revenue in interest and could raise only a million dollars for all the other expenses of government.

When Egypt was ruined and in default the European powers stepped in. They tried a debt control commission which didn't work, put through a new loan which helped some but, finding the khedive restless under foreign control, invoked the suzerain powers of the Turkish sultan to depose him. Nationalist riots broke out and, other powers declining to take the final steps, England sent a fleet to bombard Alexandria and the army to conquer the nationalist leader, Arabi Pasha, at Tel el Kebir.

There are critics who say that the Rothschilds sent the fleet and the army in to protect their loans. The empire had taken over another of its white man's burdens, later to be carried into the Sudan, where, as has so frequently been the good fortune of British morality, a field of material interest was discovered—namely: The cotton raising possibilities.

Even now the Italians in Ethiopia are reluctant to concede a moral distinction between their occupancy of territory on one side of the sources of the Blue Nile and the British occupancy of territory on the other. The methods by which Ismail prepared the country for its change of rulers and the practices by which the empire added a little more to what it already had are about equally interesting and significant in the contemplation of many national and international problems today.

Editorial of the Day

POLITICAL EXPEDIENT?

[Grand Rapids Press.]

Secretary of Agriculture Wallace has placed in effect an export subsidy on cotton, amounting to about one and a half cents a pound, hoping to move some 6,000,000 bales of this product from the great surplus of 13,000,000 bales now on hand.

Mr. Wallace himself once condemned the export subsidy. The state department still condemns it. When it is practiced by other countries it is called dumping."

But expediency seems to have overruled common sense in this case, with the result that the United States is plunging into a practice which it has always abhorred in others. And although the immediate results may be favorable, what will happen in the future if retaliatory measures are adopted abroad?

Not the least effect will be that foreign producers of textiles will be enabled to purchase their raw material at a price lower than that obtained by domestic textile makers. If this results in an unfair advantage for foreign textiles, just where will America gain in the deal? And where does the American manufacturer stand with his government subsidizing the foreign producer in this manner?

The prediction that this policy will boomerang to America's discredit is wholly in order. There is no sound economic basis for supporting the export subsidy and it may be viewed not only as an economic expedient but also as a political one besides. Mr. Wallace apparently does not wish to go into the 1940 campaign with a 13,000,000 bale cotton surplus on his hands.

And it may be wondered, too, just what effect this policy will have on the reciprocal trade agreements and the doctrines espoused by Secretary Hull. This division of counsels in the administration bodes no good either for the administration or for the country as a whole.

FOOTNOTES TO "ANDREAS."

Literary snobbism is largely the reason why Alfred T. Andreas and his "History of Chicago" have had no commentators until the subject was taken up in this column [Aug. 1 and 3]. Later historians have used the three monumental volumes of Andreas freely, but without gratitude enough to discuss their origin or their producer, because this was a commercial venture, and "distinguished citizens" who wanted to get their pictures and biographies into it had to pay for the privilege. In the shop talk of ink stained wretches, this was a "mugg book," and sneered out of literary history.

Capt. Andreas was in the "mugg book" industry on a large and dignified scale. He had a staff of writers and salesmen, and published numerous county and state histories in the middle west. [You will find his "Cook County" in the libraries, as well as his "Chicago."] He was also an atlas publisher, and a map drawer on his own account. He is recorded as a publisher in the city directories from 1875 to 1886.

Of the writing of the "History of Chicago," Caroline McIlvaine, former director of the historical society, says:

"Some of the old citizens who contributed articles to the text have told me that it was largely prepared in the historical society's old building at Dearborn and Ontario streets by a group of writers, mainly newspaper men, who sat around large tables and worked under the direction of the secretary of the society, A. D. Hager, who contributed much of the early portion."

Edward S. Judd of Chicago writes:

"In the summer of 1881, newly graduated from Williams college, I came to Chicago looking for a job. I was introduced to Capt. Andreas by relatives, and sent by him to Cheboygan, Mich., to write a history of that county for a state history which he afterward published. I was then sent to Lincoln, Neb., to prepare copy for a similar history of part of that state. I have pleasant memories of Capt. Andreas' vivid personality, enterprise, and courtesy to all his associates."

FLIGHT AND PURSUIT.

Though you leave me, flying high,
Still I stumble after,
My eyes wet with tears and rain,
Yours brimful of laughter.
You that soar so gloriously
Will escape all care
And have the shafts of lightning love
Tangled in your hair.
Though at last you finally fall
You will soon forget,
But I, on sober beaten paths,
Remembering, will regret.

George Ade made a wise and witty speech at the reunion of the newspaper men of Chicago's first world's fair in A Century of Progress. He contrasted the classic beauty of 1893 with the modernism of 1933, and said, "This fair is a rainbow struck by lightning."

OCTOBER LOVE.

Not the encircling glory and the wings,
Nor yet the breathless rapture in the dawn;
But in the heart, a tender voice that sings,

A Broken Heart for Every Light on Broadway.

Last Sunday night's radio presentation of D'Ennery's ornate old melodrama, "The Two Orphans," brought to mind a grim instance of the workings of time's whirligig. Scene I. Thirty-eight years ago in the lobby of the old Criterion theater on Broadway, New York, where an eminent American actress is playing to capacity audiences. Enter Kate Claxton, rapturously acclaimed in the smaller cities from coast to coast as Henriette in "The Two Orphans" when I was a boy in Michigan. She asks the courtesies of the theater for an impending performance, a wholly legitimate custom in the profession. Obviously she is not in the pink of prosperity, but gentle and sweet, thought I, then a member of the eminent actress' business staff. The box office, not too suavely, rebuffs her. Hearing her name I greet her and briskly write the "Pass Two."

Scene II. Evening of the same day. Our manager, then the most debonair and popular figure on Broadway and one of its most prosperous, to me: "See you've been writing passes for Kate Claxton." I, complacently: "Yes, met her in the lobby this afternoon." He, dryly: "In the future you better write them out of your own pocket. Kate Claxton couldn't get a pass to Huber's Dime Museum!" I, abashed, realize that I will never be Broadway wise—only a Michigan small town boy gazing enraptured at the posters of Kate Claxton as Henriette.

Scene III. Thirty-three years elapse. The manager, old and broken, dies in penury in a hotel a few yards from the lobby where I wrote the unsophisticated "Pass Two." Moral: When it's Broadway, watch your step.

IODINE IN GOITER PREVENTION.

HUNDREDS of inquiries come to this department relative to the rôle of iodine in the human body. Is it a good remedy, and for what? No more striking illustration of its value can be set forth than the conquest of simple goiter through the widespread employment of iodized salt.

Few of us realize that tens of thousands have been saved the development of thyroid disease because of the research of David Marine of Cleveland. After critical studies on the structure of the gland and the reason for its enlargement, he determined that a lack of iodine in the food was responsible. If sheep are deprived of the drug, the thyroid soon reaches a noticeable stage of enlargement. He observed this, and later proved his theory on brook trout in the fish hatcheries of Pennsylvania. He concluded that simple goiter is the easiest known disease to prevent.

In 1916, in association with O. P. Kimball, Marine made a study of the neck glands of all girls of grades five to twelve inclusive in the public schools of Akron, O. The investigation continued for four years, and approximately 10,000 pupils were examined. About half followed the suggestion that a small amount of the chemical be included in the daily diet. Only 2/10ths of 1 per cent of those taking it developed swellings, whereas 27.6 per cent, of those who did not, exhibited recognizable overgrowth of the gland. Of the group that showed some increase in size on the first inspection, 79.7 per cent decreased—many to normal—when the deficiency was supplied.

These reports were so startling that many communities in various parts of the world, known to be in goiter areas, followed his teaching. In Zurich, Switzerland, for instance, the change was spectacular. In this country the Rocky Mountain states, those surrounding the Great Lakes, and the Appalachian region were definitly classified as goitrous.

Then came the suggestion that adding a small amount of sodium iodide to table salt would suffice. Michigan started the first state-wide movement after making a survey of the occurrence of goiter among school children, as well as an estimation of the amount of iodine in the water. This disclosed that, wherever the substance was absent or insufficient, gland trouble was greatest. A program of prevention was worked out, which is one of the finest examples of coöperation between physicians, state health authorities, and the public that this country has known.

Manufacturers and wholesale grocers put on the market a preparation containing 1 part of potassium iodide to 5,000 parts of common salt. No law was passed; no one was obliged to take the suggestion. Everything was accomplished by means of education. By 1924, 96 per cent of all families in the city of Detroit were using this modified condiment, with the result that goiter diminished as promptly as it did in Akron. In the original checkup of 1923 and 1924, with 65,547 examined, thyroid enlargement was found in 38.6 per cent. In 1928, with 50,134 examined, the figure had dropped to 9.9 per cent.

We must think, then, of simple goiter as a deficiency disorder—one that may be met by including a small quantity of the lacking material with the food and drink. Another fact that has been demonstrated is that there is no sound basis for believing that the minute doses prescribed have the slightest injurious effect, even though not actually needed.

Why is this measure desirable? Because a slight bulging of the structure may be the precursor of a tumor, with toxic manifestations. We scarcely can comprehend the suffering and disability which have been prevented by this inexpensive procedure. We can appreciate, however, the years of intensive investigation which resulted in the discovery of the missing factor and the solution of the problem.

Persons who live on the seacoast and routinely obtain ocean fish do not require this doctored salt. But in a large area within the United States neither soil nor water is rich enough. Our youngsters particularly must be protected.

PROBABLY DUST SPECKS.

H. W. writes: My sputum has brown specks. My physician has made various tests and I appear to be normal in every way. What could be the cause?

REPLY.

These specks are probably of no significance, as the usual cause is inhaled dust and dirt. Every city person has this at times.

TRY ANOTHER POOL.

F. R. writes: Every time I go swimming I develop a cold—watery eyes, running nose, stuffed head, etc. If I stay out of the water these symptoms disappear after about a week. Is there any way I can swim and yet prevent this condition?

REPLY.

You are probably sensitive to some bacteria living in the water. I doubt if you would exhibit these symptoms after bathing in a clean pool. Chilling should be thought of, as it may lower resistance. One would infer that the "old swimmin' hole" is contaminated. Why not try another spot?

BICYCLE RIDING.

J. S. writes: Is bicycle riding good exercise?

REPLY.

Excellent for healthy persons. It develops muscles and "wind."

AN EXPLODED SUPERSTITION.

V. A. writes: Is it true that plants should not be kept in the same room where people sleep?

REPLY.

Absolutely not. This is an exploded superstition. In fact, it may even be healthful—particularly in the winter time—because of the moisture that may be added to the air.

STILL AVAILABLE.

R. T. writes: Recently you offered a leaflet giving suggestions on the treatment of athlete's foot. I was not interested at the time, but I went swimming since then and now my feet are affected. Are these leaflets still available?

REPLY.

Yes, we are sending them out in large numbers these days. Inclose a stamped, self addressed envelope with your request.

AS LONG AS NEEDED.

H. H. W. writes: For how long after a person has had a stroke should massage be continued?

REPLY.

As long as paralysis is present. It keeps the muscles in good tone.

ALLEYS AND GARBAGE.

Chicago, Aug. 9.—I have made a study of Chicago's alleys and garbage for almost five years. Comparing Chicago with any other city, its system of hauling garbage and cleaning alleys is decidedly the lowest on the list.

All of your health programs are meaningless until you enforce the ordinance on depositing of garbage in the alleys. Flies, vermin, bacteria, leading to tetanus, etc., carriers of typhoid, and other contagious diseases are largely traceable to our dirty, garbage laden alleys. Even the manure from horse stables is permitted to be dumped in the open alley. Our alleys are nothing short of public toilets.

I have written appealingly to our board of health, implored our ward yardmen, and called our public welfare officials. The composite reply is that the alleys cannot be kept clean. They say they have insufficient help. The political party in power won't bring prosecution for violations of the city ordinances.

How about electing our next aldermen and city officials on a health program campaign? W. D. MARBURGER.

NOTES FROM A DEMOCRAT.

Chicago, Aug. 5.—The writer recently took a needy old person to the relief station, one who had no car fare to go for his check. Arriving there, the first scene I noted was a woman drying her tears. When she was asked what was the matter she replied: "I am a widow with a small child now at home waiting for food. They just gave me a check for $13.85. From this amount I have to pay $12 for rent; the balance of $1.85 will have to pay for food for the two of us for the entire month."

A group of men were gathered in a far-off corner of the room. They were discussing the misery that had befallen them despite living in the richest country in the world. The oldest among them was a man of about 60; he had this to say: "I am too old to work and have to depend on public assistance for myself and four dependents. Here is the check they gave me, which does not even pay the rent. If I buy food with the money, then I might be thrown out on the street. I have lost confidence even in God."

An angry, healthy looking young man remarked in a loud voice: "Why don't they cut the salaries of the administrators and assistants? Do you know," he continued, "most of the women that work here have husbands who hold either public or private jobs; it is about time they cut that two-in-one job racket out."

Following an exchange of opinions, they all agreed to this: It is not the communists, Fascists, or any other malcontents that are propagating dictatorship for this country—it is the Democratic party with its conflicting policies that is planning to put over a deal far worse than dictatorship. It is about time the American people woke up and joined in this prayer: "May God save this country from another Democratic victory!" A DEMOCRAT.

THOSE POLICE VACANCIES.

Chicago, Aug. 4.—I am a daily reader of your paper.

Recently I received information that there are ninety-two vacancies in the police department. Could you find out for me when another class will be called for police school?

ONE OF THE NINETY-TWO.

ONE VIEW OF INCOME TAX.

Chicago, Aug. 7.—I have, as yet, not been approached by your inquiring reporter, who has been asking people at random the question: What part of their income should Ford, Clark Gable, Myrna Loy, etc., pay for income tax?

Should this individual, in the course of his wanderings, happen to stumble across me, I'm ready with my answer, and here it is: No more than they would have had to pay if Washington had been spared the blight of an army of spending, spluttering, spoliating blunderbusses descending upon it. What is now collected by Washington is either used for oiling a political machine, keeping a horde of burocrats in soft berths or spent for grandiose and illusionary schemes. Only a dribble of the money does the masses any good.

Will any one deny that if Carnegie or Rockefeller, to name only these two, had given their money to the government it would have been of one-hundredth part the benefit to mankind their millions have been under the wise guidance of the Carnegie and Rockefeller Foundations? MAURICE LAZARE.

BICYCLES ON SIDEWALKS.

Chicago, Aug. 4.—I was amazed to read that it was unlawful to ride bicycles on sidewalks. Evidently that does not stop the practice in this neighborhood. I thought bicycles had the right of way. Ever try walking down 67th street on the park side, up over the pedestrian bridge recently erected over South Shore drive? Hoodlums use this bridge [evidently put there to enable pedestrians to cross the drive safely] as a shoot the chutes. It is no uncommon sight anywhere in town to see pedestrians jump aside to keep from being run down on sidewalks. If there is a law, why don't the police do something about it?

MAMIE BRENNAN.

SUGGESTS AFLEK AND COB.

Chicago, Aug. 8.—I noted the other day that Mr. B. F. Affleck was strongly in favor of THE TRIBUNE adopting short spelling like thoro, thru, etc. If it is a good idea why not spell his name Aflek? And this morning Mr. Cobb seconds the motion. Why two b's when one will do? Unless one first puts his own house in order he may be hoist by his own petard. &DREW.

DEBT COLLECTION.

Arlington Heights, Ill., Aug. 4 [Legal Friend of the People].—I have given a justice of the peace a case to collect a board bill. Before he issued the warrant I had to pay $4.60. The case was called and the opponent never appeared.

The judge sent him a letter and demanded the full amount of $59.60. After twenty days he paid [1] $48.00 which the judge instructed me [2] not to accept as it was less than the full amount.

After he heard the opponent's plea that he could not pay the full amount the judge advised me to take the $48.00 and call it square or talk it over with him and see what could be done about the balance.

3. Now the judge demands another $4.60. This seems petty graft to me.

4. Must I pay that again and [5] has he a right to collect before the full amount is paid? G. A.

1. This implies that the money was already in your hands.
2. If you had already accepted it we do not understand the materiality of this discussion.
3. You should ask him for an itemized statement.
4. We cannot pass upon the charge without knowing the grounds upon which he bases it.
5. Depends largely on your agreement with him. TRIBUNE LAW DEPARTMENT.

QUALIFIED EXECUTOR.

Chicago, Aug. 5 [Legal Friend of the People].—My husband died some time ago leaving a will naming a closed bank as executor. Inasmuch as this bank is no longer in operation, and I am the chief beneficiary with the exception of a small gift to my son, [1] would it be possible for me to be appointed executor and [2] how would I go about it? Would you advise [3] the approximate cost of probating a will? J. L.

1. It seems probable that you could get the court to appoint you as "administratrix with the will annexed," which would be the equivalent of your being executrix.
2. It ordinarily is advisable to employ an attorney for such proceedings.
3. Depends on facts that are not before us. TRIBUNE LAW DEPARTMENT.

Test Your Facts

Below each of the following questions are listed three answers. Make your choice, turn to page 28 in the Want Ad section for the correct answers, and mark your score:

1. To what state would you go to reach the source of the Mississippi river?
[a] Minnesota; [b] Iowa; [c] Wisconsin.
2. Who owns the Suez canal?
[a] A British corporation; [b] a French corporation; [c] an Egyptian corporation.
3. What Russian composer was also a distinguished chemist?
[a] Glinka; [b] Borodin; [c] Tschaikowsky.
4. On what plant does the boll weevil feed?
[a] Mulberry; [b] cotton; [c] potato.

HAPPY RELIEF FROM PAINFUL BACKACHE

Many of those gnawing, nagging, painful backaches people blame on colds or strains are often caused by tired kidneys—and may be relieved when treated in the right way.

The kidneys are Nature's chief way of taking excess acids and poisonous waste out of the blood. Most people pass about 3 pints a day or about 3 pounds of waste.

Frequent or scanty passages with smarting and burning shows there may be something wrong with your kidneys or bladder.

If the 15 miles of kidney tubes and filters don't work well, poisonous waste matter stays in the blood. These poisons may start nagging backaches, rheumatic pains, loss of pep and energy, getting up nights, swelling, puffiness under the eyes, headaches and dizziness.

Don't wait! Ask your druggist for Doan's Pills, used successfully by millions for over 40 years. They give happy relief and will help the 15 miles of kidney tubes flush out poisonous waste from the blood. Get Doan's Pills.

OPEN HARDING'S ART TO PUBLIC IN SEPTEMBER

Lack Facilities for Crowds; Alterations Studied.

The George F. Harding collection of art, collected over a fifty year period, will be displayed to the public beginning in September. Admission will be free but will be limited because of the lack of facilities to handle crowds.

There are no plans for transferring the collection, which is housed in a miniature French castle connected with the Harding home at 4853 Lake Park avenue. All stands as it did when Mr. Harding, Republican national committeeman, died April 2.

Inventory May Be Delayed.

This was learned yesterday from Miss Jessie Katz, president, and Arthur J. Murphy, secretary and treasurer of the George F. Harding Collection, Inc. Miss Katz was Harding's secretary for more than twenty years and Murphy was his attorney for nearly as long. Other directors of the corporation, formed in 1930, are Harding's daughter, Mrs. Mary Thompson of Milwaukee, and Gregory T. Van Meter, former collector of internal revenue. Mr. Van Meter was associated with Harding's father, George F. Harding Sr., who started the collection.

All income of the estate except $1,000 a month for Mrs. Thompson is to go to the corporation for maintenance of the collection. The inventory of the estate, which was estimated at $500,000 in personal property, exclusive of the art collection and $500,000 in real estate, may not be filed in probate court until late this year, Attorney Murphy said.

"The income will determine what the corporation will do," Murphy said. "But the estate is exceedingly complex, including some 400 parcels of real estate, and we have no definite information as to how much money will be available after claims are threshed out in court."

Relocation Called Dead Issue.

Harding intended to have the collection remain on the spacious grounds of his south side home, Murphy said. Back in 1930 Mr. Harding discussed with park officials the feasibility of locating the collection on the lake front but did not make a formal proposal, they recalled yesterday. Murphy said this is a "dead issue."

"There is plenty of room for any additional buildings we might decide are needed," Murphy said. "The present site is convenient to all transportation. Chicago has enough museums centrally located."

He discussed shortcomings of the existing museum building. It was ideal for Mr. Harding, who could conduct friends through a maze of stairways and corridors, but would not easily accommodate crowds, he said. The entrance is through the residence building, up a narrow stairs and through a narrow passageway to the "castle."

New Entrance Suggested.

A new entrance to the "castle" might be provided from the street level, he said, and the residence converted into a series of display halls for the Harding curios.

"The collection is worth at least $5,000,000," Murphy said, using the usual estimate for its value.

Asked whether any segregation will be attempted in the vast assortment of objets d'art of varying rarity, Murphy replied that it will be kept in its present form indefinitly. The corporation is required to keep the collection intact, he added.

Gothic arched doorways and other details make the castle a perfect setting for the array of armor, said to be second in importance in the United States. Figures clothed with ancient mail and equipped with the arms of knighthood are shown praying, in joust, and astride horses.

Ornate Mail Included.

Among the sixty-five coats of mail are some embellished with precious metals. Mr. Harding paid as much as $75,000 for one suit of armor. Much of it was once worn by famous knights and princes. One metal garment was presented by Queen Victoria to the former Kaiser Wilhelm when he was 10 years old.

In all there are fragments and accessories of about 600 knightly outfits. Weapons of earlier ages include stack upon stack of guns inlaid with ivory or gold in delicate and bizarre designs, swords, maces, and cannon. The pistols are said to comprise the second best collection of the kind in this country.

Glassed cases show rare canes which contain daggers, derringers, and, in one instance, a violin. Mr. Harding collected several hundred canes from the four corners of the earth.

HOLD TWO IN ROBBERY ATTEMPT.

Theodore Green, 19 years old, 5821 Perry avenue, and Samuel Nolan, 19, 1312 West 108th street, both colored, were held to the grand jury in the Boys' court yesterday on a charge of attempting to rob a street car conductor.

Sixty-two young singers took part in the contest held in the Chicago Woman's club theater at 72 East 11th street. Five winners were chosen. They will compete next with north and south side winners for a chance to sing in the festival in Soldiers' field the night of Aug. 19.

Wins in Bass Division.

Don Lathrope of 114 North Parkside avenue, a collector for the Crane company, won first place in the bass division with his rendition of Verdi's "In Felice." He is 28.

Robert L. Smith, 23 years old, of 401 Lombard avenue, Oak Park, an insurance clerk who won first place in the 1938 west side division, was awarded second place. William J. Manthei, 29, of 2540 North Bernard street, a bank clerk, won third.

Mrs. Susanna Lar, 3558 Leland avenue, 27, a dark, smiling little housewife who was born in Hawaii of Korean parents, won first place among the twenty-two lyric sopranos. Second place honors were awarded to Miss Lillian Vesely of 159 Addison road, Riverside, 22, and third place to Miss Lane Elton, 17, of 1834 Wenonah avenue, Berwyn, a senior at Morton High school, who was competing in her second festival contest.

Miss Alice Alm Hanson of 300 South Ridgeland avenue, Oak Park, 29, whose mother entered her name without her knowledge, was the winning dramatic soprano. Miss Frances Dittbrenner, 508 Madison street, Oak Park, a designer, won second place, and Miss Jean Rose of 514 South Harvey avenue, Oak Park, was third.

A fair young girl of Lithuanian parentage, Ona Skever, 1655 North Maplewood avenue, was the winning mezzo. She is 22, a typist, and a soloist with the Chicago Lithuanian Chorus Pirmyn. As such, she appeared in twenty-eight concerts in Europe last winter. Mrs. Mildred Brod Smiralia, 5257 Montrose avenue, a beauty operator, won second place. Miss Maude Shuflitowski of 722 Highland avenue, Oak Park, a sophomore at Mundelein college, won third.

Contralto, tenor, and baritone winners were chosen Tuesday night.

Contests for singers living on the south side and within Cook county will start tonight in the Woman's club theater. Tenors, contraltos, and baritones will be heard tonight and sopranos, mezzos, and basses tomorrow. The public is invited. Admission is 25 cents.

WIFE OF FORMER ATTY. GENERAL CUMMINGS DIES

Famed in Capital as Gay, Original Hostess.

Washington, D. C., Aug. 9 (AP).—Mrs. Homer S. Cummings, wife of the former attorney general, died tonight at Ruthven, the home overlooking Rock Creek park, where she built her reputation as a gay and original cabinet hostess. They were married in April, 1929. She had been ill of high blood pressure since she and Mr. Cummings returned from a Florida vacation March 24. An unfavorable heart condition developed July 30.

Mrs. Homer S. Cummings.

Quick wit and keen intelligence helped Cecelia Cummings cut a bright path across the capital's social scene in the nearly six years that her husband was in the New Deal cabinet. She refused to have a social secretary; said it would cramp her style. At small dinner parties—twelve was her guest limit—she invited New Dealers, conservatives, artists, authors, actors, and preachers, then mixed them all up to make an argument.

Mrs. Cummings was born in Darien, Conn., the daughter of the late William Warren Waterbury. She studied at Columbia university and the New School of Social Research in New York City, and later at the Sorbonne and the Alliance Française in Paris.

JOHN P. GRIER, MAKER OF FAMED TAFT BET, IS DEAD

New York, Aug. 9 (AP).—John P. Grier, 71 years old, retired member of the New York Stock exchange and a bachelor, died tonight. Born in Peoria, Ill., he began his business career in St. Louis in the same office with the late Edward R. Stettinius, later a J. P. Morgan partner, and moved to Chicago and New York. At his death he was a special partner in the Wall street firm of Smith, Barney & Co. In 1912 he made a famous bet on the exchange that William Howard Taft would not carry a single state in the presidential election. He lost, but Taft carried only Vermont and Utah. Grier's close friends were the late Henry Clay Frick, steel man, and the late Edward H. Harriman, railroad executive.

DAY BY DAY ON THE FARM
By HOMER O'NEISZ

Keeping Homes Cool.

Aug. 9, 1939.

KEEPING farm homes cool in hot weather is a problem that the families on the Du Page county farm are learning to solve by the simple and easy task of opening and closing windows. That's all there is to it, except that the windows must be opened and closed at the right times.

Some of the boys who formerly lived in the south are trying to teach the other farm families to keep the windows closed during the day to help keep out warm air.

The practice, followed regularly in the south, is to open the windows at night to let in cool air and then close them early in the morning to keep out warm air during the day. For best results the shades are drawn when the windows are closed to keep out the sunlight.

The System Works.

The system works. At least it keeps the houses much cooler than they would be without using it. The only trouble with this homemade plan of air conditioning is that most people in this region seem to have formed a habit of keeping windows open all the time in summer and forget to close them early in the morning.

One of the farmhouses is air conditioned with circulating well water. This house could be kept comfortable all the time, but, because of the window opening habit, it is not uncommon for the boss to come home at night and find the air conditioning system going and the windows open.

The value of birds in furnishing protection against insects has been demonstrated again this year at the farm. When swarms of seventeen year locusts appeared in woodlands early in the summer the men wondered what effect the birds would have on reducing the numbers of locusts and lessening the injury to twigs on the trees where the insects lay their eggs.

Little Evidence of Damage.

The answer now is evident. The locusts did less damage to trees on the farm than anywhere else in the vicinity. They left a trail of dead twigs on thousands of trees throughout northern Illinois, but there is little evidence of their visit in the woods on the farm.

There is more timber on this farm than on most farms around it. There also are more birds, because they are better protected. Birds common at the farm which are known to feed on locusts include the yellow billed cuckoo or rain crow, bluejay, catbird, red headed woodpecker, purple grackle, cardinal, flicker, oriole, and brown thrasher.

This has been a good year for quail and pheasants. There are more covies of both than usual on the farm. These and the many song birds are of great value to the crops each year. In addition to destroying numerous insects, the birds eat large quantities of weed seeds. They eat little grain in the short period that it is ripe in the fields, but live almost entirely upon weed seeds and insects.

CUT MINNEAPOLIS TRIBUNE INTO 2 24-HOUR PAPERS

Minneapolis, Minn., Aug. 9 [Special].—In its morning editions of tomorrow the Minneapolis Tribune will announce that, beginning Monday, Aug. 14, the paper will be divided into two separate entities, each operating on a twenty-four hour basis of news coverage with no duplication of news, comics, or features.

The Sunday Tribune will retain its present title. The evening paper will be known as The Times-Tribune and the morning paper as The Morning Tribune. Heretofore the Tribune has been publishing morning, evening, and Sunday, with considerable duplication in morning and evening issues, but with little duplication of circulation.

The Tribune purchased the Times thirty-five years ago when it absorbed that publication. The present move was prompted by the purchase of the Minneapolis Journal by the Minneapolis Star, both evening papers.

KIN OF FRANCO NAMED CHIEF OF FASCIST COUNCIL

Board Governs Political Course of Spain.

BURGOS, Spain, Aug. 9 (AP).—Ramon Serrano Suner, minister of interior and propaganda, today became chief of the political board of the Falangist [Spanish Fascist] council, which is now an integral part of the government under Generalissimo Franco's reorganization to promote reconstruction of Spain.

Serrano Suner, a brother-in-law of Franco, will serve with Gen. Agustin Munoz Grande, who was named secretary general and chief of the Falangist militia, and Pedro Gamero del Castillo, appointed vice secretary general of Falangist militia.

The appointments were made under a reorganization of the powerful Falange Espanola Tradicionalista, Spain's counterpart of Italy's fascist party, announced last Friday.

War Ministry Split.

A political junta of nineteen members, appointed by Franco as supreme leader, was created in a decree which changed the administrative setup of the Falangist political council and established it as an advisory board to the government with the privilege of proposing legislation.

[Recent reports from Spanish sources in France said the dismissed general, Gonzalo Queipo de Llano, had rallied many army leaders to his support in opposing Serrano Suner and the Falangists.]

In another reorganization step it was announced that Franco, wielding dictatorial power as supreme chief of the government, would be aided by at least three generals in a new cabinet designed to give the nation a strong régime and to put Spain in the ranks of world powers.

Under a decree published today, it was provided specifically that Franco name generals to head new army, air, and navy ministries. The three formerly were combined in one.

Franco Takes Firmer Grip.

It was anticipated that Franco would bring army chiefs into his new cabinet in order to preserve neutrality among Spain's political factions.

In the governmental shakeup Franco himself takes a firm grip upon the government by taking the presidency of the council of national defense, retaining supreme command of all armed forces and his position as president of the council of ministers, and by wiping out the vice presidency of the government, held by Foreign Minister Count Francisco Gomez Jordana.

The generalissimo has yet to name other ministers of his cabinet.

Chile Breaks Off Talks.

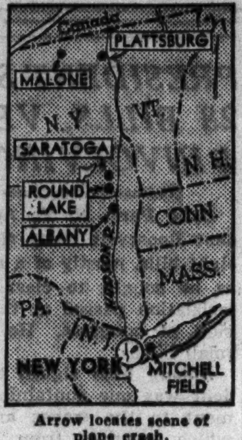
SANTIAGO, Chile, Aug. 9 (AP).—The Chilean foreign ministry announced today it had broken off negotiations with Spain in a dispute over Spanish Republicans [Loyalists] who took refuge in the Chilean embassy in Madrid after the Franco victory last March.

Chile has insisted on the right to take the refugees out of Spain, but the Spanish government has not recognized the doctrine of the right of asylum as applying to them.

Pilots in Crash

Lieut. M. E. Thomas. Lieut. W. M. Prince.
[A. P. Wirephotos.]

Saratoga Springs, N. Y., Aug. 9 [Special.]—Two army flyers were killed today when one of six planes bound for the Plattsburg war maneuvers suddenly dropped out of a mile-high formation and plummeted to a wood near Round Lake.



Arrow locates scene of plane crash.

The victims were Lieut. Morris E. Thomas of St. Petersburg, Fla., and Private Anthony R. Gerrity of Scranton, Pa., both of the 97th observation squadron, based at Mitchel Field, N. Y.

The disabled plane sidewiped another ship as it left the formation, but the second pilot, Lieut. W. M. Prince, commanding the flight, was able to bring his craft and observer safely to earth.

There was some difference of opinion among eyewitnesses as to whether the first plane's motor failed or whether the collision was responsible for its fall.

HATCH ACT HELP TO NEW DEALERS, AIDS NOW BOAST

They're Assuming Farley Will Desert Them.

BY CHESLY MANLY.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., Aug. 9.—The same New Dealers who inveighed against the Hatch "clean politics" bill and professed amazement when President Roosevelt signed it a week ago are boasting now that it will do the President more good than harm.

Their new appraisal of the political effects of the Hatch bill is predicated on the assumption that Postmaster General James A. Farley, chairman of the Democratic national committee, will not support the President for a third term or assist him in the nomination of a New Dealer.

If Farley breaks with the President, the New Dealers declare, the federal jobholders will go with him and with the senators who are the source of their patronage.

Purge Failure Recalled.

Many of the senators are anti-New Dealers, and it is recalled that the federal jobholders refused to co-operate with Mr. Roosevelt's purge campaign against Senator Millard E. Tydings [D., Md.], Senator Walter F. George [D., Ga.], Senator Ellison D. Smith [D., S. C.], Senator Guy M. Gillette [D., Ia.], and others last year.

With the Hatch act as a weapon, Attorney General Frank Murphy can crack down on any federal jobholders who become active in the election of anti-New Deal convention delegates in 1940, according to the current appraisal of the act. Since most of the federal jobholders were expected to be against the New Deal anyway, the President had little to lose and much to gain by the signing of the bill, it is argued by the New Dealers.

Other Faction Disagrees.

Friends of Vice President John N. Garner and other anti-New Deal contenders for the presidential nomination are equally convinced that the Hatch act was a victory for them. They wanted the legislation not only to insulate the federal patronage machine from "pernicious political activity," but to prevent the coercion of relief workers and their families for political purposes.

The anti-New Deal Democrats do not doubt, however, that the possibility of a break between the President and Mr. Farley was a factor in the signing of the Hatch bill. The President made it clear, in his message to congress, that he had many objections to the bill, and the anti-New Dealers do not believe he would have signed it except for some supposed advantage to be gained thereby.

Report Farley on Record.

It is known that Mr. Farley informed Vice President Garner and other friends in the senate, before his recent departure for Europe, that he was opposed to a third term for the President and would tell the President so at the proper time. Farley's friends in the senate say they have good reason to believe that he told the President as much at their subsequent conference at Hyde Park, N. Y.

With all federal jobholders below the rank of assistant department heads supposedly barred from political activity, the administration is expected to make a drive early in the next session of congress for an extension of the Hatch act to state political machines. Most of the state and municipal Democratic machines are expected to be under the domination of the anti-Roosevelt forces, especially if Farley breaks with the President.

Amendments Proposed.

In his message to congress announcing approval of the Hatch bill, Mr. Roosevelt proposed amendments for adoption at the next session, before the next federal election, to cover "the multitude of state and local employés who greatly outnumber federal employés and who may continue to take part in elections in which there are candidates for federal office."

Despite the prohibitions of the Hatch act, New Dealers in Washington are confident that the relief workers will support the President for a third term. The President already has the active support of the communist party and presumably can rely upon the continued support of John L. Lewis' Congress for Industrial Organizations, as well as the unorganized masses who respond to his radio appeals.

Time was needed to make up this loss. It has delayed until now our first big-scale entry into the Bottled in Bond whiskey market.

A good reputation is the one thing in life worth building

Schenley's reputation is founded on the truly American system of selling the highest possible quality at the lowest possible price per unit. A recent impartial and independent survey shows that this square-dealing policy has enabled Schenley to lead the distilling industry today in number of cases sold.

DETECTIVE CHIEF TRACES FIGHT TO DEPORT BRIDGES

Denies Labor Department Requested His Help.

San Francisco, Cal., Aug. 9 [Special].—An investigation conducted by Portland police with a view to deporting Harry Bridges was the idea of Capt. John Keegan, Portland chief of detectives, and resulted from the Oregon city's experience in the 1934 maritime strike, Keegan testified today at the Bridges deportation hearing.

"I never was asked by the department of labor or by any one else to investigate Bridges," Capt. Keegan said. "I investigated him because I wanted to know what he intended to do in Portland.

"I wanted to know about, and be prepared for, any strikes that might be called—we had a bitter experience during the 1934 waterfront strike because we weren't prepared properly to police the waterfront then."

Called by Bridges' Lawyers.

Keegan was called by defense lawyers in an effort to show that improper inducements were offered for testimony branding Bridges a communist and that there was a tieup between investigators and anti-labor interests.

Bridges rose from obscurity to national notice as leader of waterfront strikes in 1934 and 1936. Keegan said he first became interested in the Australian alien during the 1937 convention of the Maritime Federation of the Pacific in Portland, which Bridges attended as president of the International Longshoremen's and Warehousemen's union.

Keegan testified concerning his tieup with Stanley M. Doyle, former Oregon special agent who the defense maintains is the mainspring of the attempt to deport Bridges.

"Doyle came to me for help," said Capt. Keegan. "I assigned Sergt. William Brown to work with him."

Information Is Shared.

Keegan denied that Roy Norene, Portland immigration officer, and R. P. Bonham, Seattle immigration chief, had asked him to send men to Los Angeles and San Francisco to gather evidence against Bridges. He said, however, he had given the immigration department certain information he had obtained.

Keegan was questioned concerning a trip Sergt. Brown made to Los Angeles to contact John L. Leech, a former communist party organizer. [Previous testimony has been that Sergt. Brown failed to get an affidavit from Leech branding Bridges a communist, and that Doyle later persuaded Leech to go to Portland and make such an affidavit.]

Capt. Keegan said Sergt. Brown made a report following his talk with Leech, stating that Leech was willing to answer a subpena in the Bridges case at any time.

ACTORS AWAITING FIRST CURTAIN IN UNION SQUABBLE

Both Sides Ready for Tilt Before A. F. L.

Atlantic City, N. J., Aug. 9 [Special].—Entertainment stars of radio, screen, and stage converged on Atlantic City tonight ready for the fight expected tomorrow when their muddled union affairs are taken up by the executive council of the American Federation of Labor.

From Hollywood by chartered plane came nine film notables singing the song of the actors' strike of 1919. Their leader, Ralph Morgan, announced that 30,000 actors might withdraw in a bloc from the A. F. of L. unless they receive satisfaction.

On the other side of the controversy are the stagehands, whose behind the scenes work equally is essential in the theatrical world. Their directors, as ready for tomorrow's affray as the actors, also have indicated they will strike if they lose out.

Puts A. F. of L. on Spot.

The decision will be a difficult one for President William Green of the A. F. of L. and his council, for both unions are powerful.

However, Green said he thought the council would end the hearing by nightfall tomorrow and probably will return a clearcut decision on Friday. He predicted the disputant unions will be ordered to take some definite action at once instead of withholding a decision pending further investigation.

The trouble started several weeks ago when the Associated Actors and Artists of America, known as the 4-A, expelled one of its twelve affiliates on a charge of executive mismanagement. The expelled subsidiary, headed by Sophie Tucker, is the American Federation of Actors. It is composed of 10,000 night club, vaudeville, and circus performers—one-third the membership of the 4-A.

New Union Created.

The 4-A created a new union expected to hold the expelled union's membership. But, instead, Miss Tucker led her group into the stagehands' union and was given a charter.

Actors in various other theatrical groups all over the country were incensed over the stagehands taking in an expelled union. They expressed the fear this was just the beginning of further encroachments by the stagehands upon actors' unions.

The actors have demanded that the A. F. of L. council reprimand the stagehands and order them to rescind the charter so that Miss Tucker's followers will have to return to the protection of the 4-A.

PRESIDENT SIGNS 28 BILLS, VETOES 9 INVOLVING CASH

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Hyde Park, N. Y., Aug. 9.—President Roosevelt today signed twenty-eight bills, mostly of a minor nature, as he sought to clear his desk of legislation passed at the recent session of congress. He vetoed nine small bills.

Among bills signed by the President was one containing an amendment to the wages and hours act which exempts from provisions of the law operators of switchboards in towns with less than 500 subscribers.

In three of his veto statements, Mr. Roosevelt sounded an economy note. He refused approval of a bill providing for improvement, estimated to cost $1,000,000, in certain highways in the Shenandoah National park. He also vetoed an act granting pensions to 168 children of civil war veterans who are ineligible because they were more than 16 years of age at the time of the veteran's death.

Looking at Hollywood
By Ed Sullivan

Glamor

Hollywood, Cal., Aug. 9.—In "Lady of the Tropics" Hedy La Marr proves beyond any possible doubt that she is the most startling beauty ever to reach the screen. . . . Perhaps there have been women to match the compelling loveliness of Hedy, but you can mark me down as one of the doubters. . . Certainly, there is no girl in Hollywood who can top her, or even tie The La Marr.

They tell me, the historians, that Helen of Troy was quite a girl. . . . Others aver that Cleopatra was some shucks as a looker. . . . Mona Lisa's inscrutability has been accepted by many as mysterious beauty. . . . Venus de Milo, with or without arms, had a chassis that beggared comparison. . . . You can have them all, my little chickadees, and I'll give you twelve points and take Hedy.

In my time I have seen some lookers . . . Marlene Dietrich ain't hay. . . . Lili Damita had a quality of attractiveness that made you sit up and take notice when she breezed into a room. . . . Dolores Del Rio has a polished sleekness and coloring that arrest attention. . . . The late Marilyn Miller was gorgeous. . . . Garbo, Madeleine Carroll, Merle Oberon, and Patricia Morrison have caused disturbances.

In the old days Barbara Lamarr made eyes pop. . . . Lillian Lorraine, Evelyn Nesbit and Dolores, of the "Follies," were stunners. . . . They tell me that Lillian Russell had a perfection of face and feature that stopped hansom cab trafic. . . . The duchess of Kent has chic. . . . Take 'em all, brother. . . . I'll take Hedy.

Loretta Young, Anita Louise, Imogene Wilson, Vilma Banky, Carmel Myers, and Nita Naldi just about represented the alpha and omega of feminine appeal. . . . Mary Kirk Browne, the youngster who has just hit the page one headlines when she first arrived on Broadway did not have to take a back seat to any of them. . . . Billie Dove was a knockout.

Corinne Griffith, Gladys Glad, Jean Harlow, Agnes Ayres, Gwili Andre, Rene de Marco, Yolanda, Janice Jarrett, Betty Lomax, Ethelyn Holt, Mae Murray, the late Olive Thomas, Mrs. William Rhinelander Stewart, and June Lang would have supporters in any beauty sweepstakes. . . .

Aviatrix Ruth Elder was unusually pretty. . . . There are professional models who can match Ann Sheridan oomph for oomph. . . . But Hedy La Marr would be the winner in any photo finish.

"Lady of the Tropics," coming on top of "Algiers," proves positively that cameras never have been trained on any one so photogenic as Hedy. . . . In one scene she puts on a hat frontwards, backwards, and sideways while posing in front of a mirror. . . . She looked gorgeous each time. . . . Girls in the audience moaned when she accomplished it, a low moan of anguish. . . . "After I see her on the screen," confided one famous screen beauty, "I leave the theater without even stopping to look in my mirror. What's the use?"

Director Jack Conway, Writer Ben Hecht, and Cameraman George Folsey can take a low bow on "Lady of the Tropics." . . . In every way this picture was the most unwelcome assignment in Hollywood. . . . You will remember that after she completed "Algiers" Miss La Marr went into "I Take This Woman," which was shelved after an expenditure of three-quarters of a million dollars.

After that happened every director in town shuddered at the thought of getting the next assignment. . . . Conway got it and did a grand job. . . . Folsey, who had been Joan Crawford's cameraman, did a magnificent job of photography. . . . Hecht's script, limited to certain definite lines, was just what the studio wanted.

Miss La Marr, after "Algiers," was condemned with faint praise. . . . Nobody disputed that she was gorgeous, but it was believed that her lack of technique as an actress would wash up her career aborning.

The hecklers won round two when "I Take This Woman" was shelved. . . . In this third picture Hedy wins the last laugh because she handles her lines and scenes with the assurance of a trouper. . . . Her acting has improved tremendously. . . . I doubt if she'll ever win an academy award from Bette Davis, but when you look like that you don't have to.

The subject of beauty always has been first rate news. . . . The history of the world has been tied to it. . . . It has spurred men to build skyscrapers, launch boats, write poems. . . . It has turned cravens into heroes. . . . It has inspired great literature, great painting, great music. . . . So Hedy La Marr, on beauty alone, is an important personage.

In the old days the minstrels would have gone about the countryside singing about this dark haired knockout drop. . . . The knights of the round table would have engaged in tourneys to win her hand. . . . Sir Walter Scott would have used her as a plaster model for his heroines.

Tennyson would have abjured the babbling brook. . . . Marc Antony would have given Cleopatra the go-by. . . . Helen of Troy would have been supplanted as a launcher of ships. . . . Shakespeare would have had a new Juliet for his balcony scene. . . . But this is 1939. . . . Hedy gets only the distinction of a syndicate column, filed from Sunset and Vine.

Nancy Blaine Is Courier for Nurse Service

BY JUDITH CASS.

IN May, 1925, two nurses with headquarters in a five room cabin and serving 50 square miles of rural Kentucky started the Frontier Nursing service. Supported at first by a strong local committee, the organization has expanded until it serves 700 square miles in the Kentucky mountains, and its support comes through a national board of trustees.

Mrs. John Alden Carpenter, Mrs. Charles S. Frost, Mrs. Donald R. McLennan, Mrs. Frederic W. Upham, and Mrs. Edgar C. Franco-Ferreira are the Chicago women on the national board of trustees. Some of them have daughters who have gone to Wendover, Ky., to make up a volunteer courier service that has proved to be indispensable to the nurse-midwives of the nursing staff.

The only Chicago girl to go to the service as a courier this summer is Miss Nancy Blaine, daughter of Mrs. Clark J. Lawrence and granddaughter of Mrs. Emmons Blaine. Miss Blaine, a debutante of a year ago, was in Upper St. Regis, N. Y., with the Lawrences and her little sister, Audrey Lawrence, who is five. On Aug. 1 Miss Blaine left for Wendover. Until Sept. 14 she will perform the hundreds of odd tasks that fall to couriers. Then it will be time to prepare to return to Vassar.

A knowledge of horsemanship and the care of horses is an important requisite of couriers. Miss Blaine must score high on those two counts, and with her love of horses she will enjoy particularly riding on errands between the service's nine centers. These jaunts will take her through beautiful mountainous country where masses of goldenrod, iron weed, and devil's paint brush glow.

Currying horses, cleaning the saddle rooms, painting furniture, hanging curtains, delivering messages taking children to clinics, and escorting guests around the centers are other duties of couriers. On a waiting list to serve next spring are the names of Miss Nancy Dammann, who also was a debutante last season; Miss Virginia Watson, Miss Dot Behan, and Miss Barbara Ingersoll.

Frederic Woodwards at Michigan Resort.

Mr. and Mrs. Frederic C. Woodward and their daughters, Miss Nancy and Miss Emmy Lou Freund and Miss Jean Woodward, have left for Lakeside, Mich., to spend five weeks. Mrs. Woodward has had whooping cough, and hopes to recover completely at Lakeside.

Mrs. Charles H. Conrad, who now lives in Tryon, N. C., also has been suffering from this disease. She was in Chicago during her illness. She and Mr. Conrad have left for Wequetonsing, Mich., and a trip east.

The Edward De Witt Shumways, their debutante daughter, Miss Grace Shumway, and their son, Edward Jr., have left for Charlevoix to occupy their cottage at the Chicago club during August.

Mrs. J. Ogden Armour, who is at her summer home at Long Lake, Mich., has Mr. and Mrs. Joseph O. Watkins as her guests until the end of the month. Mrs. Armour will not return to Lake Forest before October.

The Angus Hibbards have gone to Lake Owen, Wis., to occupy their cottage at Eagle Knob Lodge.

The Albert A. Spragues have leased a cottage in Baltimore row at White Sulphur Springs, W. Va., for the rest of the summer.

Mr. and Mrs. C. Frederick Childs are expected at home today from a five week vacation in Europe.

Althea Cunningham to Visit Grandparents.

Althea Cunningham, who attends the Edgewood school in Greenwich, Conn., is expected to visit her grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Secor Cunningham, at their summer home in Hyannisport, Mass. Mrs. Albert B. Dick has been visiting the Cunninghams. Mr. and Mrs. Secor Cunningham Jr. are planning to spend November in Honolulu.

Mr. and Mrs. Edwin Ruthven Moore Jr. [Mary Wilson Clokey] are being congratulated on the birth of a son, Michael Clokey, on Monday at the Presbyterian hospital. The baby has a little brother. They are grandsons of the A. Wilson Clokeys of Hinsdale.

This little comedy presents the popular Leo Carrillo as a Mexican Robin Hood. Leader of a gang which robs the rich to help the poor, he gets along beautifully until he encounters the Dove, a dancer who performs at the Blue Pigeon. She and the American boy she loves teach El Rayo that he can't have everything his own way.

The rôle of the dashing bandit with a heart of gold is well suited to Mr. Carrillo and the audience found his linguistic difficulties amusing. Miss Duna does some capable dancing.

"INVITATION TO THE WALTZ."
Released by J. H. Hoffberg Co.
Directed by Paul Merzbach.
Presented at the Sonotone theater.

THE CAST.

Jenny Peachey	Lilian Harvey
Max	Carl Esmond
Duke of Wurtemburg	Harold Warrender
Von Weber	Richard Bird
Napoleon	Esme Percey

This is a long, lavish and dull costume picture, all about the patriotic little dancer who allows her name to be besmirched through her association with the duke of Wurtemburg. She's as pure as the driven snow, of course, and only allows him to spend money on her. The plan is to break him financially so that his need of funds will force him to accept England's proffered price for soldiers.

Most of the cast is adequate, but Miss Harvey interprets Jenny as one of the silliest simpering idiots it has ever been my misfortune to have to watch.

Some rather pleasant music, hampered by bad sound.

Through the Looking Glass

If your chance to bask in the sun has been delayed until now, and you are ready to acquire a coat of tan without the discomfort of burning, don't fail to protect your skin with a good sunburn preventive.

A preparation that became popular in Florida last year is offered in two forms, both designed to develop a rich, even tan and to protect the skin from burning. One is an oil and the other a cream. The choice is simply personal preference.

The oil is a thin, violet colored one with a slight antiseptic fragrance that is noticeable in the container, but completely disappears when used. The oil can be smoothed over the skin quickly, forming a protective film that is not sticky and will not rub off on your clothes.

The cream form of this preventive is pale orchid color, comes in a small jar and looks like a thin wax. It's also easy to apply.

Use either form of this preventive generously. You'll then be assured of several hours of protection whether you are in swimming or just soaking up the sun. If your skin is sensitive, it is always wise to repeat the application from time to time, particularly after coming out of the water.

We offer a word of warning. Be sure to cover every bit of skin surface that will be reached by the sun's rays. An example was brought home to us recently by a girl who spent several hours lolling on the beach. She thought she had coated all the skin area exposed to the sun with a sufficient amount of a protective.

She wore a pair of beach shoes that covered her feet. The tops, however had about a two inch square of open string mesh. It never occurred to her—until later—that this insert left her toes exposed to the sun. The resulting squares of blistered skin were extremely painful.

A Wine Shade Is Popular at Paris Showings

BY RHEA SEEGER.

PARIS [By Mail].—There's a new color that is especially smart with dark costumes. It is a Burgundy called Bordeaux wine red. Large handbags, stunning new fall footwear and matching gloves are carefully keyed so that the same rich shade is exactly repeated in every costume accessory. This wine red is the best excitement of the season.

Smooth calfskin makes the best of the handbags, some being even more eye-catching because of the contrast of pale beige in the stitching. Big affairs have handsome bands that trim them as well as serve as handle straps. Huge long envelopes as well as unusual shapes in cut cornered squares, come in suede and calfskin.

A dark, rich shade of wine red is striking after seasons of variations on blue, brown, or green. This deep Burgundy tone should be especially popular for street and daytime clothes. It goes with navy blue, surprisingly well with black, and is completely a knockout with apple green, old gold, and gray. Smooth woolens as well as tweeds are correct background contrasts for this handsome shade of Burgundy red.

Paris, as every glove collector knows, has fascinating collections of gloves—gloves that go with every possible costume color scheme. Fall showings stress such tones as Burgundy, a new and extremely interesting French turquoise, tobacco brown, and other shades ranging from light beige to old gold.

Most of the classics are still the slip-ons, some short enough to crush softly at the wrists; others longer, and still others with dramatically flared cuffs. Hand sewn seams and details and small appliqued designs make them discreetly decorative. Some have small leaves appliqued on the backs, some have appliqued bow-knots, some chevron formations, and some boast intricate narrow criss-cross band designs on the deep cuffs.

Cut-out gloves giving the effect of coarse lace are dress parade finds equal to any gala costume, being grand ideas for afternoon outfits. The entire glove down to each finger tip on the outside is in this lacy effect. The colors are good enough to pass the experts—carbon blue, Tuscan red, cerise, almond green, powder pinks and blues, oyster white, pale flesh, and good black.

Pigskin gloves are scheduled for a big fashion comeback. These swanky gloves are no longer rated just for tweeds or spectator sports clothes. The pigskin is so soft and the colors and styles so varied that pigskin can be worn from dawn to dark.

Glowing gold tints, dye jobs in Burgundy, russet, forest green, deep blues, and a few light shades, assure a good assortment. Bags of the same pigskin, in the exact shade of the gloves, are abundant in every style, shape, and size. Even the gadgets—clips, belts, vanity cases, and clip watches, come in pigskin that is soft and supple as suede.

Southern Luncheon.

The menu of a luncheon served some travelers in the Purefoy hotel in Talladega, Ala., last week consisted of some forty-three items, including roast chicken, dressing, roast beef, meat balls with spaghetti, snap beans and pork, spinach with eggs, black-eyed peas, oranges stuffed with sweet potatoes, sliced tomatoes, stewed tomatoes, butter beans, macaroni and cheese, hot biscuits, cornbread, and numerous other items.

When the travelers asked the colored waiter how on earth they planned the menu, he answered: "O, we jes' keeps on addin' a little."

About Tips.

Do you know why the sum you leave beside your plate in a restaurant is called a tip? It's the modern version of a custom that had its origin in the old English coffee house days, according to Walter Morton, president of the Chicago Café and Tavern association. The method of tipping in those times was to drop a coin as you left, in a box on the wall which had inscribed above it, To Insure Promptness. The legend became abbreviated to T. I. P.

Hide and Seek with Hitler.

Two young French girls who have been visiting in Chicago told an older woman they want to go to Salzburg when they return to Europe. And when she expressed her distaste for Hitler and wondered why they should care to go to a Hitler-dictated land they said they liked Germany and Austria very much. They had visited in Berlin, they said, at the home of a school friend whose father was French ambassador to Germany. When there were parties they were permitted to come down before dinner and meet the guests. They had met Hitler on one such occasion and had liked him very much.

"We played hide and seek with him," one of them added.

This tale was repeated and the hearer added her comment on the matter.

"Too bad anybody found him," she said.

SYNOPSIS.

Lee Reynolds, promoter of children's acts, in the days before motion pictures, is attracted to the tenement flat of the Lichts by the Christmas carols sung by their little daughter, Josefa. Next day he calls with his wife and persuades the Lichts to let him take Josefa into his home and train her for the stage. Two older children, Lena and Eddie, live with the Reynolds.

INSTALMENT IV.

THE CHILDREN'S ACT.

One night at dinner when the salad was passed, plain crisp lettuce from Florida with French dressing, Josefa began to burble and gurgle with excitement and anticipation.

"She's mad," said Lee Reynolds fondly. "Josefa's mad." And he tasted his salad. Then he seemed to listen as if to distant music, and then tasted it again.

"Did you mix the dressing, Sarah?"

"No, sir."

"My compliments to cook. It's perfect."

"That's because the lettuce was first painted over with the oil, sir."

"That's a new one on me."

"It was a new one on cook and me, sir."

"Something she got out of a book, I suppose?"

"No, sir, she didn't, and cook didn't mix the dressing herself, neither." Josefa could no longer suppress herself or withhold information.

With an ecstatic cry of "ImixadressingdidunISarah" she slid from the unabridged Webster on which she sat at meals to be tall enough to eat, and danced about the table repeating her cry of self adulation "ImixadressingdidunISarah." And then locked her right instep behind her left tendon Achilles, or, as they say of horses, "interfered," and fell flat. As usual she was not in the least hurt and picked herself up bubbling with laughter and dusting herself.

"That settles it," exclaimed Lee Reynolds, "that settles it. The girl that is old enough to mix that dressing is old enough to go to the opening on Monday night."

"Of course if you say so," said Mrs. Reynolds a little doubtfully.

"I do say so. It's time she got the feel of the theater. Come here, Josefa. Now who taught you to paint the lettuce with the oil?"

It developed, of course, that it was Mama Licht's inherited way of dealing with a plain French dressing and that Josefa had sometimes been allowed to help with the painting.

On Monday night a new theater dedicated to vaudeville was to open with a strong bill. Lee Reynolds' child act went on at 9 o'clock so that the performers could be home and in bed by 10. It followed the Swiss bell ringers [from Hoboken] and preceded the trained seal who could bark up to seven, who with half a chance could have balanced the national budget on the point of his nose, who always applauded his own act and who gave Josefa a limp flapper to shake when she was introduced to him. His breath smelled of fish.

There were twelve children in Lee Reynolds' act, and no adults. From out front the set looked like the interior of a very wicked old woman's parlor. From where Josefa stood damply clutching Mrs. Reynolds' hand, it looked like nothing at all. There was a tiny upright piano that any child could push here and there and there was a door which was supposed to lead down to a horrid cellar filled with bats and cobwebs and lesson books where the children spent most of their time when the wicked old woman was at home and where they were supposed to spend all of their time when she wasn't, or she would be at pains to learn the reason why.

Suddenly one entire side of the room, the side opposite the fireplace went up in the air, and Josefa was aware of a great emptiness filled with blackness. But before her eyes had begun to pick out pale faces and shirtfronts in the blackness she heard a terrible cracked voice speaking just over her head and looking up discovered that it came out of Mrs. Reynolds' kind mouth.

"Let that be a lesson to you, children," the voice creaked and cracked. "Keep your mouths shut until I tell you to open them. And remember there's no telling when I'll be back."

Then with her clever high heeled feet Mrs. Reynolds made the sounds of a wicked old woman going away. She did a beautiful diminuendo from FF to nothing. And then the front of the tall grandfather clock opened and out whisked Lena dressed in rags and whisked across the stage to the cellar door all the way on the tips of her toes and unbolted the door and let the other ragged children out.

Lena: Hist! The wicked old woman has gone to the bank to count her money. She won't be back for ages.

Eddie: Well, you know the old saying.

Chorus of children:

When the cat's away
The mice will play
Play all night and play all day.
Whoop tarara
Siss Boom Aah!

Minnie: But how can we play properly in these ragged clothes?

Eddie: You never spoke a truer word so let's put on our Sunday best.

Then all the ragged clothes fell off the children and they appeared all dressed up like princes and princesses in picture books and they threw all the ragged clothes into a corner and began to dance as they did so. And little Jojo sang a solo which was about a cat:

There was an old Tabby
And what do you think?
She had nothing to live on
But victuals and drink
Victuals and drink were the chief of her diet
But this pesky old Tabby could never keep quiet.

So

Chorus of children:

When the cat's away
The mice will play
Play all night and play all day
Whoop tarara
Siss Boom Aah!

Eddie: All of which reminds me that I am an aching void and there is food in the larder.

JoJo: You spoke a mouthful that time, Captain [beats time].

Children in chorus move off stage toward imaginary larder.

By this clever stage device America's most popular boy soprano was left alone to sing a popular song of the moment which had tears in it, But unhappily during the last two minutes Eddie had undergone a strange and little understood change. It happens to every boy sometime. Sometimes it happens gradually. Sometimes it happens all at once. Eddie was no longer a boy. He was not yet a man. His first sweet clear note broke into a croaking rumble of sound.

Eddie's presence of mind did not leave him. He grinned from ear to ear, dimples twinkled at the corners of his mouth and one in the middle of his chin. The audience broke into applause. They thought that he had made the strange noise on purpose.

Eddie shot one harassed glance at Mrs. Reynolds and Josefa in the wings and his voice drowned by applause uttered one poignant word, "Help!"

This was a word which Josefa understood. Eddie was calling for help. She dropped Mrs. Reynolds' hand like a hot coal and ran to him. Midway she interfered and fell flat. She got up bubbling with laughter and dusting herself.

The blackness on her left roared its delight and Eddie had a moment of inspiration. He caught her under the armpits and swung her to the top of the little upright piano and seated her on it. Then his hand on his heart he bowed low to her. Then he seated himself on the piano stool, and playing over and over a little prelude he kept whispering so that no one could hear him but Josefa:

"Sing Pilly wink—sing Pilly wink."

Working Wife Must Protect Husband's Ego

BY DORIS BLAKE.

[Copyright: 1939: News Syndicate Co., Inc.]

Career girls should pick a husband who loves his work. If both are ambitious they can help each other. They can get ahead faster and have a better time. Because of their independent interests and contacts, they'll have more to give each other. A working wife is more likely to understand her husband's problems and be a better companion to him.

But the girl who wants to go on working shouldn't marry a man who is in the least lazy, lacking in ambition, or less gifted than herself. Nor a man who hasn't much self-confidence. If he is the least bit inclined to be easy going, her energy may make him positively lazy. Her success may discourage him and kill what ambition he has. Even a fairly average worker doesn't always flourish with too much competition from his wife.

We know of one man who lapsed into complete idleness when his wife outstripped him. To regain his sense of manhood he became a domestic tyrant in the home. In another marriage, a bank book broke up the home. The wife's incoming checks were larger. The husband resented it and grew so disagreeable she finally divorced him.

The wife who works needs to be extra tactful, extra feminine, and never rub in her success. If she's clever she will make him feel that his inspiration, his help, and suggestions are helping her get ahead. She may even have to conceal it if she is really smarter than her mate. Maybe it is masculine egotism, but no man likes to feel his wife is dwarfing him.

One doesn't like shrimps, crabmeat, lobster and other saladable seafoods just "fairly well," as a rule. A person who likes shrimps, for example, usually loves them. Given the opportunity, he'll make away with the better part of a chilled can or dishful of fresh cooked shrimps any time of day or night, dipping them into catsup or chili sauce and popping them one by one into his mouth, sighing with pleasure all the while.

If there are seafood enthusiasts of this type in your family, and if you want to make them very happy, you'll try one of these seafood salads for luncheon any warm day.

Shrimp Salad Bowl.
[Serves Four.]

2 cups canned or fresh cooked shrimps
¼ cup chopped sweet pickle or stuffed olives
½ cup diced celery
4 hard cooked eggs, sliced
⅓ teaspoon salt
2 tablespoons lemon juice
Mayonnaise or cooked dressing
Lettuce

Clean the shrimps and chill them for an hour in the French dressing. Or achieve the same effect by soaking them in pickle or olive liquid. Drain and combine with eggs, pickle or olives, celery and eggs. Sprinkle with salt. Add lemon juice to salad dressing and fold it into the salad until the combination is well moistened. Pile in lettuce lined salad bowl and garnish with peeled, quartered tomatoes. Serve salad very cold.

VARIATIONS.

1. Serve the combination in an avocado half, or in a tomato case.
2. Add a tablespoon or so of capers to the combination.
3. Omit pickle, add a teaspoon of onion juice to the dressing, and 2 tablespoons each of diced pimiento and green pepper.
4. Omit two of the eggs and add ½ cup cooked peas.
5. Make the salad with crabmeat, lobster, salmon or tuna instead of shrimps.

Shrimp, Cucumber and Apple Salad.
[Serves Four.]

1½ cups cooked or canned shrimp
French dressing or lemon juice
1 apple, sliced
1 cucumber, sliced
Celery hearts or curls
Lettuce, mayonnaise

Marinate shrimps in French dressing or lemon juice for an hour, and drain. Dip apple slices in lemon juice. Arrange overlapping half circles of crisp cucumber on lettuce leaves. Place another row of apple slices inside this, and the shrimp at the center of the fan shape. Top with mayonnaise and garnish with celery hearts or curls.

Swedish Fish Salad.
[Serves Four.]

Salad.
1 cup broken cooked or canned shrimps
1 cup flaked salmon or tuna
1 cup cooked peas
2 tablespoons minced parsley
½ teaspoon salt

Dressing.
2 hard cooked egg yolks
1 raw egg yolk
¼ cup top milk
2 tablespoons lemon juice
1 cup whipped cream
Salt and pepper
Sliced beets, lettuce

Combine salad ingredients and chill. Sieve the cooked egg yolks, add raw yolk, and milk. Fold in cream and season to taste. Dress salad and serve on lettuce with garnish of sliced beets and chopped egg whites.

Serve a dessert that's fresh from the refrigerator. You'll like the recipes in Mary Meade's booklet, "33 Refrigerator Cakes." It's on sale for 3 cents at the Tribune Public Service offices, 1 South Dearborn street, and Tribune Tower, or will be mailed to you for 5 cents in stamps.

Aug. 10, 1939.

Work constructively today. Those with the combination of 8 [August] and 1 [10] are invariably leaders and strongly individual. This is the year in which they have important work to do. They should classify, analyze, and catalog so that they have steady, sure plans worked out for the years ahead. There can be no shirking for them now. This month offers the best period for relaxing effort a little, and for enjoying social life, but next month the accent on work will be the strongest of the year. HAROLD TEEN—EVERY DAY LILLUMS HAS A KNIGHT

According to CULBERTSON

[Copyright: 1939: By Ely Culbertson.]

"Dear Mr. Culbertson: The following hand, played at a twenty-four table match-point duplicate in Norway, caused more trouble and more variations in bidding and play than any other hand I ever have seen:

"There was a multiplicity of contracts. At two tables, four spades doubled was made with an overtrick when East opened the diamond queen. The same contract at two other tables was held to just four when East opened the singleton club. Three rounds of clubs were played, East ruffing the third, but then he made the bad guess of shifting to a diamond, North's void suit, and this gave declarer two entries to dummy for successive spade finesses through West. Obviously, a heart shift by East after ruffing the third club would have defeated the contract since West's spade trick could not have been picked up. This latter defense actually happened at thirteen tables and the declarer was down one. At other tables there were all sorts of other contracts, good and bad, but at my table I was extremely fortunate to get into a five club redoubled contract which, after fulfilment, gave us absolute top on the board. Our bidding was:

South	West	North	East
1 club	1 no trump	3 spades	Pass
3 no trump	Double	5 clubs	Pass
Pass	Double	Redouble	Pass
Pass	Pass

"West opened his lowest spade and I let it ride to my jack. I cashed both red aces, then ruffed a diamond, led a trump from dummy and covered East's ten with the jack. West won and made a good return of the diamond king, thus forcing dummy. Now I cashed the A-K of spades, discarding my last diamond on the latter, then ruffed a spade with the club deuce. West, of course, had to follow. I led the five of hearts and ruffed with dummy's club eight, then led another spade and ruffed with the club king. You will notice that West was helpless. If he decided to overruff and return a trump, dummy's nine would win and the established spade would let me discard my heart eight. If he failed to overruff, my king would hold and I would then ruff my last heart with the club nine. The only thing I was a little proud of was the fact that I was alert to ruff with the king instead of the seven. If I had chosen the latter card, West could have overruffed with the ace and returned the six; then I would have found myself in my own hand with the club king and, of course, would have had to concede a heart trick.—C. N. H., Chicago."

The hand was well played and declarer deserved credit for bringing home the redoubled contract. I might point out, however, that if the spade ten had been played at the first trick, declarer's troubles would have been over. He then could have led a club from dummy and not bothered with ruffing his losers, planning instead to establish dummy as the master hand. This also could have been done after the first trick was won in the closed hand but, of course, it is more desirable to lead trumps up to a K-J combination than away from it. As my correspondent pointed out, the crucial play under the plan used was the club king instead of the club seven at the eleventh trick.

Sampler for the Living Room Has Colonial Charm

BY NANCY CABOT.

Especially if your home is done in the Colonial motif will this sampler be appropriate. It is so simple, and in such good taste, however, that it will fit well into any decoration scheme, particularly over the fireplace or in a corner with a lamp and books. The embroidery is simple to execute, since only the easiest stitches are employed. The sketch gives a guide to colors of floss to use. Green, naturally, would be the shade for the trees, with the flowers almost any hue you wish, and the building according to taste.

For the hot iron transfer pattern of the sampler, No. X-4334, send 10 cents in stamps or coin to the Needlework Bureau, Chicago Tribune, 220 Fifth avenue, New York City.

Grandma Can Find Much to Enjoy in Child

BY GLADYS HUNTINGTON BEVANS.

[Copyright: 1939: News Syndicate Co., Inc.]

It was one of those hot mornings, but she looked young, and crisp, and cool, I noticed, as she stepped down from the bus. But her heels were almost stilts and she had on so much heavy lipstick that it made her face look a little hard.

Ahead of me she rushed, evidently trying to make connections. Then I saw her stop suddenly. As I turned the corner there she stood, her face all soft and shining, her arm around the shoulders of a cozy, dumpy little grandmother [or great-grandmother, perhaps] who regarded her with a welcoming smile as they chattered like two magpies.

Pretty nice, I thought to myself. That's the way young people and grandparents should be together.

It's one of the rich experiences in life for a boy and girl to enjoy their grandparents and, of course, it's an equally rich experience for grandparents to enjoy their grandchildren. Youth and age have something to give each other and to gain from each other, and they can do both if the relationship is right. But a number of things enter into its being so.

To begin with, the attitude of the parents is a factor. To take just one phase, I remember at the moment repeated instances of flagrant disrespect shown to a grandmother by a grandson who really loved her. And why? Because the boy's father, the grandmother's son-in-law, treated her with antagonism and referred to her in the boy's hearing with contempt. So the way in which the parents feel and act toward the grandparents colors the children's attitude. And I don't mean just in the matter of considerateness, but in many other ways.

One of these is exemplified in letting grandma have the enjoyment of the children without too much of their care and discipline.

On the other side—well, I believe grandparents have to earn the love and confidence of their grandchildren.

Sally's Friends Will See Cubs in Game Today

BY SALLY JOY BROWN.

[Activities of the Sally Joy Brown department are sponsored by Tribune Charities, Inc.]

The long awaited day has come, boys and girls. It's party day!

I know 100 little baseball fans who don't need to be reminded of that and they're the lucky youngsters who'll see the Chicago Cubs play Cincinnati this afternoon. It's a grand treat for any child, and I know my guests are thrilled with the prospect. If you think you're likely to be so excited that you might forget your invitation better tie a string around your finger.

I'm sure you won't want to miss a minute of the game, so let's not have any late comers today.

I'll see you baseball fans this afternoon. One week from today I'll be meeting 100 theater fans. They'll be the fifty boys and girls who will be selected as my guests for our Jack and Jill party, and I'm going to read their letters and select my guests this morning. So keep your fingers crossed until you see the list of winners which will be printed in next Sunday's TRIBUNE.

Frock Has Smart Fullness

SIZES 11-19

FROCK IN JUNIOR SIZES.

Fullness is still important, and particularly so in the new fall frocks. But it must be strategically placed fullness or it will be unfashionable. The lines of this dress have the fullness placed cleverly, and it's the sort of frock only slim figures should wear, so we've designed it in sizes up to 19 only.

The shoulder detail is interesting. The yoke effect has a heart shaped line. There's breadth to the shoulders because the sleeves are puffed high and handsomely. The bodice has sufficient fullness for softness, because of the vertical tucks at the waist which release the folds into the skirt, too.

If you wish, give the yoke and sleeves some ruffled or lace edging. The frock by no means demands such treatment, for it is chic just as it is.

Style No. 2629 is designed for sizes 11, 13, 15, 17, and 19. Size 15 requires 3¼ yards of 39 inch material.

Address orders for Clotilde patterns to Chicago Tribune, P. O. Box 537, Grand Central station, NEW YORK CITY, including 10 cents in stamps or coin (coin preferred—wrap it carefully) for each pattern ordered. IMPORTANT! Be sure to state clearly the number of the pattern and the size desired, and write your name and address plainly.

The Housewife

Here's a grand new way to get rid of those annoying corners that always collect dust and dirt. Provide yourself with some of the clever new metal shields that you simply press into any corner. These shields have little claws that attach them firmly to any wooden surface.

Your corner immediately becomes rounded, having a smooth, dark, concave surface. Dirt can't collect there. Use these corner shields for the staircase, breakfast nook seats, drawers, and cupboards, as well as for the corners of your rooms and closets. They are inexpensive and practical.

Symphony Ends Hardest Grind of Recent Years

BY CECIL SMITH.

In Grant park last night the Chicago symphony orchestra completed the most gruelling grind to which it has submitted since its two-a-day schedule at A Century of Progress in 1934—thirteen full sized concerts at Ravinia and Grant park in fourteen days. Now the players may rest until Monday, when they return to Grant park for a final series of three more consecutive programs.

It was only natural that the orchestra should be tired, and somewhat below its top form. The real marvel was that it sounded as agreeable as it did, once the concert got fully into its stride

Hans Lange, the conductor of the evening, opened the concert with a singularly barren interpretation of Brahms' "Academic Festival" overture. There seemed to be scarcely a surface attempt to define the character of the German student songs out of which the piece is made, or to differentiate between them in tempo or texture. The final climax, taken too fast, had neither breadth nor cumulative effect.

Robert Quick, principal of the orchestra's violins, played the Wieniawski D minor concerto with tasteful, self-effacing musicianship, and added a beautiful performance of the Meditation from Massenet's "Thaïs" as encore. The audience received him enthusiastically.

Three-quarters of an hour were given over to the Tschaikowsky A minor trio, in the superb orchestration made by Frederick Stock in memory of Ossip Gabrilowitsch. At first Mr. Lange's approach to the score was agitated and full of bad transitions of tempo. Toward the close of the slow movement he discovered a mood of greater tranquillity, and gave a good performance from that point on.

The familiar excerpts from Berlioz' "The Damnation of Faust" concluded the concert.

Your Manner Is Important to Loveliness

BY ANTOINETTE DONNELLY.

[Copyright: 1939: News Syndicate Co., Inc.]

Let's talk of something today that hasn't anything to do with the physical properties of beauty. Something, nevertheless, that has everything to do with a woman's appeal. The manner, I mean. There are women, as you know, perfect "knockouts" as far as hair, complexion, figure, and clothes are concerned, but you just don't vote them in on beauty prizes, because their manner is offensive. On the contrary, there are women who aren't knockouts at all, but whose graciousness of manner charms you into thinking they are lovely looking creatures.

It just isn't enough to please the eye only. The ear, the emotions have to be impressed, too. We won't talk much today about the appeal of the nicely modulated, low pitched voice, because you must be fully aware of its charm yourself. It's something of which you always speak when you meet it.

But the manner you have when meeting people is so important in registering charm. Some women you meet, for instance, chill you to the bone with their indifference, their bored attitude, or their curt dismissal of your attempt at pleasantness. "She's not bad to look at, BUT——" is what she gets in the way of compliment.

Or take those women who may look as if they'd just been turned out by a Paris couturier and the most expensive American beauty salon. They'll barge in ahead of you at a ticket window or they'll jam their elbows into you at a shopping counter. Or they'll make themselves conspicuous with loud remarks and laughter in a theater or movie lobby. Beauty stock just goes down with these exhibitions of bad manners.

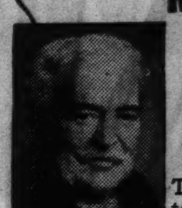
WILSON'S Weekly MEMO by GEORGE RECTOR



The old query as to what women do with the time saved with time-saving devices is so old it positively drips with Santa Claus whiskers. It's a wise woman who buys her canned meats, fruits and vegetables and then goes out to meet life halfway—or better.

OUT WITH THE FRYING PAN...

If you are wont to think of ham and eggs as co-starring only in a skillet, you will have to change your mind rapidly because in this next recipe the frying pan goes out of the window and the principals come together in a bread tin.

It is a cold meat pie, intended for luncheons or buffet suppers—an excellent way to use the shank end of a Wilson's Certified Smoked Ham.

Cold Ham Pie

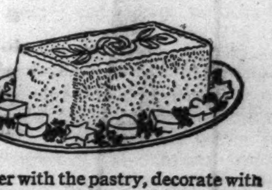
⅓ cup Wilson's Certified Pure Lard
1⅓ teaspoons salt
4 tablespoons cold water

* * *

4 cups Wilson's Smoked Ham, cooked and ground
1 cup white sauce
⅛ teaspoon salt
⅛ teaspoon dry mustard
Few grains cayenne
4 Clear Brook eggs, beaten slightly
2 Clear Brook eggs, hard cooked

Sift flour with salt. Make pastry by cutting the lard into the flour until the mixture resembles coarse corn meal. Sprinkle on the cold water and blend to make a soft dough. Form in a ball and chill.

Put the ham through the food chopper three times. Press with the back of a spoon until smooth. Combine with the white sauce, beaten eggs and seasonings. Line a medium-sized bread tin with pastry and fill with ham mixture. At intervals lay in hard-cooked eggs, cut in lengthwise wedges, and a few pistachio nuts, sliced stuffed olives or strips of green pepper.



Cover with the pastry, decorate with a pastry rose and a few leaves, brush with melted Clear Brook butter. Bake in a hot oven (500° F.) for 10 minutes, then at 350° F. for 40 minutes more.

When cool enough, set in refrigerator to chill. Serve whole, garnished with spiced beets or squares of tomato aspic. Yields about 15 servings.

CHINESE SWEET BONES

Although it is neither Oriental, sweet, nor bony, I can tell you this is a dish of unusually pleasing flavor.

To make Chinese Sweet Bones, you will require one or more of Wilson's Ready-to-Serve Meats, such as Mortadella, Salami Cotto or Lasting Flavour Spiced Ham or Luncheon Meat. You can detour the Mortadella and Salami Cotto if you are not garlic-minded.

Here's how:

¾ lb. Wilson's Assorted Ready-to-Serve Meats
1 Clear Brook egg
4 tablespoons Clear Brook butter
1 onion, sliced thin
½ cup celery, sliced thin
1 cup diced cucumber
1 cup water
½ teaspoon salt
⅛ teaspoon pepper
2 teaspoons lemon juice
2 teaspoons flour

Cut the meats in strips ¼ inch wide and thick. Roll in flour, then dip in egg, slightly beaten, and roll in flour again. Melt the butter in a large skillet and brown the strips nicely on all sides.

Add the onion, celery and ¼ cup of water and simmer 20 minutes, covered. Add the diced cucumber, seasonings, lemon juice and remaining water. Simmer covered for another 15 minutes. Thicken with the flour, blended in a little cold water.

Serve piping hot on a bed of fried noodles and garnish with pimiento and toasted almonds.

A SPEAKER, so the story goes, was urgently proving a tax point before the august Chamber of Deputies of France. "Messieurs," he remarked solemnly, "do you not realize that women are little different from men?" Amazed, he saw the gallant Deputies leap to their feet, heard them thunder: "Vive la différence!"

For several thousands of years men of reason and spirit have been hailing this difference. Women weep and men fight with their fists, and each has always baffled the other. Men will cheerfully spike a slimy worm on a ferocious hook—and women will happily pick up a wet and wailing baby from which men have the instinct only to run. Women subconsciously like to cling and men consciously to command. Women like to flee, and men to follow—and no one has yet suggested calling the whole thing off.

When it comes to romance, women eagerly read about tall, handsome strangers—men about Petty cuties in bathing suits.

So what wonder that magazines which deal with specialized subjects like "How to Rate a Second Date," "Beauty on Your Wedding Day," "The Art of Marriage," command an intense readership from half the human race, compared to which women's interest in deep-sea fishing, the T. V. A., or Joe Louis' training quarters, could be called only tepid.

That is why a woman may leaf through many magazines. But when it comes to her own deep and abiding interests she seeks a magazine which recognizes her "difference"— a magazine for women alone. One versed in all these important and different techniques of womanhood.

That is why the Journal and three other leading magazines edited for women are, as a group, today's most popular magazines, with combined circulations of more than 11,250,000 buyers—900,000 more than buy the four leading weekly magazines.

And that is why the Journal itself has attracted 525,000 new buyers in the past four years—60% of them at newsstands—why today its circulation of more than 3,071,000 is the largest in its history.

The Journal crosses "the inner threshold"—of women's lives and homes. It well proves that advertising sincerely prepared to meet these deeper interests and placed in this magazine crosses that inner threshold too.

28 GIANTS REPORT IN CHICAGO; LEAVE FOR CAMP

MORE TO JOIN PRO CHAMPIONS ON WAY NORTH

Open All-Star Game Drill Tomorrow.

Musicians!

MEMBERS of college bands residing in the Chicago district are invited to join the College All-Star band which will play between halves of the game between the College All-Americans and the New York Giants in Soldiers' field Aug. 30. All musicians desiring to participate should write to Glen Cliffe Bainum, band director, Fisk hall, Northwestern university, Evanston, Ill.

BY GEORGE STRICKLER.

Led by Dale Burnett, bald, wiry sunburned veteran, looking with boyish anticipation to his tenth year in professional football, 28 of the New York Giants, champions of the National Football league, gathered in Chicago yesterday and toward evening entrained for their training camp in Superior, Wis.

They were joined by half a dozen players in Minneapolis late last night and today they meet the remainder of the squad of 46 players Coach Steve Owen will prepare for the Chicago All-Star game in Soldiers' field on Aug. 30. First workouts are scheduled for tomorrow.

"Take a good look at this place, boys," Burnett, a former star at Emporia State Teachers' college in Kansas, advised the new men making their first visit to Chicago. "The next time you see it we'll be too busy to take in the sights. Beginning now, your vacation is over."

Included in the squad Burnett, a half back, herded aboard the North Western's Duluth-Superior Limited were John Del Isola, former Fordham guard; Hank Soar, the Providence thunderbolt who bears the brunt of the champions' running attack; Ed Danowski, one of the greatest passers in football, and Ken Strong.

Strong Is Cheered.

Strong, a former New York university star who commanded headlines as a professional in the days of Harry Newman, Benny Friedman and the first Giant championship team, was given a rousing welcome when he entered the North Western station. Barred from the National league for several years for jumping to the defunct American league, Strong was restored to good standing at the last league meeting after serving a year's probation with the Giants' Jersey City farm club.

He will remain with the Giants through the All-Star game and if the years of vigorous competition haven't taken too great a toll, he will be retained through the season. Even as a bench warmer, Strong gives the Giants' offense an additional threat. The man who on his last Chicago appearance booted field goals on four consecutive plays against the Bears before one counted, can still place kick with the best in the game. His last appearance in uniform last December was made memorable around Jersey City by a 48 yard field goal.

Hein Already at Camp.

Those in the party leaving Chicago, in addition to the aforementioned quintet, were: John Karcis, full back; Ken Lunday, guard; Stan Galazin, center; Chuck Galatka, end; Pete Cole, guard; Ox Parry, tackle; Orville Tuttle, guard; Will Walls, end; Len [Feets] Barnum, half back; Jiggs Kline, end; Jim Lee Howell, end; Jim Poole, end, and the following rookies, Tim Roberts, DePaul, tackle; Don Willis, Clemson, full back; Sam Aills, Centenary, half back; Eddie Miller, U. of Washington, half back; Turney Watson, North Carolina, half back; Wendell Goldsmith, Kansas, guard; George Ax, Wyoming, center; J. H. Ochsie, end; Ray Hanken; Jim Neill; and Joe Yurcic, New Mexico, guard.

Mel Hein, captain and center who has become a perennial on the All-National league team, went direct from his home in Spokane, Wash., to Superior.

They'll Look Different on Aug. 30

Opportunists! That's Giants, Halas Claims

BY GEORGE HALAS.
[Head Coach, Chicago Bears.]

In my judgment the New York Giants will beat the College All-Stars the night of Aug. 30 because they are a great money team, probably the best in that respect in the National Football league. Last season they were not regarded as potential champions as the season progressed. But in the final critical games, when a single defeat would have cost them the eastern championship, the Giants came through.

They ran up a 36 to 0 score against the Washington Redskins to avenge a humiliating defeat by Sammy Baugh and company the preceding season. The Giants have great team pride and they were itching for their chance to get even. They are proud, but not cocky.

Toward the end of the season the Giants met the Green Bay Packers in a regularly scheduled game. The 1938 Green Bay team, in my opinion, was the most powerful in the league. Green Bay pushed the Giants all over the field, but not over the goal line. The Packers piled up twenty-two first downs and the Giants six, but the final score was New York, 15; Green Bay, 3.

They're Opportunists.

In the championship playoff the Giants again were greatly outgained by Green Bay, but they won. The New Yorkers are opportunists. They turn breaks into touchdowns.

You never can sell a Giant team short with Steve Owen coaching. Back in 1937 we rode into Manhattan with a great Bear football team, if I

Jim Lee Howell, left, and Ray Hanken of the New York Giants end their vacation in Chicago, departing last night for a three weeks training grind in Superior, Wis. They'll be back the night of Aug. 30 to oppose the College All-Star football team in Soldiers' field.

Peter Astra Wins $40,502 Hambletonian Harness Stake

Goshen, N. Y., Aug. 9 (AP).—The dreams of a 70 year old country doctor came true today.

Two years ago modest, retiring Dr. Lowry Miller Guilinger of Andover, O., stepped into a New York sales ring and paid $3,250 for the colt Peter Astra. This afternoon he sat in the midst of a sweltering crowd of some 40,000 fans at Good Time park and saw his horse win the Hambletonian, richest and most famous of trotting horse stakes.

This colt, for which Dr. Guilinger has been offered $37,500, not only fulfilled the hopes of his owner and those of the crowd who made him the prohibitive 2-5 favorite, but he did it the easy way. In straight heats he won $21,342.35, the victor's share of the purse of $40,502.46, to maintain a record of having not lost a heat in chalking up five stake triumphs this year.

Dr. Parshall Drives Winner.

Dr. H. M. Parshall of Urbana, O., 41 year old veterinarian, brought Peter down to the finish line three lengths in front of Gauntlet, from C. W. Phellis' Greenwich, Conn., stable in the first heat, and in the second increased his margin to five lengths over the same horse.

The times, 2:05¾ for the first mile and 2:04¼ for the second, were far off the Hambletonian record of 2:01¼, but fast enough to beat the nine other 3 year olds that dared to test Peter's speed and stamina. They also were good enough to give Parshall, America's leading driver for twelve of the last thirteen years, his second triumph in the buggy whip Derby. Parshall's previous victory was with Lord Jim in 1934.

$7,760 for Second.

Gauntlet, second in both heats, was driven by Vic Fleming of Syracuse. E. Roland Harriman's Bagpiper was third in the first heat. The Abbot was fourth. Sir Walter, a rank outsider owned by J. J. McIntyre of Cleveland, was third in the second heat.

The share of the purse for Gauntlet's owner was $7,760.49. The third place finish gave Sir Walter's owner third money of $4,656.30, although Sir Walter was only fifth in the first heat.

Bagpiper dropped back to ninth in the second heat and gave fourth money to Owner Harriman.

Well, Brother, just try it and see how you fare on Aug. 30, compared to the fellow who steps down to the Tribune's Public Service office, either in the lobby of the Tribune Tower or 1 South Dearborn street, and purchases his tickets for the game between the College All-Stars and the New York Giants. ROWE STOPS SOX, 10-3; MARCUM'S EYE CUT BY DRIVE

Pitcher Knocked Out by Greenberg's Blow.

BY EDWARD BURNS.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Detroit, Mich., Aug. 9.—The White Sox's drive to retain possession of third place until $25,000 dividends are paid on same next October, suffered something of a jolt when the fifth place Detroit Tigers, who also like money, whipped the Chicagoans, 10 to 3, in the second game of the series this afternoon.

The game, in addition to effecting the tenth setback the Sox have suffered on the current trip, brought severe injury to Pitcher Johnny Marcum who was knocked unconscious when hit in the face by a smash from the bat of Hank Greenberg in the seventh inning. Marcum was carried by four Tigers into the Briggs stadium infirmary where he was revived and five stitches taken to close a gash over his right eye.

Rushed to Hospital.

After the game he was removed to Harper hospital for X-rays and observation. Dr. A. H. Whittaker, Tiger physician, said he believed there had been no fracture but that the lacerations would require hospitalization regardless of the findings from the X-rays.

Schoolboy Rowe registered his fifth victory of the season. He held the Sox to seven hits. Six of these were extra basers—a homer by Joe Kuhel, triples by Jack Hayes and Gee Walker, and doubles by Eric McNair, Larry Rosenthal, and Norm Schlueter.

Jack Knott started as though this was to be one of his good days. But a freak homer by Pete Fox with two out in the second inning seemed to throw him off stride. Jack had been gone a long time, however, when the Tigers made five runs and six hits off Marcum and Rookie Harry Boyles in the seventh.

Indians Are Getting Closer.

Inasmuch as the Tigers won here and the Indians beat the Browns in Cleveland, the Sox's third place margin was skinned down from two angles. The Indians are now a game and a half behind the Sox and the Tigers two and a half games.

The Sox started with an inning of grievous frustration and things got no better as the afternoon wore on. Hayes opened the game by socking Rowe's first pitch for a triple to right center and held third while Kuhel was going out, Greenberg to Rowe. Kreevich walked, then Walker tapped to Rowe and Hayes was harpooned between third and home, Kreevich reaching third and Walker second during the rundown. Appling walked, loading the bases. Then McCoy made a nice play on Rosenthal's grounder for the third out.

The first hit off Knott scored the first run of the afternoon. It was

In the Wake of the News

BY ARCH WARD.

YOUR ideal All-American football player, a composite of the sixty-nine elected to the 1939 All-Star squad who go into training Saturday for their game against the New York Giants, is an American 22 years and 2 months old, who weighs 197.7 pounds, stands 5 feet 11¾ inches, and has a 43 inch chest with a 33.6 inch waist. . . . His favorite food is steak, his favorite athlete Joe DiMaggio, his hobby hunting and fishing, his favorite amusement the movies, and he's a fraternity man who worked his way through college. . . . Davey O'Brien, the Texas Christian passing paragon, is the lightest and shortest man on the squad. . . . He weighs 152 pounds and stands 5 feet 7 inches. . . . His three back field associates in the starting lineup—Marshall Goldberg of Pittsburgh, Bob MacLeod of Dartmouth, and Howie Weiss of Wisconsin—all stand 6 feet. . . . The tallest man is Don Siegel, Michigan tackle, 6 feet 4 inches; the heaviest, Insall B. Hale, Texas Christian tackle, who weighs 240 pounds; the youngest, Billy Patterson, Baylor quarter back, who is 20, and the oldest Clarence Manders of Drake, who is 26. . . . Manders' favorite athlete, by the way, is Jack Manders, the Bears' veteran and Clarence's brother. . . .

Twenty-eight of the sixty-nine All-Stars were captains of their college football teams and fifty-eight worked their way through school, six on athletic scholarships. . . . Ted Panish of Bradley financed his education by operating an elevator four years in Peoria, and Col. Leon Larson taught physical education classes at River Falls, Wis., State Teachers college to earn his tuition. . . . George Faust, Minnesota quarter back, sold insurance, and Charles Brock, Nebraska center, and Manders worked on newspapers. . . . Five did janitor work, five washed dishes, and eight waited on tables. . . . Faust was captain of the East team that lost to the West in San Francisco last winter. . . . Twenty-eight of the sixty-nine prefer steak, thick and rare, but Joe Mihal, the starting tackle from Purdue, will settle every meal for seven courses of fried catfish. . . . Goldberg and Horace Bell, Minnesota guard, voted for baked beans, and Siegel, a devotee of Hawaiian surfing, chooses pastries over everything else. . . . Bill Osmanski, Holy Cross full back, says there is nothing like cabbage soup, and Bill Paulman, Stanford full back, can be satisfied with sauerkraut.

Deep Sorrow.

We passed each other one day, you and I,
Though all that I remember is your smile
Which lingered after you had hastened by,
Filling the air with redolence a while;
And yet I knew that you were sorrowing,
That tears were welling up within your breast;
I wondered how you hid your suffering
Beneath the lilt of laughter and a jest.

I sometimes think the deepest wells of grief
Are hidden under merriment and cheer,
Sorrows that find no outlet or relief
In soothing sob or tranquilizing tear,
Anguish that clothes itself in raiment gay
The while it eats the very heart away.

BUDDY LEWIS OF GRIFFS INJURED; BEANED BY THROW

Washington, D. C., Aug. 9 [Special].—A physician's examination revealed a possible brain concussion to Buddy Lewis, third baseman for the Washington Senators, who was rushed to Garfield hospital today after he was struck on the head by a ball thrown by Red Ruffing, pitcher for the New York Yankees.

Lewis was injured while running toward first base when Ruffing fielded a batted ball and attempted to throw him out.

At the hospital, where he will remain overnight for observation, physicians said Lewis' injury was not as serious as previously expected.

NINE RUN FIFTH ROUTS CHICAGO IN 2D GAME, 11-3

Root Knocked Out in 7-5 Opener.

BY IRVING VAUGHAN.

The Reds from Cincinnati gave answer yesterday to the charge that they are growing jittery in their pennant-ward dash. They gave the answer, not gently but boisterously, to the third place Cubs before 40,887 in Wrigley field. The league leaders first took old Charles Root apart for a 7 to 5 triumph in the front portion of a double-header. Then they rose up mightily with a riotous nine run inning to capture the second struggle, 11 to 3, leaving the tattered champions twelve and one-half games in the rear.

The pace setters, except in a few unimportant spots, did their work perfectly. Their starting pitcher, Johnny Vander Meer, was knocked out in the first battle and they were twice ousted from the lead, but they finally stopped the annoyance. They showed the tiring Root no mercy in the seventh and completed a decisive four run rally against his rescuer, Jack Russell. And in the second affair, after getting only one run and one hit off Claude Passeau in four innings, they made débris of a big portion of the Cub pitching staff.

15 Reds Bat in One Inning.

Fifteen batters stepped to the plate in the tumultuous fifth inning that scored nine runs in the second game and drove many of the spectators home to their dinner. The first ten reached base and nine scored before a man was retired. The last three of the nine runs were pounded across by Wally Berger with his second homer of the day. And with the bases filled and two out who should appear but Diz Dean—the invalid—to see if he could do any better than Passeau, Earl Whitehill and Gene Lillard. The Reds were too tired to bother the $185,000 cripple.

The blow 'em down tactics that fixed up the bunch of nine Red runs created a distressing contrast in attacks. Until after the big blow off in which eight hits were mixed with four passes, the Cubs hadn't produced a hit. They didn't even get a man to base against Lloyd Moore for five innings, but with his big lead in hand he took his task lightly in the last four innings and the Cubs were able to accumulate a few safe taps. They also were more or less futile in the first game after Gene Thompson had picked up Vander Meer's burden in the third inning.

FIRST GAME

Three of the four hits with which the Reds assaulted Root in the first two innings of the opening game were for extra bases. Frey singled to center with one gone in the first and Goodman's fly to Leiber made it two out, but McCormick punched a two bagger into the left field corner, Frey scoring. Berger led off in the second and after getting the count down to 3 and 2, spanked his season's eighth homer into the left field bleacher. There also was a double by Vander Meer in this inning, but no harm resulted.

Exit Mr. Vander Meer.

The move that put the Cubs in front in the third began with singles by G. Russell and Mattick. Root tried to sacrifice but fanned. Hack punched a single into center, G. Russell scoring. A fly off Herman's bat sailed over Goodman's head for a double, Mattick lugging in the tying run. Then Galan flied to Berger and Hack registered. Vander Meer walked Leiber intentionally and Nicholson out of sheer wildness and was yanked. Thompson victimized Hartnett for the third out.

The Cubs were in a tie for a few moments in the fifth. In the Reds' half, Werber singled to right and scored on

Foxx's 30th Home Run Decides First, 5-3.

Boston, Mass., Aug. 9 (AP).—The Boston Red Sox came from behind twice today to take two games from the Philadelphia Athletics, 5 to 3, and 6 to 5, and gained half a game on the league leading New York Yankees, whom they now trail by six and a half games. Jimmy Foxx hit his thirtieth homer of the year in the eighth inning of the first game to break a 3 to 3 tie. The Red Sox trailed by 5 to 4 going into the last of the ninth inning of the second game, but scored twice to win out.

YANKS STOP SENATORS.

Washington, D. C., Aug. 9 (AP).—A couple of streaks were reversed today as the New York Yankees hammered out a 13 to 8 victory over the Senators, ending Washington's eight game string of triumphs and the Champions' three game losing streak. Joe Di Maggio hit his 14th home run with two on and Frank Crosetti homered with one on.

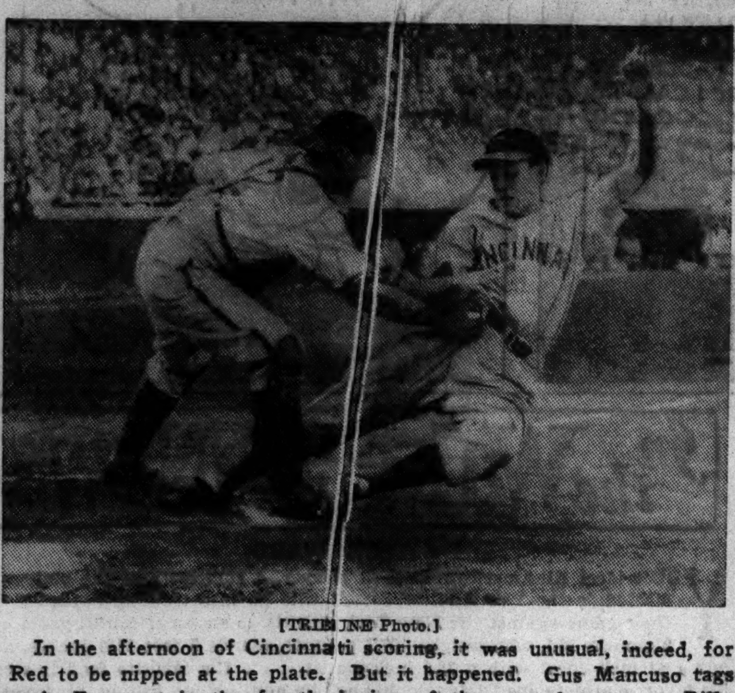
One Red Who Didn't Score



[TRIBUNE Photo.]

In the afternoon of Cincinnati scoring, it was unusual, indeed, for a Red to be nipped at the plate. But it happened. Gus Mancuso tags Lonnie Frey out in the fourth inning of the second game on Billy Herman's throw after he took Buck McCormick's grounder.

Marcum Hurt as Sox Lose to Tigers, 10-3

a homer by Fox, and freakish, though Fox rated a triple on the swat. With two out in the second inning Pete hit a four foot stripe of concrete at the base of the screen in left center and the ball bounced about 200 feet into right center. Fox, who can run very fast, circled the bases during the mad chase after the bouncing ball.

There was nothing spurious about the Tigers' second run. Croucher opened the third inning with a line drive double to the left field wall and scored on Rowe's single to right.

Fox Causes More Trouble.

Fox precipitated another Sox misadventure when he came up in the fourth. With one down, Higgins walked. Fox singled to center, putting Higgins on third, and when the ball went through Kreevich, Higgins scored and Fox reached third. Tebbetts bounced to McNair and Fox was run down, Tebbetts sneaking to second. Croucher singled to left, scoring Tebbetts.

Steinbacher struck out for Knott at the start of the Chicago fifth and this brought forth Marcum at the start of Tiger fifth. Marcum made McCosky pop to Appling, but McCoy doubled to center, took third on a wild pitch, and scored on Averill's sacrifice fly to Kreevich.

Walker opened the sixth with a triple to right center and scored while Appling was being retired, Greenberg to Rowe.

It's a Sad Day for Marcum.

Marcum absorbed something of a thumping before his injury in the seventh. With one down, Rowe smacked his second single and scored on McCosky's double. McCoy singled to right, scoring McCosky after Averill singled to left. Greenberg's smash that hit Marcum was his first safe knock of the series.

Kuhel could have made a play to retire Greenberg, for the ball bounded straight toward first after hitting Marcum. Joe, however, was among the first to realize Marcum had been seriously hurt and didn't pick up the ball. The umpires called time and the bases were loaded. Pitcher Boyles made his 1939 debut as a Sox pitcher when play was resumed and walked Higgins to force in a run, then pitched a double to Fox to let two more Tigers get home.

Kuhel opened the eighth with his No. 12 homer and as he crossed the plate renewed an old feud with Catcher George Tebbetts. The umpires separated the pair before fisticuffing started.

The Sox made their third run in the ninth on doubles by Rosenthal and Schlueter.

REDS SHOW CUBS NO MERCY; WIN TWO, 7-5 AND 11-3

That McCormick Man Again.

Myers' single to right opened the seventh and was the first tip off that Root was declining. Thompson struck out and Leiber flagged Werber's liner. Frey singled to center and a pass to Goodman loaded the bases. McCormick fouled off two pitches but slapped the next one through short for a single, Myers and Frey scoring and Goodman taking third. Jack Russell came to Root's aid and Lombardi was awaiting the newcomer. The big fellow lined a two bagger against the left field wall, Goodman and McCormick scoring.

The Reds finally erred in the ninth and gave a run away. Mattick doubled and Frey fumbled Reynolds' roller. Mattick scored on Hack's fly, Herman struck out and Galan singled to right. Then Werber made a beautiful pickup and throw of Leiber's slow roller to conclude the struggle.

SECOND GAME

The only Red who saw first base in the first three innings of the second tussle was Werber, who survived on Herman's fumble in the opening attack. Werber got to second by stealing but stopped there. Frey was the next Red to get on base. Passeau walked him to start the fourth and, with one out, Frey scooted to third on a passed ball but was nipped at the plate when Herman made a snappy pickup and throw of McCormick's bounder. But a moment later Hershberger doubled into the foliage on the left center field wall and McCormick dashed home.

The sad nine run fifth went something like this: Gamble bunted past Hack and Myers singled to right. Nicholson gave the ball such a healthy toss that it sailed into the dugout, Gamble scoring and Myers taking third. This annoyed Passeau so much that he walked Moore. Werber slashed a double into left center, Myers scoring. Frey drilled a two bagger into right center, Moore and Werber galloping home. This was where Passeau jumped off the merry go round.

Whitehill Comes and Goes.

Whitehill came in but the Reds kept going. Goodman walked and McCormick dunked a single in short right center, Frey counting. Hershberger whistled a single into left, Goodman going home and Whitehill going into retirement. Lillard pitched one strike to Berger and then came the biggest blast of the inning. Big Berger sent his season's ninth homer clear over the left field bleacher for three more runs, making a total of nine with nobody retired.

Next came a single by Gamble. Myers fanned for the first out and there was great whooping. Moore bunted on the fly to Lillard who then walked Werber and Frey. He was yanked and Dean was dragged in. He managed to end the orgy on Goodman's long fly to Nicholson.

The Cubs finally got a hit off Moore, not to mention a run, in the sixth. Mattick tripled and scored on a wild pitch. They scored again in the eighth, but the run had to be forced home on a pass to Gleeson after singles had filled the bases. The Reds, having recovered from their fifth inning jamboree, scored their last run in the ninth on Gamble's single and Werber's double off Dean. The Cubs also scored in the ninth—on Nicholson's triple and a wild pitch.

NO. 1 RED MENACE, DERRINGER, WILL FACE CUBS TODAY

Vance Page will be put to work for the Cubs today in the final game of the series against the Reds, who will employ Paul Derringer, a Cub tormentor of long standing.

Harry Craft, Cincinnati outfielder who suffered a slight concussion and an injured neck in a collision with a teammate, Lee Gamble, during Tuesday's double-header against the Cubs, was reported improved in Illinois Masonic hospital last night. Craft may be released tonight and if so will leave with the club for St. Louis.

Earl Whitehill's two inning finishing job in the first game yesterday marked his first bit of work since he fractured his left thumb more than three weeks ago. He may be able to start in the near future.

The Reds seem to have discovered that Rookie Bill Nicholson's weakness is the high inside pitch.

Buck McCormick, the Reds' first baseman, has spent two enjoyable afternoons at Wrigley field, especially at the plate. He has made nine hits in 16 times at bat for a .562 average, scored four runs and driven in nine.

CARROTHERS AND EVERT CLASH IN NET MEET TODAY

Carrothers won from Bob Early in the fourth round yesterday, 6-2, 6-1, following a third round victory over Byron Gordon, Chicago, 6-0, 8-6. Evert beat Bill Baumann, Oak Park, 6-2, 4-6, 6-0, in the fourth round, while Sawyier defeated Bob Smidl, 6-2, 6-8, 6-2. Larned won from Charles Hopper, Beverly Hills, Cal., 6-4, 6-3.

WILD PITCH, TWO HOME RUNS HELP GIANTS WIN TWO

Home runs by Bill Jurges and Johnny McCarthy gave the Giants the edge in the first.

KRUTILLA WINS OLYMPIA FIELDS FROLICS WITH 141

Nelson Shoots 149, March 152; 350 Play.

BY CHARLES BARTLETT.

Johnny Krutilla, former city amateur runnerup, who has a date at Olympia Fields on Aug. 29, yesterday warmed up for the engagement by leading a field of 350 golfers in the annual Olympia Fields Frolics, the big south side club's invitational event.

Krutilla's future rendezvous with Olympia is the national amateur qualifying round. John prepared for that trial by shooting a 70, two under par on the No. 1 course, and a 71, one over perfect figures over No. 3. His total of 141 sent him in, far in front of the huge field, which played 36 holes, taking either No. 1 and No. 3 or No. 2 and No. 4.

Heppes Scores 156.

Following Krutilla on No. 1 and No. 3, were Don Heppes, former Northwestern university golfer, 73—83—156; Dr. J. Earl Harris, club champion, 78—79—157; Frank Arliskas of the home club, 75—83—158, and Gene Budd of St. John's, Ind., last Saturday's victor in the city amateur tournament, 82—84—166.

Two professionals led the combined scoring on the No. 2 and No. 4 courses. They were Henry Nelson of Kankakee, with 75—74—149 and Harold [Mush] March, Chicago Blackhawk hockey star, 78—74—152. Walter Crowdus, former club champion, had 81—81—162 and Gus Fetz of Medinah, 77—86—163.

3 EX-CHAMPIONS IN WESTERN GOLF ARE ELIMINATED

Birmingham, Mich., Aug. 9 [Special].—Edith Estabrooks of Dubuque, Ia., runnerup last year at Olympia Fields, today made a strong bid to take over the Women's Western closed championship undefended by Patty Berg, shooting sub-par golf to eliminate Marion Miley of Lexington, Ky., tournament medalist and twice winner of the title.

Two down to Miss Miley at the half way mark of their 18 hole second round match, Miss Estabrooks played the next seven holes in three under par and only one over men's par to win, 2 and 1. Miss Miley won the first three holes with birdies and was out in 36, three under par, to 38 for Miss Estabrooks.

Mrs. Lowry Surprises Again.

Also eliminated were Dorothy Traung of San Francisco, Cal., former Western closed champion, and Beatrice Barrett of Minneapolis, Minn., winner of the 1938 Western open. Harriett Randall, Indiana state champion from Indianapolis, defeated Miss Traung, 1 up, and Mrs. Tim G. Lowry of Chicago, scoring her second upset in as many days, defeated Miss Barrett, 1 up.

The only former winner of the closed tournament left in the running for tomorrow's quarter finals was Mrs. Russell Mann of Milwaukee, the former Lucille Robinson of Des Moines, Ia.

While Miss Berg, national champion, is recuperating from an appendicitis operation, Miss Estabrooks will oppose Miss Randall and Mrs. Lowry will play Mrs. Mann in the upper half quarter finals tomorrow.

Ellamae Williams Survives.

Paired in the lower bracket are Elizabeth Hicks of Long Beach, Cal., vs. Mrs. Hayes Dansingburg of St. Paul, Minn., and Mrs. Dan Chandler of Dallas, Tex. vs. Ellamae Williams of Chicago, the Illinois state champion.

Miss Williams, who also is the Chicago district champion, continued in quest of her third straight 1939 title by eliminating Phyllis Buchanan of Denver, the Colorado champion, 1 up at the 19th hole. They were all square at the 18th although Miss Williams' medal card was 86 to 85 for Miss Buchanan.

Miss Hicks, 17 years old, defeated Eleanor Dudley of Chicago, winner of the tournament driving contest and second in the qualifying round. The margin was 4 and 2. Mrs. Chandler won from Mary Agnes Wall of Menominee, Mich., 7 and 5, and Mrs. Dansingburg defeated Dorothy Foster of Springfield, Ill., 2 and 1.

Today's results:

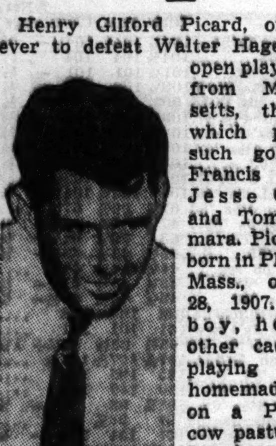
Friends of Hagen

Picard Reached Stardom from Caddy Ranks

BY CHARLES BARTLETT.

[This is the third of a series of sketches on the fifteen golf professionals who will join with Walter Hagen in the veteran's thirty-fifth anniversary tournament, to be played on Aug. 24, 25, 26, and 27 at the Midlothian Country club.]

Henry Gilford Picard, only man ever to defeat Walter Hagen in an open playoff, hails from Massachusetts, the state which produced such golfers as Francis Ouimet, Jesse Guilford, and Tom McNamara. Picard was born in Plymouth, Mass., on Nov. 28, 1907. As a boy, he joined other caddies in playing over a homemade course on a Plymouth cow pasture. He has been a professional in Plymouth and Charleston, S. C., and now registers from Hershey, Pa.



Henry Picard.

In 1932, Picard won the Carolina open after a playoff with Hagen, the latter thereupon encouraging him to take up big time tournament golf seriously. Between August, 1934, and April, 1935, Henry played in 54 tournaments. In 50 of these he broke par in all except three, and in those he equaled par. Between Christmas, 1934, and April 3, 1935, he set one of the great money winning records, collecting $5,600.

Picard's all around play, which has made him a standing favorite in practically every tournament he has entered in the last five years, finally was rewarded last month, when he defeated National Open Champion Byron Nelson in the 37 hole final match for the national professional title.

HOERNER WINS HI JINX; LYMAN SCORES LOW NET

Jack Hoerner of North Shore captured first place in Edgewater's Hi Jinx tournament by adding a 74 yesterday to his 71 of the previous day for a thirty-six hole of 145. Chick Evans of the host club was second with 75—72—147.

J. F. Lyman of Ridgemoor won low net for thirty-six holes with 178—40—138. Dr. E. P. Carroll of Evanston was second with 177—38—139, and J. E. Kenny was third with 161—20—141. Other prize winners were:

Low gross, Tuesday, Jack Hoerner, 35—36—71; low gross, Wednesday, Chick Evans, 36—36—72; low net, Tuesday, G. F. Douaire, 80—11—69; low net, Wednesday, Dr. E. P. Carroll, 85—19—66; low net foursome, Tuesday, J. P. Harding, Charles Posti, Jack Hoerner, John Lehman, 291; low net foursome, Wednesday, Dr. E. P. Carroll, A. L. Miller, Walter Carroll, and James Keenan, 288.

GIANTS ARE BEST WHEN CHIPS ARE DOWN—HALAS

do say it myself. That big fighting Bear squad had bowled over the strongest teams in the league and the Giants were underdogs. Owen was rebuilding his team and had about sixteen freshmen on the squad. Most of those freshmen are seasoned veterans of the varsity which will meet the All-Stars Aug. 30.

The Bears said that was the roughest, hardest game in their experience. The officials stated they never had seen such hard blocking and tackling. There was no so-called dirty work, for that is a quick step toward suicide in the professional game. Opponents catch up with you all too quickly. As player after player came back to the bench each said, in effect, "Boy, it's tough in there today!"

Ward Cuff Goal Kicker.

The Bears pushed the Giants around and had numerous scoring opportunities, but they could not quite make the grade against New York's desperate defense. The Giants, with practically no scoring opportunities, finished with a moral victory, a 3 to 3 tie. Ward Cuff made a place kick from the 45 yard line at a difficult angle. The All-Stars had better keep an eye on that lad from Marquette. He is one of the best all-around backs in football.

When I walked into the Bears' clubhouse after the game I beheld a beautiful collection of black and blue designs on the legs, backs, and shoulders of the Bears. I am told the Giants also wore some deep toned fanciful displays.

Beware of Widseth, Hein.

Ed Widseth of Minnesota and a former All-Star was a great tackle that day and he is a greater one today. The All-Stars will meet him, and I don't mean socially. He and Mel Hein alone are two great obstacles for the All-Star offense. Davey O'Brien will see a lot of Widseth and the New York ends. As a matter of fact, he will form an acquaintanceship quickly with the entire Giant line, for the New Yorkers really rush a passer.

To Arch Ward, athletic director de luxe of the All-Stars, I leave the problem of working out plays to get past Widseth, Hein, and their associates.

[This is the second of a series of articles by George Halas, president and coach of the Chicago Bears. Another will appear tomorrow.]

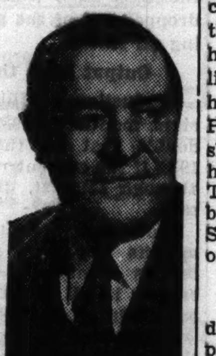
Holt's 143 Wins Medal in Eastern Amateur

Syracuse, N. Y., Aug. 9 (AP).—Bill Holt, playing over his home course, today won the qualifying medal in the eastern amateur golf tournament with a one over par 143 for 36 holes. Holt had a one stroke margin over Jimmy Scott of Louisville, Ky., who tacked a 74 onto the sub-par 70. Willie Turnesa of Elmsford, N. Y., finished third with 145. Chick Harbert of Battle Creek, Mich., and Bob Babbish of Detroit scored 148. Tom Sheridan of Chicago Heights, Ill., qualified with 149.

A Handicapper Picks Eight Straight Races; Wins $3,000

BY HOWARD BARRY.

A. W. Eaton, a north side contractor who likes to spend an occasional afternoon at the race tracks, performed the rarest of handicapping feats yesterday at Washington Park. He named the winners of all eight races and won the $3,000 prize which was at stake in the patrons handicapping contest.



A. W. Eaton.

Under the terms of the competition, the money goes to any one who can pick the first seven winners, but each ballot provides for an additional choice in the eighth to be used in case of ties. Eaton was the only survivor at the end of the seventh, in which a 24 to 1 shot, Colonel Joe, clinched the prize for him. So he didn't really need that victory by Ebony Boy in the eighth. It was just the finishing touch to a perfect job.

Gets Decision on 3 Close Ones.

Eaton's selections in the six earlier races, together with their odds, follow: All Lizzie, 3.60 to 1; Bobbin, 3.70 to 1; Peter Tokalon, 2.40 to 1; Valdina Gold, 4.20 to 1; Viscounty, 1.20 to 1, and Windshield, 4.80 to 1. Ebony Boy was at 2.40 to 1 in the eighth.

He had plenty of anxious moments in the course of the afternoon because three of his choices won by the margin of a nose and each time he had to wait for the camera's hairline decision before knowing whether he was in or out. The close ones were Peter Tokalon, Viscounty, and Windshield. In the latter case, three horses hit the finish line head and head. The camera gave it to Windshield by a nose with Forever Prince and Star Boarder in a dead heat for second place.

$1,000 at Stake Today.

Eaton, who lives at 3750 Lake Shore drive, profited by the failure of the patrons to name the first seven winners on Monday and Tuesday. His purse represented an accumulation of the $1,000 awards of those two days together with yesterday's. The contest will start all over again today with $1,000 at stake.

Emerson F. Woodward's Viscounty, which won the $2,500 Sheridan handicap last Saturday, tuned up for another stake event yesterday by getting up in the last stride to beat Isadore Bieber's Conde Rico in a gallop of a mile and seventy yards. Joseph E. Widener's Bucking and Ramsey and Coppage's Mucho Gusto came home third and fourth respectively after racing themselves leg weary while fighting for the early lead.

Viscounty's next engagement in his campaign for the Washington Park championship will be the $2,500 Lake Side handicap next Saturday.

In sending Viscounty out for a winning effort, Trainer J. J. Flanigan continued to keep the Valdina farm horses up to the brilliant pace they have been setting. It was the seventh victory for this stable in the first nine days of the meeting. No other stable is anywhere near this mark.

Over a slow track, Viscounty ran the mile and seventy yards in 1:43 3-5. He returned $4.40, $3.00, and $2.80.

M'NEILL BEATEN, BUT GAINS DAVIS CUP SQUAD BERTH

Rye, N. Y., Aug. 9 (AP).—Don McNeill of Oklahoma City, Okla., seeded No. 3 in the eastern grass court championships, was eliminated today by unranked Henry Prusoff of Seattle, Wash., 7-5, 3-6, 7-5, but his defeat did not affect his Davis cup status. Walter Pate, nonplaying captain, named McNeill and six others to the squad later in the day. The others are Bobby Riggs of Chicago; Gene Mako of Los Angeles, Cal.; Elwood T. Cooke of Portland, Ore.; Frank Parker of Beverly Hills, Cal.; Bryan Grant of Atlanta, Ga., and Sidney Wood of New York. All but McNeill and Cooke have been on the squad before.

Riggs and Parker Win.

Riggs and Parker, seeded first and second, advanced to the quarter-final round along with Prusoff. Riggs won, 7-5, 6-2, over Gardnar Mulloy of Miami, Fla., and Parker, 6-4, 6-2, over Bob Peacock of Berkeley, Cal.

Grant, seeded No. 5, beat Marvin Wachman of Chicago, 6-2, 6-2, but Wood lost to Welby Van Horn of Los Angeles, 2-6, 8-6, 6-4.

Two members of the British Wightman cup team were ousted from the women's division when Valerie Scott lost to Alice Marble, defending champion, 6-2, 6-1, and Mary Hardwick defaulted to Mary Arnold of Los Angeles because of the heat.

Reach Quarter-Finals.

Miss Marble and Mrs. Sarah P. Fabyan, top-seeded in the doubles, led the advance into the quarter-final round with a 6-1, 6-0 victory over Marilyn McRae of Little Rock, Ark., and Elizabeth Blackman of Detroit, Mich.

ILLINOIS' OIL OUTPUT PASSES OLD 1908 PEAK

Three New Fields Found in One County.

Oil field activities in southern Illinois have lifted production to the fastest rate in the state's history, the state geological survey reported yesterday.

Illinois oil output thus far in 1939 already has outstripped that of the peak year, 1908, when Illinois was third among the nation's oil producing states, topped only by California and Oklahoma. The earlier wells had a small but steady flow, but after a time operators had to pump the oil to the surface and the output declined sharply until discovery of deep producing sands in the last few years.

With the discovery of the great oil fields in Texas and other parts of the west after 1908 Illinois quickly dropped out of the ranks of the leading oil states.

Output More than Doubled.

Production in Illinois in the first eight months of 1939 will more than double that for the entire year of 1938, if the current rate is maintained through August, the state survey said.

Production in the first seven months this year totaled 42,075,000 barrels compared with 23,929,000 barrels in all of 1938, and 33,686,000 barrels in all of 1908.

Discoveries of new fields, exploration, and completion of new wells have multiplied rapidly since 1937. A new high in monthly output was reached last month when Illinois wells pumped 8,413,000 barrels.

Oil men predicted that total revenue from the sale of Illinois oil this year will exceed the record of $39,583,000 in 1917 when the price rocketed to $3.67 a barrel. Current prices average slightly below $1 a barrel.

Three New Fields Opened.

The geological survey reported that oil was discovered in three sections of White county last month. Three new fields and a new county thus were added to the proved oil producing areas in the state. The new fields were named Mill Shoals, New Harmony, and Storms.

Drillers completed 274 new wells in the state in July, the report said. Of these, 219 were productive.

Marion county had 99 new producing wells last month to lead the other oil counties. Fayette county was second with 58, Wayne county third with 17, Clay fourth with 14. There were successful completions in Wabash, Washington, White, Richland, St. Clair, and Gallatin counties.

Including these additions, there were at the end of July 3,656 producing wells in 40 new fields discovered in southern Illinois since Jan. 1, 1937. The survey said 269 drilling operations were in progress on Aug. 1 and 31 new locations were announced.

FOUNDATION BONDS.

I would appreciate information on University of Illinois Foundation Medical and Dental College building trust 4 per cent bonds.—H. G.

The security behind these bonds is a lease agreement between the University of Illinois Foundation and the University of Illinois. This lease provides that the university shall pay $86,000 annually, with the lease renewed yearly, to the foundation for use of the Medical and Dental College building in Chicago.

The foundation, which has issued the bonds, holds the building. If the university defaults on the lease, the foundation may take over the property. If the lease is renewed annually at $86,000 a year, all interest and principal on the foundation's bonds will be paid by 1956.

Creation of the foundation was largely a legal matter. The university, as an instrumentality of the state of Illinois, was not permitted to have a funded debt in excess of $250,000. Inasmuch as the money to be borrowed was larger than this sum, it was decided to create the foundation to issue the bonds.

The bonds are due serially from Jan. 1, 1940, to Jan. 1, 1956. Money raised by their issuance was used for construction of the medical and dental buildings.

The provision for the lease to be renewed annually was also largely a legal matter. As an instrumentality of the state, the university could not contract for a lease longer than two years without having that lease considered a long term debt. That would have made the debt in excess of the $250,000 limitation.

For all practical purposes, it is the university and the state of Illinois which are paying interest and principal on this bond issue. The credit of both ranks high.

ORIGIN OF "WATER."

What is meant by "watered" stock? Where did the phrase originate?—F. D.

Answer: Watered stock refers to the issuance of stock in excess of assets behind that stock. If, for example, a corporation has assets of $1,000,000 and issues two million shares of $1 par stock, about one million shares constitute "water."

There is an interesting story concerning the origin of the phrase. It is attributed to Daniel Drew, a market operator who was identified with the "Erie Ring" in the 19th century.

In his youth Drew was a cattle drover. The story is that he kept his cattle thirsty throughout their journey to the market, only giving them water immediately before they were to be weighed. They drank enough to increase their weight considerably. The phrase "watered stock" followed Drew from cattle to securities.

MANAGED MONEY NOT A CURE-ALL, DAVIS DECLARES

Reserve Governor Tells Views to Co-op Group.

Chester C. Davis, a member of the board of governors of the federal reserve system, said yesterday that changes in money volume cannot in themselves accomplish "economic stability." Davis spoke at a meeting of the American Institute of Coöperation, in session at the University of Chicago. The institute is supported by coöperative marketing organizations.

Chester C. Davis.

Davis said there is a "widely held belief that price levels may be raised or lowered at the will of a monetary authority" by increasing or decreasing the quantity of money. Discussing this, he said:

"Let me state as emphatically as I know how my conviction that it is the government's responsibility to prevent harmful changes in the volume of money.

Urges Coördinated Action.

"I believe this responsibility should be administered through a central authority backed by coördinated action on the part of all government agencies whose policies affect the money supply.

"But I do not want to deceive either myself or any one else into believing that by this means alone economic stability can be had.

"The record seems to make it fairly clear that price levels in recent years have not followed changes in the volume of money. The level of commodity prices is low now, notwithstanding the fact that the quantity of money, no matter how defined, is larger today than it ever has been before in the history of this country.

Says Turnover Is Slow.

"The trouble is that this large volume of money is not being used as actively as money has been used in past periods of greater business activity. The reasons for that slower turnover or money are many and widespread, and they are not strictly monetary in nature. A monetary authority could do little or nothing about them."

Davis said he did not believe the country "in our time" will return to the "automatic gold standard" of currency.

O. M. Reed, chief of the dairy section of the United States department of agriculture, told the institute that stability in the fluid milk price structure is the most important responsibility coöperatives assume under federal milk marketing control.

Warns Against Too High Prices.

"In proposing and advocating price levels," Reed said, "coöperatives should seek to establish a structure that can be maintained without disrupting the market, because it is either too high or too low. Prices should be in line with current supply and demand conditions. If they are too high there is a tendency for more producers to be attracted, with the result that prices are reduced by the influx of milk and the market is overburdened with the excess supplies."

"While it is a laudable aim for cooperatives to secure as much money as possible for their producer under any given set of economic circumstances," Reed said, "it also follows that the people in the cities are your customers. In securing prices for your producer members you must not forget the interests of the consuming public."

AM. TELEPHONE FILES RATE CUT FOR LONG LINES

New York, Aug. 9.—[Special.]—The long lines department of the American Telephone and Telegraph company announced today that it had filed a new rate schedule with the federal communications commission, reducing charges for certain private line services. The reduction will total more than $1,000,000 a year and will become effective on Sept. 16.

The security business will be the chief beneficiary of the proposed new schedule, but it also will affect some industrial companies and transportation services.

SPAIN WILL GET COTTON BOUGHT IN OPEN MARKET

New York, Aug. 9 (AP).—The 250,000 bales of American raw cotton to be shipped to mills in Spain through financing arranged by the Export-Import bank this week will be purchased in the open market, and not withdrawn from United States government loan stocks, Warren Lee Pierson, president of the bank, said today.

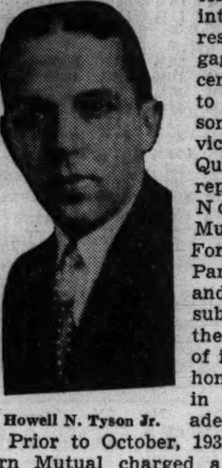
The shipments are expected to start immediately, he said. Interest rate on financing the shipments would probably be set at 3½ per cent, he disclosed.

Asked about the possibility of similar arrangements being made by the bank for shipment of American cotton to other European countries, Pierson singled out Germany as a potential buyer. The reich, he said, already has commercial private bank credits in this country.

Northwestern Mutual's Home Loan Rate Cut

BY AL CHASE.

The Northwestern Mutual Life Insurance company of Milwaukee yesterday reduced interest rates on residential mortgages to 4 per cent. According to Howell N. Tyson Jr., executive vice president of Quinlan & Tyson, representative of Northwestern Mutual in River Forest, north Oak Park, Park Ridge, and north shore suburbs, this is the lowest rate of interest on home mortgages in several decades.



Howell N. Tyson Jr.

Prior to October, 1935, Northwestern Mutual charged a rate of 5½ per cent and commission. On that date the rate was reduced to 5 per cent and the commission abolished. In January, 1936, the rate was again reduced, this time to 4½ per cent.

Rate at Low Point.

"The company has now cut its rate to 4 per cent," Tyson said, "and the financing continues without commission. There has never been such cheap money available for the home builder and home owner, so far as I can remember.

"Northwestern Mutual also has changed its interest payment schedules. Formerly borrowers had to make semi-annual payments. Under the new plan one may pay monthly, quarterly, or semi-annually.

"Most of the new 4 per cent loans will be for twenty-year terms. On the older houses, however, the term will be shorter. All will be 50 per cent loans."

FHA Insured Loans Higher.

Federal Housing administration insured loans are made as high as 90 per cent of the value of the completed house and land. FHA loans, although they were reduced, effective Aug. 1, from 5 to 4½ per cent, still are one-half of 1 per cent higher than the Northwestern Mutual mortgages in interest alone. In addition, there is the cost of federal insurance and other costs.

The Northwestern Mutual, it is understood, has been making business loans in the Chicago loop at 4 per cent for some time.

According to Tyson it is the first big insurance company to cut its home mortgages to 4 per cent.

SUES TO GET 105 FOR TENNESSEE ELECTRIC BONDS

New York, Aug. 9 [Special].—Suit was brought today in the Supreme court of New York to compel the Tennessee Electric Power company to pay the 105 call price for its first and refunding mortgage bonds instead of par, 100, to cancel the mortgage. Cancelation is necessary to enable the company to deliver its electric power properties to the Tennessee Valley authority.

The plaintiff in the action is Johan H. G. Franco, owner of $10,000 in bonds. The total issue outstanding is $39,790,800. One of the defendants is the Commonwealth and Southern corporation, which owns 99.35 per cent of Tennessee Electric Power's common stock.

The complaint charges Tennessee Electric Power is deliberately creating a default to invoke the "acceleration" clause in the bonds calling for payment at par instead of using the clause calling for 105. By this means, it is charged, Commonwealth and Southern will receive $2,000,000 more than it would otherwise.

SHERIDAN ROAD CORNER IS SOLD FOR $462,000 CASH

The Lumberman's Mutual Casualty company, of which James S. Kemper is president, yesterday closed the deal by which it purchased the southwest corner of Sheridan road and Lawrence avenue for $462,000 cash. The property, fronting 250 feet on Sheridan road and 150 feet on Lawrence avenue, is improved with an eight story building.

The casualty company occupies 6½ floors. The remainder of the building is leased to stores and small tenants. The building is said to be fully occupied. Sudler & Co. represented all parties in the sale.

The offer to purchase the property was made to bondholders in control of the property last June. The offer was approved on July 1 by the bondholders' protective committee representing a $1,330,000 bond issue. Title was conveyed yesterday by the committee to the casualty company.

GENOA REJECTS WPA BIDS ON RENOVATING LIBRARY AND SAVES

Genoa, Ill., Aug. 9 [Special].—Genoa decided several weeks ago to renovate the town library. Since the library board's funds are limited, an application was made to have the work made a WPA project.

A district WPA supervisor inspected the project and submitted figures calling for the expenditure of $161 for material and $1,710 for labor, and for closing the library for six months while the work and a supervisor did the work. The board accordingly rejected the proposition.

A second project was then submitted. This one called for the expenditure of about $220 and closing the library for four months while two men did the job. The board also rejected that and decided to proceed itself with the job and accept the offer of a citizen to donate his time with no plus a donation from the city council. The work recently was completed. It cost $52.

Hudson Motor Displays New Line of Autos

BY PHILIP HAMPSON.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Detroit, Mich., Aug. 9.—The 1940 line of automobiles made by the Hudson Motor Car company was given its first showing at the company's factory here today.

A. E. Barit.

The greatest change in styling is in the more pronounced streamlining. The front presents a smooth finish with unbroken lines. The cars seem lower and longer and their lines certainly are more rakish than in the predecessor cars.

A. E. Barit, president, said that production on the cars is in progress and it will be stepped up shortly. It is expected that 5,000 cars will be completed by the end of this month.

Lamps Set Flush in Fenders.

The lamps are mounted flush in the fenders. Something new are the parking lights which are located on the sides of the hood at the front of the car. The parking lights are connected with signal lights at the rear which indicate a turn. When the rear signal lights flash the parking lights at the front flash on the turning side at the same time.

This arrangement of flasher signals give plenty of warning of a contemplated turn to trafic approaching from the rear and to that at intersectional points. The flasher is operated by a switch at the steering wheel.

Offered in Three Lines.

The 1940 cars will be offered to the public in three lines, a new Hudson six, a low priced straight eight, and a new super-six. The six, which contains a number of engineering improvements, including independent front wheel suspension, will be Hudson's contender in the low priced field.

All models will continue to have the principal features of the 1939 cars. However, the double braking system, in which mechanical brakes are used as a reserve for the hydraulic brakes, has been improved. Both front and rear vision has been increased. Overdrive is offered on all models as optional equipment. The horsepower of the engines has been increased. Cars are equipped with or without running boards, as desired.

STEEL PLANTS BUSIEST SINCE NOVEMBER, 1938

This week's steel production is at the highest level since November, 1938, Iron Age said yesterday. The adjournment of congress and the defeat of the New Deal's spending-lending program has had "a good sentimental effect" on business, despite the fact that a substantial share of present steel buying flows directly or indirectly from government expenditures, the review said.

This week's rate was placed at 61 per cent of capacity, compared with the previous 1939 high of 60.6 per cent, established two weeks ago.

Leading steel companies have posted list prices on concrete reinforcing steel bars $4 a ton and cut rail steel bars $3 a ton on large orders to bring quotations more in line with actual market sales prices.

OFFICES OF JUNIOR COMMERCE GROUP MOVING TO CHICAGO

National headquarters of the United States Junior Chamber of Commerce will be moved from St. Louis, Mo., to the Merchandise Mart on Aug. 21, Thomas R. Reid Jr., executive vice president of the chamber, announced yesterday. The new quarters on the eleventh floor of the Merchandise Mart will occupy 18,000 square feet, as compared with 803 square feet in the present St. Louis offices.

Ramon E. Millard, organization service secretary, is now completing arrangements for the removal of the equipment and records from the Mayfair hotel, St. Louis, where the Junior Chamber of Commerce movement was founded in 1919.

Reid said the move to Chicago was made necessary by the rapid growth in the organization, which added 265 units last year and now has 640 junior chambers with a membership of 110,000.

DISTILLER MAKES 34 MILLION DEAL FOR BANK CREDIT

New York, Aug. 9 [Special].—Distillers Corporation-Seagrams, Ltd., has entered into a bank credit and five year loan agreement with twenty-three banks under which the company may borrow up to $34,000,000. The arrangement was disclosed today in a report filed with the Securities and Exchange commission and released by the New York Stock exchange.

The company entered the agreement with the banks July 12. Among the banks participating in the bank credit agreement was the Continental Illinois National Bank and Trust company.

The five year loan agreement was between the company and the Bankers Trust company and the Manufacturers Trust company.

Syndicate managers of the public offering yesterday of $123,500,000 of Pennsylvania Power and Light company first mortgage bonds and debentures announced at noon that both issues had been sold. The issues were quoted in the over the counter market at a premium of from ⅓ to ⅝.

MARKET AGENCY IS ORGANIZED BY SIX COAL FIRMS

Washington, D. C., Aug. 9 (AP).—The bituminous coal division today took under advisement an application for provisional approval of Belleville Fuels, Inc., Chicago, as a regional marketing agency for six producer companies operating in the Belleville and Duquoin districts of Illinois.

Examiner Edward J. Hayes said the division would rule on the application within the next month.

Belleville Fuels proposed to market the product of the following:

OCTOBER EGGS HIT 6 YEAR LOW, THEN IMPROVE

The price of eggs for delivery in October slumped ½ cent a dozen on the Chicago Mercantile exchange yesterday, but then recovered partly, closing at 17.55 cents a dozen. The midsession low of 17.40 cents was the lowest August price for the contract in six years.

November butter closed 0.05 cent a pound higher at 23.85 cents as a small amount of buying entered the market. The Dairy Products Marketing association bought nearly 500,000 pounds in Chicago and in New York.

SURVEY OTHER CITIES' GROWTH TO AID CHICAGO

A survey to determine how Chicago compares with other large cities in building construction, acquisition of new industries, and the solution of tax problems has been started by the Chicago Association of Commerce. The survey will aid in accomplishing the objectives of a greater Chicago plan of the association.

James P. Hayes, executive vice president of the association, left Chicago yesterday to begin the survey in the east. He will confer with business and civic leaders in Boston, Cleveland, Buffalo, and other large cities. Later Hayes will conduct a similar study in the larger cities on the Pacific coast.

Panama Canal July Trafic Runs Well Above '38 Mark

Washington, D. C., Aug. 9 [Special].—Trafic through the Panama canal showed a large increase in July over July, 1938, but there was a small decline from June of this year, the war department reported today. Tolls collected in July amounted to $1,674,380, compared with $1,694,205 in July, 1938. For the seven months ended July 31, tolls were $14,316,512, a rise of $1,330,000 over 1938. The number of ships in transit was 485, compared with 429.

American Production of Wood Pulp Much Higher

The department of commerce yesterday estimated that 3,479,455 tons of wood pulp were produced in the United States during the first six months of the year, an increase of 27 per cent over the same period last year. Output was the highest in three years. Imports of wood pulp during the six months totaled 833,744 tons, an increase of 15 per cent

ILLINOIS MINES TO BID FOR LAKE COAL BUSINESS

Drive Prior to 1940 Season Planned.

Representatives of Illinois coal mine operators said yesterday they hoped to make a strong bid for the lake coal business prior to the opening of the 1940 navigation season. Although 20 million tons of coal is dumped each year at docks on Lake Michigan and Lake Superior alone, the Illinois mines supply practically none of the tonnage.

The Illinois mine operators will not be able to bid for the lake business this year because a railroad rate case which would pave the way will not be decided finally for several months. Illinois coal carrying railroads, desiring a share of the lake cargo business now monopolized by eastern railroads, have offered to cut their rates to a level which would make economically possible the shipment of Illinois coal by lake freighter.

Report Expected in November.

C. W. Stadell, trafic manager of the Illinois Coal Trafic bureau, said the next step in the rate case is expected in November, when R. N. Trezise, an interstate commerce commission examiner who heard the railroads' pleas, is expected to make his preliminary report.

Stadell said the full commission would probably act formally on Trezise's recommendation in January or early in February.

Railroads serving Illinois coal mining areas, of which Franklin county is the largest, recently proposed a rate of $1.55 a ton on coal shipped to Chicago for transfer to lake freighters.

The rate on coal for consumption in the Chicago switching district, now $2.05 a ton, would not be changed.

Charge Unfair Advantage.

The reduction in the lake cargo rate was proposed in an effort to obtain a share of the lake coal business, nearly all of which now originates at Lake Erie ports. The Illinois operators contended the eastern interests held an unfair rate advantage. The proposed rate was suspended after eastern railroads and mine operators had protested.

Stadell said the margin of 50 cents a ton between the lake cargo rate and the rate for local consumption, as proposed, was fair because of the difference in the cost of handling coal. He said coal for shipment by lake would move to Chicago in solid trainloads of fifty to seventy cars, whereas coal shipped for consumption in the Chicago area moves in trains of mixed freight and requires "spotting" of cars at dealers' yards. In some instances, coal moves over two or more railroads before it reaches the dealer.

POWER OUTPUT DIPS, BUT RUNS ABOVE YEAR AGO

Production of electricity in the United States in the week ended Aug. 5 declined slightly from the preceding week, but reached a gain of 9.9 per cent over a year ago, the Edison Electric Institute reported yesterday.

Output of 2,325,085,000 kilowatt hours compared with 2,341,822,000 in the preceding week and 2,115,847,000 a year ago.

Electricity output of the Commonwealth Edison company group [Chicago area], intercompany sales deducted, in the week ended Aug. 5 was 140,684,000 kilowatt hours, an increase of 9.2 per cent over the 128,848,000 kilowatt hours reported in the corresponding 1938 week. The preceding week's output was 11.4 per cent larger than in the like week of last year.

DPMA PROPOSAL MEETS SILENCE IN WASHINGTON

Washington, D. C., Aug. 9 (AP).—Department of agriculture officials today declined to comment on a suggestion by the Dairy Products Marketing association of Chicago that the government purchase 40,000,000 pounds of surplus butter.

The association, an organization of dairy producer cooperatives, proposed that the butter be removed from the market to bolster prices.

Officials recalled that the government had lent $6,000,000 to the association earlier this year for purchase of up to 25,000,000 pounds of surplus butter. This butter will be withheld from the market until prices improve or until the government buys it for distribution among needy families.

GOODYEAR MAKES ITS 300 MILLIONTH TIRE, A TEN FOOT CASING

Akron, O., Aug. 9 [Special].—The 300 millionth pneumatic motor vehicle tire to be made by Goodyear Tire and Rubber company came off the production line today. This year is the centennial of Charles Goodyear's discovery of vulcanization, fiftieth anniversary of the first pneumatic tire, and the fortieth anniversary of this company.

The tire, bearing the number 300,000,000, is the first of six giant casings being made for the research foundation of the Armour Institute of Technology, and will be fitted on a "snow cruiser" for exploring the frozen wastes of Antarctica. The tire will be 10 feet in over-all diameter, nearly a yard in cross section, and of 12 ply construction.

June Aircraft Exports Climb to Record High

The struggle among European nations for supremacy in the air has caused United States exports of aircraft to increase to record proportions, the aeronautics division of the bureau of foreign and domestic commerce indicated yesterday.

The value of airplanes and parts sold to foreign countries in June totaled $10,619,563, setting a new monthly record. The previous record was $10,385,335 in May. The June total was 2.2 per cent more than that of May and 31.6 per cent more than that of June, 1938.

Influenced by Nazi Policy.

The upsurge in exports of American airplanes has been attributed in a large part to European fears raised by the territorial expansion of Nazi Germany. Most of the exported aircraft was ordered by France and Great Britain, which recently set in motion vast rearmament programs emphasizing combat and bombing planes.

Exports of aircraft by America in the first half this year increased 32 per cent to $48,866,612 from $37,123,198 in the first half of 1938. In the first six months of 1937 aeronautic exports were only $16,290,580.

The volume of airplane shipments to foreign countries in the first half this year was 72 per cent of the $68,209,050 total for all of 1938 and about one-quarter larger than the exports of $39,405,473 in all of 1937.

United Kingdom Buys 53 Planes.

The United Kingdom in June imported 53 American land planes valued at $2,491,900. With purchases of engines and other equipment the kingdom's total for the month was $3,484,553.

Aircraft exports to France in June totaled $2,813,797, including 52 land planes valued at $2,268,500. Mexico purchased a total of $1,780,238 in planes and parts, including 27 land planes valued at $1,776,610.

Smaller exports were to The Netherlands Indies, Peru, Iraq, Brazil, and Argentina.

COUNCIL SNAGS HOUSING PROJECT IN EAST ST. LOUIS

East St. Louis, Ill., Aug. 9 [Special].—Efforts of the St. Clair county housing authority to promote a low rent project here remained blocked today by the refusal of the city council to take action approving a necessary agreement waiving taxes on proposed buildings, vacating certain streets and demolishing 460 dwellings.

The United States Housing authority has warned that the $1,500,000 grant of federal funds earmarked for the project will be canceled unless a start is made soon.

The city council objected primarily on the ground that the county authority members with one exception do not live in East St. Louis. The city council also threatens to organize a city housing authority, to be appointed by the mayor with the approval of the Illinois housing board.

Although it is necessary that the agreement be approved before earmarked funds can be allocated, the council never has called the matter for a vote. Members of the county authority are trying to arrange a meeting with the council.

JULY BUSINESS OF DEPARTMENT STORES LOWER

Washington, D. C., Aug. 9 [Special].—Department store sales showed their usual decline from June to July, the federal reserve board announced today.

As a result the board's seasonally adjusted index remained unchanged at 86 per cent of the 1923-'25 average. Sales for the month were 3 per cent higher than those of July, 1938. For the first seven months of this year sales were 4 per cent higher than in 1938.

Sales in the seventh federal reserve [Chicago] district in July showed a gain of 4 per cent over a year ago. The seven months' sales were 6 per cent larger than in 1938.

The department of commerce estimated the average daily sales of chain drug stores in June were 4 per cent above those in June last year and 1.5 per cent over May of this year. Wholesale transactions in drugs and drug sundries during June declined from the May level, but held 4.5 per cent above the preceding June.

Aluminum Company Wins Exemption from Utility Act

Washington, D. C., Aug. 9 [Special].—The Securities and Exchange commission today exempted the Aluminum Company of America and several subsidiaries from requirements of registration under the holding company act on the ground that utility subsidiaries were not public utilities. The SEC found that the subsidiary companies furnished most of their power output to the aluminum company and little to other users, it said.

SINCLAIR TRIMS CRUDE OIL PRICE 20c A BARREL

Acts After Gasoline Boost Fails.

A reduction of 20 cents a barrel in crude oil prices in all areas where the Sinclair Prairie Oil Marketing company is a purchaser was announced by the company yesterday at Tulsa, Okla. The lowered price goes into effect today. The company, a subsidiary of Consolidated Oil corporation, made the cut at the same time the parent organization was announcing a net loss of $872,671 for the six months ended June 30.

Harry F. Sinclair.

The Sinclair reduction followed an unsuccessful effort by Harry F. Sinclair, chairman of Consolidated Oil, to advance gasoline prices early in July. Sinclair held at that time higher prices were necessary for Consolidated and other oil companies to make a profit.

Other Firms Resist Boost.

Several major oil companies resisted the attempt to raise gasoline prices. The present slash by the Sinclair Prairie Oil Marketing company, which buys, sells and stores crude oil for the Consolidated organization, is in line with Sinclair's statement that gasoline prices must be advanced or crude oil prices reduced.

Consolidated Oil's net loss of $872,671 in the six months ended June 30 compared with net income of $4,000,341 in the corresponding period last year.

"This statement reflects the unfavorable conditions in the oil industry that have been growing progressively worse for a year and a half," Sinclair told stockholders in a statement accompanying the earnings statement.

Says Output Is Excessive.

"Among the factors that are destroying earnings is excessive production which brings on the market a flood of underpriced oil to compete with the producers and purchasers in strictly prorated areas.

"Add to overproduction in unprorated states the large volume of cheap imported oil, and we have a total of many hundreds of thousands of barrels daily of underpriced crude. There was a slight upturn in gasoline prices in June, but it is still true, generally speaking, that product prices do not return the cost of raw material bought at posted prices.

"This drain upon earning power is made worse by marketing practices which undermine the retail price structure.

"I do not share the opinion of some of the industry's spokesmen that its policies and practices cannot be improved," Sinclair concluded. "I think the industry has served the public extremely well, but it is serving itself very badly."

C. & E. I. ROAD'S JUNE NET LOSS ABOVE YEAR AGO

The Chicago and Eastern Illinois railroad yesterday reported June net loss of $226,299, compared with net loss of $214,969 in June, 1938. The road's loss for the first half of 1939 totaled $1,035,369, against loss of $1,210,112 in the corresponding period last year.

Net loss of the New York, Ontario and Western railroad in June rose to $193,847, against loss of $109,835 in June, 1938. For the first half of this year the road's net loss totaled $813,736, compared with loss of $1,075,325 in the first six months of 1938.

New York Stocks.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

New York, Aug. 9.—Stocks skidded fractions to a point lower today as buyers remained cautious. Closing prices were slightly higher than the low levels of the day, but practically all sections participated in the decline.

The stock exchange announced the first sale of a membership in almost two months. Arrangements were made for a sale at $52,000, a decrease of $10,000 from the preceding sale on June 16, and within $1,000 of the low for the last twenty years. The top price this year was $70,000.

Uncertainty ruled at the opening with prices in most sections lower. As buying failed to materalize, bids were lowered and prices began to slide. The market in many issues was thin. Steels, oils, coppers, chemicals, electrical equipments, mail orders, rails, farm implements, amusements, rail equipments and building shares finished lower. Airplanes and utilities showed some signs of resistance.

Pressure on the oil group, many of which sank to new low levels for the year, came from renewed talk about lower crude prices. Some of the aircraft issues met support as a result of the announcement of war orders.

Bethlehem and United States Steel gave up fractions. Motors were mixed. Chemicals were about the softest points. Allied Chemical sagged 3¾ points. Reports that foreign production quotas would be boosted depressed the copper shares.

The short interest in stocks declined 170,307 shares last month to 481,599 shares as of July 31 the exchange announced today. This was the lowest short figure since the monthly tabulations have been kept, except on Jan. 1, 1939, when the figure was 447,543.

New York Bonds.

New York, Aug. 9 (AP).—The bond market edged lower today and trading favorites showed losses of fractions to 1 or more at the close. Bond men said many traders left before noon because of the hot weather.

Also putting a crimp in market interest was a desire of many investors to hold to the sidelines pending a clearer view of the European situation.

United States government issues were 9-32ds of a point lower to 1-32d higher. Japanese 6½s at 69¼ and German 5½s of '65 at 17 were each off slightly.

Transactions totaled $4,314,300, face value, compared with $4,444,150 Tuesday.

Chicago Stocks.

Prices pointed downward yesterday in trading on the Chicago Stock exchange. Of 93 issues traded, 49 declined, 16 advanced, and 28 finished unchanged.

Middle West was the volume leader on a turnover of 2,350 shares. The stock lost ¼ point. Commonwealth Edison dropped ⅝ point on sales of 2,000 shares. Noblitt-Sparks moved up 1⅛ points on sales of 1,250 shares. Sears Roebuck dropped 2¾ points and Northwest Utilities 7 per cent preferred 1¼. Deere & Co. lost 2 points.

Bank Stocks.

First National bank stock was bid 1 point lower in yesterday's trading. Other issues were unchanged. Prices follow:

WHEAT FUTURES AVERAGE LOWER UNDER SELLING

Wheat futures in American markets averaged lower yesterday. This resulted from selling induced by continued favorable weather for completing the harvest of the spring grain crop, and lack of aggressive support. Closing sales on the Chicago Board of Trade were ⅛ to ¼ cent a bushel lower.

Corn showed resistance to selling pressure and despite more favorable crop reports the September and May futures closed unchanged. December was ¼ cent lower. Price changes in oats and rye were small. Soy beans closed ¾ to 1½ cents lower, with December equaling the seasonal low price.

Export demand for American and Canadian cash wheat was slow. Argentina was said to be offering grain equal to 50 cents a bushel delivered at European ports. The Argentine government is paying farmers 59½ cents a bushel for wheat delivered at Buenos Aires.

CHICAGO LIVE STOCK

The unseasonal decline of the market for hogs continued at the stockyards yesterday. Quotations were lowest in more than five years. Prices fell 10 to 25 cents per hundred pounds. Costs of top grades dropped 15 cents to $6.50, the lowest since June, 1934. The market averaged 15 cents lower at $5.15, the lowest since January, 1934.

Cattle prices made a surprise recovery on light receipts. Advances of 15 to 25 cents were registered in the bulk of steers and yearlings.

Slaughter lambs met good demand at strong to 25 cent higher prices.

Commodities

Lower prices predominated in yesterday's trading in commodities in New York City. Cocoa futures sank to new lows for the season, with the September delivery selling below 4 cents a pound at the lowest level since 1933. Final prices were above the day's bottom, but showed losses of 0.01 to 0.03 cent a pound.

Hides extended recent losses, slumping 0.11 to 0.17 cent a pound.

Reports that the foreign copper cartel is considering enlargement of the production quotas caused copper prices to weaken. The export price dropped to 10.66 cents a pound, compared with 10.70 cents Tuesday. New York futures were down 0.12 to 0.15 cent a pound at the close.

Lead, tin, and domestic sugar were lower. World sugar and rubber futures advanced. Silk was irregular. Santos coffee and zinc were unchanged.

DROUTH INJURES CORN CROP AGAIN OVER WIDE AREA

Rains Late in Week Aid in Some Districts.

Hot and dry weather early in the last week resulted in further deterioration in the condition of the corn crop over a wide area, the weather bureau reported yesterday. Beneficial rains later in the week brought about improvement in areas where the crop was not too far gone.

Corn made good to excellent progress in the states east of the Mississippi river, but conditions west of the river were varied. Additional damage occurred in Oklahoma, Kansas and Nebraska and there will be some reduction in the yield in parts of Iowa.

Threshing of wheat is nearly completed in most southern and central areas.

Soy beans are generally good to excellent in central and eastern districts and harvest has started in Kentucky.

Reports on Rainfall.

Rainfall for the week ended Aug. 8 in inches and from April 1 to Aug. 8 as reported by the weather bureau follows:

*Data incomplete. Compiled by The Tribune from precipitation at principal weather bureau stations only.

The bureau said rains improved the outlook for corn in western areas of Illinois and in the southern fourth of the state. About two-thirds of the crop is in the roasting ear stage. The soy bean outlook continues excellent. Prospect of a good bean yield is particularly favorable across the central third of the state.

Drouth Damages Canadian Grains.

Drouth and heat caused heavy damage to Canadian grain crops during July, the dominion bureau of statistics reported yesterday. Condition of the spring wheat crop dropped to 89 per cent of the long time average on July 31 from 102 per cent on June 30.

The three western Canadian provinces have a prospective crop of 379,000,000 bushels of spring wheat Chicago statisticians estimate. This compared with a possible yield of 442,000,000 bushels on June 30, and with 330,000,000 bushels harvested in 1938.

A winter wheat crop of 22,418,000 bushels was harvested this year, compared with 20,000,000 bushels in 1938, the bureau estimated.

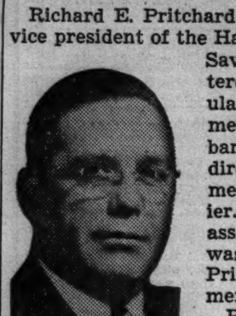
Washington, D. C., Aug. 9 (AP).—The bimonthly meeting of the board of managers of the Inland Waterways corporation will be held aboard the barge North Star during a three day trip from St. Louis to Chicago by way of the Mississippi, Illinois, and Chicago rivers.

Col. J. Monroe Johnson, assistant secretary of commerce, will meet the members aboard the North Star at St. Louis Aug. 14 and confer with them during the trip, which will end at Chicago Aug. 17. The Waterways corporation, agency which operates government barge lines on the Mississippi and its tributaries, was transferred to the commerce department July 1 under President Roosevelt's reorganization plan.

PRITCHARD ELECTED A VICE PRESIDENT OF HARRIS TRUST BANK

Richard E. Pritchard was elected a vice president of the Harris Trust and Savings bank yesterday at the regular monthly meeting of the bank's board of directors. He formerly was cashier. George Slight, assistant cashier, was promoted to Pritchard's former position.



Richard E. Pritchard.

Pritchard became associated with the Harris bank in 1920 after having been employed for fourteen years by the First National Bank of Chicago, where he began work when he was 16 years old. He was elected an assistant cashier of the Harris bank in 1925, assistant vice president in 1930, and cashier in 1934.

Slight joined the Harris bank in 1916. After fifteen years' experience in various departments of the bank he was made assistant cashier in 1931.

TEMPORARY HALT CALLED BY CEA IN CARGILL CASE

Finish 14,199 Pages of Testimony.

Completing the taking of 14,199 pages of testimony, the Commodity Exchange administration yesterday temporarily halted its hearing on charges brought by Cargill, Inc., against the Chicago Board of Trade. Cargill is a large Minneapolis grain firm.

Referee S. Abbott Maginnis took under advisement the plea of Howard Ellis, attorney for the exchange, that the charges of corn price manipulation brought against it by Cargill be dismissed. Maginnis is expected to submit a recommendation to the CEA within the next three months, and the administration then will rule on the plea. If the motion is dismissed, the exchange will present its defense.

Referee Goes to Capital.

Thus far the testimony has included only Cargill's evidence and cross-examination by the exchange's attorneys. Maginnis left for Washington, D. C., late yesterday.

The case grew out of the September, 1937, corn "squeeze" in which Cargill was alleged to have held a market corner. The exchange suspended trading in the delivery of Sept. 24, 1937, and decreed a settlement price for all contracts.

The exchange subsequently expelled the Cargill Grain Company of Illinois, a subsidiary, of Cargill, Inc., from membership. Cargill filed its charges in retaliation, and hearing of the case finally got under way in November of last year. Yesterday's developments marked the half way point, unless the CEA decides to approve the exchange's dismissal plea.

Date Set On Another Hearing.

Meanwhile hearing was set for Aug. 21 on manipulation charges brought by Secretary of Agriculture Wallace against Cargill. The hearings will be held in Washington.

It was estimated that about 3,500,000 words have been entered on the record of the Cargill hearings. The Board of Trade and Cargill each pay 23 cents a page for their copies of the daily transcript, according to C. L. Ackerman, special representative of D. W. Ross, court reporter. At that rate copies of the testimony alone have cost each party more than $3,200 to date. The CEA does not pay for its copies.

New York, Aug. 9—(AP)—Directors of Champion Paper and Fiber Co. today approved plans for the construction of a new paper mill adjacent to the present plant at Pasadena, Tex. Officials said they planned to start building the plant, to cost $3,000,000, at an early date.

CHICAGO EXPERTS TO HELP CHINESE MOVE WAR GOODS

Truck Mission to Rebuild Transit System.

will be necessary, it is said, to coordinate the new highway system with railroads still under Chinese control.

F. D. Ren, vice president of the Universal Trading corporation, which purchased American motor trucks to be used in China, said last night they will be used to transport whatever goods are moved in and out of China. Reached by telephone in New York, he said Chinese military authorities were depending on the American trucks to transport materials which the country needs in carrying on the conflict with Japan.

A major share of the commerce, he said, will flow over the newly constructed highways leading from Rangoon and from Haiphong into the interior of China. Ren explained that while the Rangoon road is in good condition trafic has been impeded recently by heavy rains. The Haiphong road is dependable and not affected by the rains, he said.

Rail Line Still Operating.

Although many of China's railway facilities have fallen into the hands of Japan, the French owned railway extending from Haiphong into the interior of China still is operating, according to Ren.

Asked specifically if the American trucks would be used to transport munitions, Ren said: "They will haul whatever merchandise is imported by China." He said that cotton, medical supplies, and other materials would be hauled, but said he doubted the trucks would be used to transport troops.

Ren said that, although the Rangoon and Haiphong highways were the principal avenues still available for shipments into China, the highway system in the interior of the country was still largely under the control of the government and that most of the roads were "dependable."

Big Credit Made Last Winter.

The 25 million dollar credit to the Chinese government was announced in Washington last December by Jesse Jones, then chairman of the Reconstruction Finance corporation, now head of the government's new lending agency. The loan was guaranteed by the Bank of China and was to mature over a period of five years, according to the announcement.

T. M. Hsi, general manager of the Central Bank of China, was described as the principal organizer of the Universal Trading corporation.

In Washington a spokesman for the Chinese embassy said China will be dependent on the new highway system for all her war supplies.

A Leader in Highway Transport.

Keeshin is one of the most widely known figures in the highway transportation industry, and is considered one of its best informed members. He obtained his knowledge of the industry by direct contact with trucking problems.

He had his first experience in transportation at the age of 14, when he drove a horse and wagon. He now directs a fleet of highway trucks which operates from coast to coast. Operations of the Keeshin Transcontinental Motor Freight Lines, Inc., and its numerous subsidiaries are directed from headquarters at 221 West Roosevelt road.

John D. Hertz, who also started at the bottom and built a fortune out of the Chicago taxicab business, was active in the formation of the organization four years ago which coördinated the Keeshin trucking interests. Hertz is now a partner of Lehman Brothers, New York investment banking company.

Originates Rail-Truck Plan.

Until the new organization was formed, the Keeshin system was a one man organization. At the beginning, Keeshin drove trucks himself. As his organization grew, he took on increasing stature in the industry. He originated many methods of highway transportation, including one conducted in coöperation with the railroads. This was the system of loading highway trailers on railroad flat cars for long hauls.

Railroads became interested in the Keeshin system as it expanded into new territory and obtained new business. The Baltimore and Ohio purchased a 14 per cent interest in the system in 1937.

Beats Off Two Gunmen.

Known as a man of few words, Keeshin, now 41 years old, routed would-be kidnapers a few years ago. Two gunmen stopped his automobile at 18th street and Blue Island avenue.

"What do you want—money?" he asked his captors.

"You're going for a ride. Keep on driving," one of them replied.

Keeshin lives at 1003 Bonnie Brae place, River Forest.

COTTON

Mill and commission house buying resulted in a moderate advance in cotton prices yesterday. Hedging pressure was not heavy, although ginnings are increasing rapidly. Closing trades were at gains of .04 to .08 cent a pound.

Rains in the western part of the cotton belt have improved the outlook for the new crop, brokers said, and they are inclined to raise their estimates on the probable production in Texas and Oklahoma.

Reports from New York said an advance of ¼c a yard was anticipated in the more active staple lines of cotton goods.

Spot cotton closed .05 cent lower to .05 cent higher with New York, 9.53 cents; New Orleans, 9.08 cents; Houston, 9 cents and Galveston at 8.98 cents a pound. Prices follow:

BUSINESS PERKS UP, JOB BUREAU'S EFFORTS SHOW

Urbana, Ill., Aug. 9 (AP).—Business must be perking up. W. C. Robb, assistant to the dean of charge of the University of Illinois placement bureau for recent graduates, said today students from the college of commerce had been placed in jobs much faster this year.

Only 68 of the 275 seniors in the 1939 class who registered with the bureau are unemployed, he said.

"This is a good deal better than for the same time last year," Robb said.

Save the Difference

Commonwealth's rate is less on all loans than the maximum rate permitted by law. You do not have to be an "executive" or have a "special" credit standing to qualify for OUR reduced rate. Commonwealth's monthly rate of 2½% on loan balances of $150 or less and only 2% on loan balances above applies to ALL TYPES AND CLASSES OF LOANS. Any one who can make regular payments can qualify; there is no discrimination. EVERYBODY GETS THIS SAME RATE. Of course persons whose incomes are above average can afford to make larger payments and thus make substantial reductions in their loan cost.

No credit inquiries of friends or relatives. Applications received by personal call, letter, or telephone will receive immediate attention.
